CHINESE THREATEN TO FIRE ON NEUTRALS IN SHANGHAI

Today

Japan Marches On. Mr. Knudsen's Aspirin. Some Have Money. Champagne $1.95.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.

THE JAPANESE, persistently pushing their plans for Asia, took Shanghai yesterday with the usual formula, "Troops and airplanes landed." The airplanes terrify opposition, then troops march in where airplanes have prepared the way.

THE UNITED STATES, as usual, has been warning and protesting, pulling chestnuts out of the fire for other nations. France, Britain, Italy have kept quiet, relying on the United States to irritate Japan, while they continue business with China and Japan.

The League of Nations looks for a "clash" between the United States and Japan as inevitable and is calm about it.

MANY AMERICANS wonder why it is necessary for this country to pick a quarrel with the Japanese, who are better customers of ours than the Chinese by at least one hundred millions a year. The United States is not the father or mother of China, why must it seek trouble?

KIND-HEARTED pacifists may learn something from the situation in China and Japan. China is thoroughly pacifist toward the outside world, thoroughly unprepared in a military sense.

Japan, thoroughly belligerent and thoroughly prepared, sends 40 battleships to Shanghai, many carrying airplanes, also sends submarines that rise and discharge airplanes from any spot desired.

It should enlighten the sweetest pacifist to see the pitiful condition of unprepared China with 400,000,000 people, threatened by small Japan.

Our government, for a few minutes, might cease worrying about all the other countries on earth, and pay attention to its own neglected airplane and submarine fleets.

DR. CHEN, speaking for China at the League of Nations, says Japan is starting this war against China as she started the other Chinese-Japanese war and the Russian-Japanese war, planning "to dominate all Asia, including Australia."

All Asia, perhaps, but NOT Australia. Britain and the British dominions would interest themselves in the Australian question. And so, for that matter would this country.

It is none of our business what Japan does in Asiatic China. But it ought to be our business if Japan should interfere with white people in Australia or New Zealand.

W. S. KNUDSEN, president of the Chevrolet Company, told 1,100 agents and salesmen at the Los Angeles Biltmore Hotel yesterday that a good way to treat present conditions may be borrowed from a story published in Life.

"A man went to bed the worse for wear, and awoke to see, at his bedside, a monster with horns, a spiked tail, and smoke coming from its nose. At first he was alarmed, then summoning courage, he said to the monster: 'If you do not treat me properly, I am going to take two aspirin tablets and swear off drinking. Then where will you be?'"

If a few millions of Americans could swear off shivering, the business bogey now sitting at their bedside would vanish.

SOME OF US Americans still have money. The noble Marquis of Lothian sold some of his books in New York City, and 46 of them sold for $303,000. One, an illuminated psalter of the fourteenth century, brought $61,000.

The ultimate owner of the beautifully illuminated psalter, after Dr. Rosenbach, dealer, resells it, will pay more than $61,000, look at the book two or three times, show it to friends occasionally and put it away, perhaps, in a safe.

For $10 he could have bought books by Jeans and Eddington, that would give him information worth while. Some men feel that they buy culture when they buy expensive old books. They are mistaken.

THE GOVERNMENT of Finland, having thrown out prohibition, solves ingeniously the problem of discouraging bootleggers, a problem that would interest this nation, should we ever get rid of prohibition here.

Finland will sell vodka, the Russian drink, 40 per cent alcohol, 60 per cent water, for 30 cents a bottle, brandy 60 cents for cheap grades, $1.95 for the best. And, interesting to those that feed their money to night clubs and speakeasies, Finland will sell champagne at $1.95 a quart.

AT POONA, INDIA, one of Gandhi's followers, L. P. Bhopatkar, found a companion sharing his prison cell.

It was a huge cobra that stayed for 10 minutes, head reared and swaying. Bhopatkar not daring to move or cry out. Edgar Allen Poe could have made something of those 10 minutes.

Millions in India still worship the deadly cobra or treat it with divine honors, hoping to propitiate it.

Not a few so-called "Christians" look upon their God in about the same way, seeking to avoid a sentence to eternal torture that would be considerably worse than any cobra's bite.

BANK IN GULF BUILDING PLANNED

Mellon Interests Considering New Financial Institution In Fast Growing District

The Mellon interests are considering plans to open a new bank in the Gulf Building within a few months.

An official of a bank in the group stated that no definite decision had been reached, but admitted that the formation of the new institution had been discussed. It is not known whether a national bank, state bank or trust company is proposed or the size of its capital.

The new bank, it is understood, would be a further step in the development of the Grant street district which the Mellons have been pushing since the street was widened and put through to the Pennsylvania Station a few years ago.

The development has been marked by the construction of the Koppers building, completed two years ago, and the Gulf building, now nearing completion.

The selection of nearby sites for the Postoffice and the Federal Reserve Bank further added to the importance of the district which at present is not close to any of the larger banks in the city.

The opening of a new bank in the Gulf Building will be in line with expansion under way in the Mellon group for several years. Recent development, however, has been largely in the acquisition of neighborhood banks and institutions in nearby towns.

The downtown banks directly under Mellon control include Union Trust Company, Mellon National Bank and the Union Savings Bank. The Mellon interest in Farmers Deposit National Bank is understood to be substantial.

The last new bank to be opened by the Mellon group in this city was the Forbes National Bank in Oakland.

FIVE CHILDREN, PARENTS SLAIN

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Martin Sitar, his wife, five of their children and an unidentified boarder were stabbed to death at Elma, Manitoba, early today by an assassin who crept away from their home and disappeared after setting fire to it.

Two other Sitar children are in a critical condition from stab wounds. They were rescued from the burning house by their uncle, John Sitar, who lives nearby.

Elma, tiny settlement in Eastern Manitoba, is about 55 miles from Winnipeg on the Canadian National Railway.

Police Balk Hill Meet, Arrest 12

Police balked attempts of the International Labor Defense to hold a meeting at Webster avenue and Fullerton street this afternoon by arresting a dozen leaders and confiscating banners.

Police Supt. P. P. Walsh had refused a permit for the meeting, called to demand release of Negroes doomed in Scottsboro, Ala., for attacking white women, on the ground that the application was not in proper form.

Lieut. James Hoban and a squad of 20 policemen, with motorcycle and radio cars, kept the crowd from congregating. A group assembled in a vacant lot, half a block away, but as speakers began to address the crowd police broke up the meeting, arresting 10 men and two women, mostly Negroes. They were taken to the Center Avenue Station, charged with violating a city ordinance.

FIND SUB FLAG; CREW DOOMED

PORTLAND, Dorsetshire, England, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—A signal flag case belonging to the missing British submarine M-2 was brought to the surface by a salvage sweeper today from an obstruction located on the floor of the English Channel a few miles off Portland Bill.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the find, the admiralty stated there was no hope for the lives of the 60 men aboard.

Women folk who had waited on the shore here through many sleepless hours were stunned by the admiralty report. It was the final blast to the most stubborn hopes they held. The report said:

"There is no hope now of saving life."

Another object over which the Navy salvage ships had been working six miles north of Portland Bill was definitely found to be an old wreck.

The signal flag case was brought up near where oil was discovered on the surface of the water yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—In a drizzling rain, Mrs. Herbert Hoover today planted a tree on the George Washington University campus as a part of the George Washington bicentennial celebration.

The tree was presented by the Elmira College Club of Washington, of which Mrs. Hoover is an honorary member.

Doolittle Ordered On Active Duty

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Maj. James H. (Jimmie) Doolittle, Army Air Corps Reserve, was ordered to active duty today for two weeks. He will be stationed at Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., to make a number of high altitude flights to test various lubricating oils in low temperatures.

Pupils Fingerprinted In Hunt for Thief

JENKINTOWN, Pa., Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Belief of Principal Earl Smull in the honesty of the pupils in the junior and senior high schools of Jenkintown was confirmed today.

'll the boys in the seventh and eighth grades submitted voluntarily to being fingerprinted by police to prove that the thief who ramsacked the principal's office Wednesday night, taking money and examination questions, was an outsider.

Pope to Bless U. S. Radio Listeners

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Pope Pius XI will bless American radio listeners in an international broadcast from St. Peter's Cathedral, Rome, on the first Sunday in Lent.

The Sistine choir will take part in the broadcast, which will be heard in this country beginning at 6 a. m., February 14.

U. S. RUSHES 4 DESTROYERS

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Under orders to proceed to Shanghai, four American destroyers sailed out of Manila Bay today. They were the Parrot, Bulmer, Edsall and Paul Jones.

The four destroyers were ordered to report to the commander of the Yangtze River patrol.

They were expected to join the river patrol by Sunday.

Crews of the destroyers were ordered from social functions on shore to board the ships. Many of the officers were attending a reception in honor of Pierre Pasquier, governor of French Indo-China, and ceremonies in honor of the Phillippine carnival queen.

Orders to the destroyers to depart for Shanghai were issued by Rear Admiral Montgomery Taylor from his yacht Isabel. The admiral's flag continued to fly from the Isabel, indicating he would remain here at present.

Three other destroyers were under way, but it was believed in Manila that they were headed for the annual maneuvers of the Pacific fleet off the Hawaiian Islands.

Indigestion Plea Frees Auto Driver

G. J. Holiday, of 68 Hawthorne avenue, Crafton, was acquitted by a jury on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. He was arrested while driving in the Perry Highway, Ross Township, November 2, by Highway Patrolman P. W. Mihalko, who testified he was on the wrong side of the road.

Holiday, in his defense, testified he was suffering from acute indigestion and was dizzy. Evidence was presented to show he had purchased medicine at a drug store a short time before.

CITY AFIRE, HUNDREDS DEAD; U. S., BRITAIN WARN JAPAN

The United States and Great Britain have formally protested Japan's invasion of the International Settlement at Shanghai, it was announced today after President Hoover and his cabinet had considered the serious situation.

Meanwhile, a new menace appeared in an ultimatum by Chinese military leaders that they would attack the settlement unless the American and other foreign authorities there put an end to the Japanese occupation.

During the day Japanese airplanes had dropped bombs on the International Settlement, endangering American and other foreigners. Much of the native districts was in smouldering ruins. Casualties were heavy on both sides, with Japanese dead estimated in scores and Chinese fatalities in the hundreds.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Shanghai, unconfirmed, reported the Japanese are seriously considering seizing the entire settlement. This would immediately involve the Tokio government with practically all world powers.

Reports from Washington said the Chinese and Japanese had signed a truce, but authorities at Shanghai denied the report and desperate fighting was still going on.

Four American destroyers are bound for Shanghai from Manila under full steam and other units of the American Asiatic fleet are in readiness to hasten to the Chinese seaport.

FIGHTING IN STREETS

Shells Hit International Setlement; Japanese Planes Shot Down

SHANGHAI, Saturday, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A new menace came across the boundaries of the International Settlement today in the form of a warning by the Chinese military command that if the Japanese occupation was not ended the Chinese would attack the settlement.

This definitely put an end to reports that the opposing forces had signed a truce.

Bombs from Japanese airplanes fell into the settlement as severe fighting continuel yesterday. Reports that American mission buildings and other American properties within the settlement and without had been hit by the bombs could not be confirmed and consular authorities said that lacking knowledge of such developments they believed nothing of the sort had occurred.

CHINESE THREAT

The Chinese warning served upon the International Settlement authorities said that if they did not use their influence to end the occupation of Chinese territory the Chinese, who were still engaged in heavy fighting, would train their guns on the foreign concession.

Meanwhile as flames licked up a wide section of the Chinese quarter of Chapei, there were bursts of machine gun fire, indicating that though the Japanese had reached the objective they

PROTEST SENT TOKIO

Hoover Calls Cabinet in Crisis; England Backs American Stand

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Secretary Stimson announced today that the American and British governments have made representations to Japan against military occupation of the International Settlement at Shanghai.

Under this pressure, Stimson said, Japan had replied with assurance that foreign rights in the Settlement and other parts of Shanghai will be respected.

Secretary Stimson made the announcement today a short while after meeting with President Hoover and the Cabinet in a prolonged session.

It seemed evident that a lack of unanimity as to the American course had cropped out at the cabinet meeting, but the various department heads kept what had happened to themselves.

Mystification mingled with alarm here upon official report of a truce at Shanghai, and a Japanese denial here. The gravity of the situation was intensified by word that five bombs had dropped there.

WOMAN KILLED

Col. Richard S. Hooker, commanding the United States Marines that stand ready to defend the Settlement, advised the Navy both of the purported truce and reports of some property damage having been caused by bombs hitting the international quarter. One Chinese woman was reported killed in that treaty-protected zone.

The formal statement, which Secretary Stimson handed news-

Musmanno Fines Lawyer For Delaying Trial

Attorney Harry Bowytz was held guilty of contempt of court by arriving 40 minutes late and was fined $25 with the option of five days in jail by Judge M. A. Musmanno in County Court today.

Bowytz is counsel for Stephen Popp, of West Homestead, engaged in a cross suit against Albert S. Moyer, 2239 Sarah street, resulting from an automobile collision.

While the court, jury, attaches and witnesses chafed at the delay Bowytz entered with this apology:

"I was held up in Police Court, Your Honor, and couldn't make it any sooner."

Judge Musmanno replied:

"In Criminal Court people are fined and sent to jail for larceny of objects which can be returned. You have stolen from the life of each juror and each person in this court 40 minutes which can never be returned—40 minutes consigned to oblivion and lost forever. You will pay $25 by tomorrow morning or go to jail."

Harding of Small Town Ability, Historian Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—The eighth volume of the dictionary of American Biography, published today, estimates the late President Warren G. Harding as a man swamped by the difficulties of office. The evaluation, made by Allan Nevins, historian and journalist, is issued with the authority of the American Council of Learned Societies. Nevins writes:

"In every respect he fitted the smalltown environment. He was easy-going and frank in admitting his lack of unusual abilities or intellectual tastes.

"In the first year after his death his name was so clouded that few could honor or defend it. Yet it must be recognized that a heavy responsibility for his record falls upon the party and nation which elected a man of moderate abilities, weak judgment of character, excessive amiability and total lack of vigilance to so exacting an office. In minor station he was a useful and likeable man, and it was his cruel misfortune that he was lifted to a post beyond his powers."

Strolling Visitor Run Down by Car

Harry W. Taudte, 64, of Indiana, Pa., visiting a friend, C. J. Voye, of Stam avenue, Mt. Oliver, was struck by an auto while taking a walk in Saw Mill Run boulevard today.

His leg and arm were fractured and at the South Side Hospital, physicians said his skull might be fractured. Mike McKita, 31, of 309 Second avenue, Charlerol, was arrested as the driver of the car and held under $1,000 bail.

U. S. AID DECLARED VITAL BY WELFARE LEADERS HERE

COUNTY RELIEF FUNDS TERMED INSUFFICIENT

Costigan-La Follette Measure Supported as Necessary To Alleviate Suffering

Strengthening their stand taken this week in support of federal aid in relief work throughout the nation, several persons directly in charge of social work in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County today told why public funds must come to the aid of relief work.

The following arguments were given by outstanding social workers after they met to discuss the Costigan-La Follette bill pending in the Senate.

DR. F. N. CLOPPER, executive secretary of the Federation of Social Agencies: I hope federal aid will not be necessary, but I think it will be. If the Costigan-La Follette bill is passed, it will stimulate state and local boards to make public funds available. The situation now is such that we must have public assistance.

DR. LUDWIG BERNSTEIN, Jewish Family Welfare: I cannot see how we can escape the necessity of work and of relief without the help of the Federal government. The need is absolutely apparent. We would be derelict in our duties if we did not act.

MISS ELEANOR HANSEN, head of the Family Welfare: I think it much better for a community to finance its own work, but it appears now that Allegheny County will not be able to finance its relief work and it looks as if we will have to have federal aid.

MRS. MARY CLARK BURNETT, Carnegie Institute of Technology: The Costigan-La Follette bill seems to have been drawn up with care given to the real needs of communities. We are to have federal aid if needs are to be met in some places. We can't let people starve. We have made too much of a point of a fact that local communities should provide their own relief. This is a national problem.

Other leaders who indorsed the pending bill include Miss Esther Hawes, Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Henry Glen Tyson, Miss Luella Sauer, Catholic Charities; Miss Mercedes Flower, American Red Cross, and Miss Isabell Kennedy, Federation of Social Agencies.

Simultaneously, Senator David A. Reed informed the Miners' Relief Fund of the Socialist Party that he was opposed to the Costigan bill. A telegram received from Senator Reed said:

"I feel strongly that the credit of the national government must be safeguarded at all costs and that the passage of the La Follette-Costigan bill would only make matters worse and bring ultimate disaster to the whole country. Under the circumstances I will oppose it."

BRITISH PRISON RIOTS RENEWED

PRINCETOWN, England, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Dartmoor Prison convicts rioted last night for the second time this week and arrangements to resume convict work today had to be cancelled.

The night in the prison was described as "hideous," with scores of prisoners standing for hours at the doors of their cells to shout threats and insults at wardens. The outburst was punctuated with a tirade of strident catcalls.

The first mutiny occurred last Sunday.

URGES FARMERS BACK JOB LOAN

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 29.—(Universal)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, told the farmers of Minnesota that the $5,000,000,000 federal bond issue for a public works program advocated by the Hearst papers would be the most effective way of stabilizing their economic lives.

Speaking before the Hennepin County Republican Club, Pinchot said the farmer "is the orphan of American politics" and it was high time he was "adopted into the family."

Answering arguments that the government could not borrow $5,000,000,000, Pinchot pointed out that many times that amount was borrowed during the war.

TEST OF TALBOT BILL BEGINS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The legal battle over the Legislature's $10,000,000 appropriation to county poor districts for unemployment relief began today in Dauphin County.

Attorney General William A. Schnader was arrayed against a battery of three attorneys, including George Wharton Pepper, former U. S. senator, as argument was started. Pepper was associated with R. Lawrence Coughlin, of Wilkes-Barre, and Gifford K. Wright, of Pittsburgh. Coughlin is counsel for the central poor district of Luzerne County, which has mandamused state fiscal officers to force payment under the Talbot act, the validity of which Schnader questions. Wright appeared for George E. Alter, his partner, who previously joined Pepper in association with Coughlin.

5-BILLION POOL TO SPUR TRADE

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A group of world-famous American industrialists are prepared to spend $5,000,000,000 to help stabilize business conditions in the United States, Samuel Crowther, close associate of Henry Ford and writer of economics, announced today.

He refused to divulge the identity of these industrialists but asserted their resources were such as to make the pool an actuality and not a figure of speech.

The money, under their plan he said, will be made available for industrialists and merchants through the granting and acceptance of promissory notes for debts.

Crowther declared that unless this or a similar plan is put into effect the United States will be forced off the gold standard within 60 days.

Washington he said knew of the proposed pool and was convinced that it would help rather than embarass President Hoover.

YOUTH ACCUSED BY GIRL SHOT

Shot in the back by a policeman when he tried to escape after he is alleged to have attempted to attack a young woman in Westinghouse Park, Homestead, Thomas Harrington, 17, Nevro of 10 Commercial street, was in a critical condition in Pittsburgh Hospital today.

The girl, Mary Cummings, 19, of 1006 Gerrity street, said she had broken off her acquaintance when police arrived. She identified Harrington.

Sales of Bibles In England Gains

LONDON.—(INS)—Increased sales of the Bible in England are interpreted as a revival in personal religion. Last year the Bible sold 3,000,000 copies here an increase of half a million. Clergymen and ministers themselves are surprised by the increase, which is ascribed to a need for comfort in an age of difficulty and pessimism. Paradoxically, church attendance has decreased to a point to cause alarm among churchmen.

W.C.T.U. Head Sees Roosevelt Defeat

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., characterizing Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York as a "wet," predicts the South will oppose his presidential aspirations "unless politicians succeed in fooling the southerners." Returning yesterday from a tour of the South, she declared efforts were being made in every southern state to make the prominent Democratic candidate for the presidential nomination appear a prohibitionist.

Tariff Commission Nominees Favored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The nominations of Robert L. O'Brien, of Massachusetts, and Ira M. Ornburn, of Connecticut, as members of the Tariff Commission, were approved today by the Senate Finance Committee.

Senator Costigan (Dem.), of Colorado announced he would vote against their confirmation in the Senate, declaring they were unqualified by reason of their economic views.

River Bill Action Off This Session

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Plans to enact a new omnibus river and harbor bill at this session of Congress have been virtually abandoned, Representative Mansfield (Dem.), of Texas, chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors Committee stated today.

RELIEF COUNCIL MEETING TO PLAN WORK

Agencies United in Effort To Guage Needs of Poor And Eliminate Duplication

First meeting of the Emergency Community Council was to be held in the offices of the Federation of Social Agencies today, with Miss Isabel Kennedy and leaders in welfare work from many communities conferring in an effort to lay plans for the work.

The council is a non-administrative body set up by the Welfare Fund, the Allegheny County Emergency Association and the Federation in an effort to guage accurately relief needs in the county and act as a clearing house for various independent and organized relief efforts. Headquarters will be established in various parts of the city.

Widespread duplication of work is expected to stop as a result of the council's organization. Miss Kennedy will represent the Federation, Frank Bell, F. J. Chesterman and John F. Casey the Allegheny County Emergency Association, and A. K. Oliver, G. G. Coolidge and R. Templeton Smith the Welfare Fund.

CENTRALIZE CASES

Additional steps now under discussion which may become necessary to prevent the breakdown of private relief agencies, overburdened to the extreme, include the centralization of all strictly unemployment relief cases in a single unit organization working in close conjunction with the Emergency Association and the establishing of outposts in neighborhood units to dispense immediate relief, officials said.

Methods used by leaders in other cities in handling relief problems will be explained at public meetings here through plans being formulated by a committee of the Engineers Society of Western Pennsylvania. Fred K. Hoehler, commissioner of welfare of Cincinnati, who will speak in the Cardinal room of the William Penn Hotel Tuesday, will be the first of a series of speakers.

Reiterating a previous statement of Wilbur F. Maxwell, director of the Welfare Fund, that federal appropriations should not be considered until the possibility of local public appropriations has been exhausted, leaders emphasized it is not possible at this time to ask for additional voluntary contributions.

$8,246,000 BUDGET

On the basis of present expenditures, the fund's budget for the year will be $8,246,000, leaders estimated. Requests for the first quarter of 1932 total $2,011,654, with cash on hand totaling $1,304,766, officials said, pointing out that nearly $707,000 must be collected on pledges by March 31 to carry expenditures now authorized.

The total case load of the Family Welfare Association mounted from 7,000 to 21,000 during 1931, with funds administered in direct relief rising from $52,900 to $103,200 during the same period, leaders said. A conservative estimate of unemployed wage earners in the county totals between 125,000 and 150,000, leaders said.

Shipping Board Man Defends Big Loan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Commissioner Cone, of the Shipping Board today defended before the House Merchant Marine Committee the board's $15,000,000 construction loan to the P. W. Chapman Company in 1929.

He added that the loan was made in the face of an adverse report by Lawrence Richey, one of President Hoover's secretaries following the stock market crash of 1929.

BOYS IN MURDER TRIAL END FEUD

TROY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—(AP)—William Schemnitzer and Stanley Chero, Broughton, Pa., youths on trial in Rensselaer County Court for the murder of Sergt. John E. Frey, of the New York State Police, apparently are friends again.

They smiled at each other yesterday as the slow process of selecting jurors went on. Previously, they had sat together in the same automobile and posed for photographers without taking apparent notice of one another.

Since their arrest at McAlester, Okla., after a nation-wide chase, each has accused the other of the actual shooting. Frey was shot while he and a fellow trooper, E. C. Updike, were taking the men to the Rensselaer County Jail as robbery suspects.

In a court session last night, the ninth juror for the trial was obtained.

Prosecutor Urges Confession Talkies

HACKENSACK, N. J., Jan. 29.—(AP)—If Prosecutor George F. Losche has his way, prisoners' confessions will be recorded on talking-motion picture films in Bergen County. Then the picture with sound effects would be shown to trial juries. He'd do it, Losche said, to counter the "invariable complaint" by defense counsel that confessions were obtained by "third degree" methods.

Held as Suspect In Coyne Auto Theft

Martin Davies, 21, of Chicago, was held for court on a larceny charge today, accused of stealing an automobile belonging to State Senator James J. Coyne, which had been parked at Fourth avenue and Wood street on January 4. Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, in Central Police Court, set his bail at $1,000.

U. S. MAY SELL LOS ANGELES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—High naval officials are considering selling the Los Angeles and using the money they receive to enlarge the ZRS-5, sister ship of the airship Akron.

In testimony today before the House Naval Committee's investigation of reported defects in the Akron, Commander Garland Fulton, of the Navy's design division, read a letter from Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, suggesting the ZRS-5, now under construction, be increased to a capacity of 7,500,000 cubic feet.

Moffett's recommendation, sent to Secretary Adams, said this increase in size, making the ZRS-5 1,000,000 cubic feet larger than the Akron, would increase the new ship's cruising radius at 50 knots from 8,500 to 11,500 nautical miles.

Eight members of the House Committee will make a personal inspection of the Akron to see if there are any defects in the craft.

'Jimmy Walker' Only 'Boss' of Ill Woman

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Elizabeth Kinsella, 80-year-old spinster, is threatened with pneumonia. She refused to take medicine, announcing that the only person in the world she'd take orders from is "Jimmy Walker." Now she swallows medicines docilely, for the doctors always tell her "Mayor Walker says——."

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—It was noon and the restaurant was packed. The waitresses—22 of them—decided it was a grand time to demand more money. They did, threatening to walk out unless——. The manager solved the situation by promising the girls he would write a letter to the boss about it.

M'FADDEN TOUR HELD SENATE RACE FEELER

Congressman Seen Weighing Chances of Success in Contest for Davis' Seat

By MARK SHIELDS

Announcement by Representative Louis McFadden, of the Fifteen Congressional District, who recently clashed with the Hoover administration, that he will make a speaking tour of Western Pennsylvania, has been interpreted in Washington as a feeler by the Congressman as to his chances should he decide to become a senatorial candidate in the Republican primary.

McFadden would have to contend with Senator James J. Davis, who has been pledged the support of the Philadelphia organization, and who shortly will announce his candidacy. McFadden is a dry, while Davis probably will declare for modification of the Volstead act and a referendum on the Eighteenth Amendment.

Both men are against American participation in foreign entanglements, and it was because of a charge by McFadden that President Hoover favored international bankers that the administration demanded his defeat in the Fifteenth District. Many drys would swing to McFadden, but he would lack support of the Republican state organization, not only because of the attitude of President Hoover, but because State Chairman Martin has expressed complete satisfaction with the Davis candidacy.

It is improbable that McFadden would receive the backing of Gov. Pinchot, despite the dry sympathies of both men. Mrs. Pinchot, wife of the Governor, has unsuccessfully fought McFadden for congressional nomination in previous campaigns and now is a candidate against him. McFadden is unknown here and would have difficulty forming an organization.

The Congressman will make the first speech of his tour at Warren, February 5 and the following day will speak at Johnstown and Clearfield. He expects to discuss international loans.

FIND OWN GUN KILLED BANDIT

One of the two bullet wounds, either of which would have proved fatal, found in the body of Thomas Sords, 21, of 3651 Brighton road, after his attempted robbery of a North Side grocery store was fouled, was from his own revolver, James L. Davidson, county ballistics expert, announced today.

Sords was shot once through the chest by Carl Lange, after the robber had wounded Lange in a gun battle in the latter's store, 805 Allegheny avenue.

FINDS FATHER DEAD BY GUN

William Madill, of Bellevue, went to his father's rooming house, 804 Sherman avenue, this morning on a visit.

He found his father, John Madill, 76, of Indiana, Pa., dead, lying across the bed, fully clothed, with a bullet hole in his temple and a revolver on the floor near him.

Police said the wound was self-inflicted.

New Radio Beacon For New York Harbor

NEW YORK.—(INS.)—A new radio beacon, on Scotland Lightship, will shortly be available for all vessels entering and leaving New York Harbor, according to word from the Department of Commerce. Scotland Lightship is on the axis to the old South Channel, still used by many coastwise craft. Not only will the new radio beacon be of service to coastwise craft, but it will furnish a cross bearing for all trans-Atlantic traffic approaching the Ambrose Channel.

Child Strangled In Fall From Bed

When his feet became tangled in his bedclothing while he was climbing from his cot after his afternoon nap late yesterday, Carl Koetten, 5, of Bell's farm, Coraopolis Heights, fell between the bars of the bed and was strangled, according to a coroner's report.

The boy was found some time later by his mother when she went to awaken him. His body was suspended between the bed and the floor, with his feet tangled in the bedclothing.

BUOY TO LOCATE SUNKEN SUB DESCRIBED

Baldwin Township Inventor Tells How Device Would Mark Scene of Mishap

Had the British submarine M-2, lost in the English Channel with its crew of 60, been equipped with his recently patented buoy signal, it could easily have been located, Anthony B. Obidzinski, Baldwin Township contractor and real estate dealer, said today.

Obidzinski, himself a former United States submarine repairman, has perfected his device after years of study, following his discharge from the Navy.

Mr. Obidzinski

It consists of a buoy concealed in a streamlined compartment in the side of the submarine. A buoy is placed on each side of every compartment in the craft, making them available to the crew regardless of where the men may be trapped in the ship.

SHOOTS TO SURFACE

Released, the buoy shoots to the top of the water. In it are telephone lines leading back to the ship. Through this the crew can convey its needs and the seriousness of its situation to surface craft. The apparatus functions regardless of what condition other mechanism of the ship may be in.

In addition to the buoy there is a food conveyor, also invented by Obidzinski.

This consists of a long, adjustable tube which a diver may bring from the surface, once the sunken craft is located from the buoy, and fasten to a nipple in the compartment where the buoy orginally rested.

Through this tube, containers of food or even repair parts, if the submarine's are minor ones, can be shot into the sunken ship.

DEPTH NO BARRIER

Depth makes no difference to either of these aids, Obidzinski claims.

At present he is working on another device, which he hopes will enable the crew to safely and easily leave a sunken submarine with the assurance that a pickup craft awaits them on the surface.

MOSLEMS BURN HINDUS

DELHI, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Scores of Hindus were burned to death today as angry mobs of heavily-armed Moslems burned and looted their way through the state of Kashmir in a revolutionary march on Srinigar, according to reports received here.

A staggering tale of bloodthirsty lawlessness was told of the Moslem raids, aimed at overthrowing the Hindu government of the maharajah of the wealthy state, Sir Hari Singh, known to the western world as the famous "Mr. A." of the London $1,500,000 blackmail case of several years ago.

Temples were reported desecrated. The government was said to be paralyzed and powerless to act against the Moslem insurrection, in which between 15,000 and 20,000 were estimated to be taking part.

Refugees, helpless, sought shelter in British territory.

Rescuers Seek 100 Marooned in Flood

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Marooned as waters of the Yazoo River swept through crumbling levees, more than 100 persons in Humphrey and Yazoo counties were objects of rescue attempts by Coast Guard patrol boats today.

The 12-mile long levee at Atchafalya Basin had broken in several places and in others water was flowing over the top of the dikes.

3 'Vanities' Girls Victims of Thief

CLEVELAND, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Three members of the cast of Earl Carroll's 1931 vanities, now playing here, were victims of a dressing room sneak thief last night, they reported to police today.

Loot totaled $12 in cash, a $28 wrist watch and several personal articles. The victims were Helena Callahan, Peggy Oden and De Don Blumier, all of New York City.

$2,500,000 Elevator Order Placed Here

Westinghouse Electric Elevator Company has been awarded the $2,500,000 contract for 76 automatic elevators to be installed in the 70-story office building in Radio City, New York, it was announced today at the Pittsburgh Westinghouse office. The bulk of construction on the elevators, including motors, will be done in Pittsburgh, affording employment to many men.

The mystery of the British Admiralty: Why didn't the members of the sunken submarine M-2's crew attempt to escape (or did they?) with this equipment, the Lieut. Charles Momsen (U. S. N.) "lung?" The equipment, new and in good condition, was aboard. In this "moviette," U. ## SCIENCE HOLDS NO HOPE FOR CHILD

Even 1,000-to-1 Chance by Operation to be Denied Diane Moore; Brain Gone

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—The American says doctors of the Neurological Institute have determined that medical science is helpless to save 13-month-old Diane Moore from a life of idiocy.

The institute, it says, has informed the infant's mother, Mrs. Lillian Moore, 19, it will not consent to an operation which it had been hoped would relieve a condition which made development of the baby's brain impossible.

X-ray photographs have shown that the child has a "general lack of brain tissues" and that the maximum mental age it can attain is that of a 2-year-old. Diane, the paper says, probably will never walk or talk.

A further examination of the child was to have been made on Tuesday, but the institute's decision is said to be final and the examination will not be held.

Dr. O. A. Spier, who referred the case to the institute, said the baby's brain was ossified and suggested a skull operation to provide room for expansion.

State Road Patrol Duties Restricted

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—The sole duty of three units of the State Highway Patrol is the patroling of the highways, Secretary of Revenue Clyde L. King said.

Dr. King yesterday instructed Capt. Wilson C. Price, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, that members of these units are to do no other work than patroling the highways, except to collect protested checks submitted for payment for registration or other fees of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

ARRESTED GIRL TAKES POISON

A 19-year-old girl who swallowed poison rather than return to Youngstown—where she had worked 18 hours a day as domestic for $5 a week—to face a larceny charge, was recovering today in Allegheny General Hospital.

She is listed there as Anna Backus, but claims that is not her right name.

Police Chief W. B. D. Kaesmeier, of West View, went to a home in Mt. Vernon avenue, where the girl was staying, yesterday to serve an Ohio warrant charging her with thefts from her former employer totaling more than $500.

The girl asked permission to change her dress, walked into the bedroom and, Kaesmeier says, drank the poison.

At the hospital, she denied the majority of the thefts.

Weight Bureau Job Error Corrected

John G. (Dude) Johnston, of 250 South Evaline avenue, has been appointed by the County Commissioners as an inspector in the Weights and Measures Bureau, effective February 1, at $2,400 a year. Formerly he worked in the office of Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell.

He was appointed a few days ago with a number of others but the Commissioners reported the name to newspapers as J. W. Johnson, of 350 South Highland avenue. The latter has been notified of the error, according to the Commissioners' office.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—L. Cass Ledyard, one-time personal counsel to the elder J. Pierpont Morgan, died last night of heart disease at the age of 80. He was president of the New York Public Library and had been a leader in civil life for a generation.

Blonde Screen Star Here for Week On Stage

Alice White, famous screen star, arrived in Pittsburgh at dawn today, to make personal appearances at Loew's Penn Theater for a week, during which she also will answer on the radio all questions about the movies asked by readers of the Sun-Telegraph.

Hundreds of letters for Miss White came into the Sun-Telegraph offices yesterday. She will answer this first batch in a broadcast over WCAE on the Sun-Telegraph Night Club hour, at 11:15 o'clock tomorrow night. Jack Keough, master of ceremonies, will introduce her.

Betty Phillips, of East Liberty, will be the first fan to be addressed personally by Miss White and to have her queries answered. Here were Miss Phillips' five questions:

1. Who, in your opinion, are the 10 greatest film actors?

2. Who is the most popular star in Hollywood?

3. Is Jean Harlow an original platinum blonde?

4. Of what nationality is Jean Harlow?

5. When did she enter the movies?

Miss White stepped from the train wearing a full length mink coat. Counting the 16 ounces weighed by Skippy, her Japanese toy dog, the blonde movie star tipped the scales at 100 pounds. She is five feet tall. She had 12 trunks and suitcases.

"Have you got the answers to all the movie questions in the trunks?" Miss White was asked.

"No," she laughed, tapping her head. "Here's where the answers are."

During the coming week Miss White will make several other broadcasts from WCAE under the auspices of the Sun-Telegraph, so send in your questions to Alice White, care of the Sun-Telegraph, and she will answer them in the order they are received.

Miss White will broadcast answers next week over WCAE at other times during the day in addition to the Sun-Telegraph's Night Club Hour.

Finances Prompt Crisis in Austria

VIENNA, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Austria's cabinet crisis was still unsettled today and attention turned to difficulties of the Austrian National Bank, which announced it was selling its bullion reserve to obtain foreign exchange.

There were persistent rumors that Dr. Reisch, president of the bank, who has been identified in the public mind with its drastic policy of foreign exchange restriction, might resign.

PITT STUDENT EXPLORER BURNED

Latin-American Expedition Abandoned When Flames Wreck Home-Made Boat

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—The Latin-American expedition of five youthful explorers ended here last night when their boat Quest burned at its Mississippi River mooring, injuring two members and destroying all their equipment.

Today they checked finances and said they believed they would just be able to pay expenses back to Pittsburgh, their starting point eight weeks ago. The party included Frederick H. Wright, of Rutgers University, and Stanley Stephens, of the University of Pittsburgh, who were burned before they could leap into the water. Neither was seriously hurt.

ESCAPE INJURY

They, with Edward T. Jones, University of Pittsburgh student who escaped injury, swam ashore. Other members of the party who were not aboard were J. Mortimer Sheppard, of Pittsburgh, expedition director and guide, and Edward B. Force, University of Pittsburgh architectural student. All are under 30 years old.

Explosion of a faulty gasoline stove was blamed for the fire, which burned the 42-foot boat to the water line. The explorers estimated damage at $14,000, including equipment and cameras valued at $4,000.

The home-made craft was to have proceeded today to New Orleans, into the Gulf of Mexico and along the Florida coast to Havana, thence across the Caribbean Sea to Yucatan and on to Colombia.

NOT PITT PROJECT

The Latin-American expedition had no connection with the University of Pittsburgh, authorities there said today. It was described as a private expedition promoted by J. Mortimer Sheppard. The boat was a reconditioned craft powered by an automobile engine. Eight weeks had been required to descend the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

FLEE FLAMES IN PAJAMAS

Colorful pajamas vied with the glistening ebony hues of firemen's slickers as fire early today threatened an entire block in the heart of the Squirrel Hill business district. The blaze drew hundreds of spectators.

Originating in the basement of the Julius Sappers' shoe store at 1933 Murray avenue, the fire was checked before it engulfed an adjoining chain grocery and drug store.

An investigation is under way to determine the cause of the blaze.

Two employes of the shoe store, completing plans for a sale, told police they left the building shortly before midnight.

Occupying an apartment at 1927 Murray avenue, Edna Morrison, Mrs. Nannette Goldstein and Ethel Duckworth, of Morgantown, W. Va., were driven out in pajamas by smoke.

The fire loss was estimated at $1,500 by Fire Chief John Zollinger.

HAWAII MURDER CHARGE FOUGHT

HONOLULU, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Mrs. Granville Fortescue and her three co-defendants, charged with the second-degree murder of Joseph Kahahawai, Hawaiian, sought temporary freedom today in two actions before the Territorial Circuit Court.

Arraignment of the New York and Washington society matron and the three Navy men accused with her, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, E. J. Lord and A. O. Jones, was ordered for today.

Defense attorneys announced they would at once press for the release of the four on bond and that they would appear again before Circuit Judge A. M. Christy to argue for quashing of the murder indictment on the ground that Judge Christy coerced the grand jury into returning it.

Taking cognizance of tense feeling that the recent crime wave has brought to Honolulu, Judge Christy ordered cameras and civilian firearms barred from the courtroom during both sessions.

ALLEN TO FACE DEATH TRIAL MONDAY

Girl Gives No Indication of Relenting in Condemnation Of Killing of Fiancee

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Edward H. B. Allen, Philadelphia steeplechase rider, will go on trial Monday for the slaying of Francis A. Donaldson III, scion of a socially prominent main line family, and in the hands of his sister Rose, may lie Allen's life.

The trial, with the life of a society man at stake, comes as the climax of a drama which contains every element of emotional appeal, suspense, intrigue, a girl's honor, the whole range of passions from love to hatred—and death.

GIRL BLAMES RELATIVTS

The 18-year-old debutante and Donaldson were close friends. The young men quarreled, it is alleged, over Donaldson's attentions to her just before the fatal shooting in the Green Hill Farms Hotel last November 9.

Miss Allen held her brother and her father, Horace Allen, were responsible for Donaldson's death, and there has been no indication that she has changed her attitude. Yesterday she testified before the Montgomery County grand jury, which indicted her brother for murder.

Horace Allen has charged that Donaldson wronged his daughter during a week-end trip last summer.

DEMAND PUNISHMENT

Donaldson's parents have said they do not wish the death penalty to be imposed, but ask instead that "Allen be punished so that he can never forget this awful thing he has done."

Stewart Nase, District Attorney, said he probably would not reach a decision as to what penalty the commonwealth will seek before Sunday.

AL SMITH'S SON FREE IN KILLING

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—After a hearing in which three eyewitnesses placed the blame for the accident on the victim, Magistrate Guy Van Amringe, in Homicide Court, today dismissed a charge of suspicion of homicide against Walter Smith, 22-year-old son of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Smith had been accused in connection with the death of Harry Wallace, 59, who was struck and killed by the Smith boy's automobile.

The defendant's father and brother were in court.

The eyewitnesses, all taxi drivers, testified in substance that young Smith was traveling at less than 20 miles an hour, that the lights were in his favor, and that Wallace apparently walked into the moving automobile.

WINCHESTER, Va., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Loudoun County authorities are holding Ernest Grayson, 20-year-old Negro, on a charge of stealing a pocketbook belonging to Mrs. John Hay Whitney.

Police said the Negro hid the pocketbook in the mountains near Llangollen, Whitney estate, when he was about to be overtaken by Mrs. Whitney and two grooms, who pursued on horseback.

British Pony Hero Buried With Honors

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Simple services today marked the burial of Beatrice, 24-year-old $12,000 polo pony decorated by the British government for bravery under fire during the World War. Shrapnel fire wounded her right hip and she carried the scar proudly. Beatrice died in action. She dropped from a heart attack as her owner, Laddie Sanford, noted poloist, rounded a turn in a fast polo game.

College Sport War Likened To World Arms Race

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—An analogy between nations having races for armament and colleges seeking athletic supremacy was drawn in a speech last night by President William E. Tolley, of Allegheny College, before the Meadville Fellowship of Peace.

Five small Western Pennsylvania colleges were given as home examples by Tolley. He said Allegheny, Thiel, Geneva, Grove City and Westminster colleges were laboring under a huge expenditure for sports, each fearing the consequence.

He then touched on Allegheny's plans for eliminating professionalism in athletics at the college next year, explaining that last year the school had an athletic deficit of $24,000.

Confidence was expressed by the college president that once the other schools saw that Allegheny suffered no dire consequence from its act that they would follow the lead.

paper(s) without other comment after the cabinet meeting said.

"Several days ago when the situation first became acute I consulted with the British Ambassador in regard to the crisis at Shanghai and asked him to confer with his government.

"I discussed with him the making of representations to Japan that in view of the efficient police and other sources of protection already available in the International Settlement there should be no military occupation of that settlement by Japan unless the municipal force became clearly inadequate to protect life and property.

"On Wednesday our government made such a communication to Japan and we have now received an answer assuring this government that international rights and interests in Shanghai would not be interfered with.

"I learned this morning from the British ambassador that his government has made the same suggestions to the Japanese that were conveyed by ourselves.

"An informal communication such as we made to the British has been made by both Great Britain and ourselves to the French and Italian governments.

"No other proposals for international action have been made by the American government."

At the capitol meanwhile there was talk of further movements to bring the Nazis up to the London treaty limits. Chairman Hale of the Senate Naval Committee got to work on a speech he soon will make comparing the American and Japanese fleets.

PRESSES BILL

He hopes to get his biggest navy bill enacted this session, but the House Naval Committee has sidetracked moves there to report such a measure now due to the condition of the Treasury.

There were indications that in the light of Far Eastern developments naval legislation might be taken up in committee soon again. Hale expects to call attention to figures brought out in recent hearings, which portray the Japanese fleet as growing more rapidly than the American or British navies.

BRITAIN BACKS U. S.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Great Britain and the United States will take joint action in dealing with the Chinese crisis, it was announced in Downing Street today.

The British government has asked the Japanese government to take no action inside the International Settlement at Shanghai without prior consultation with the other governments concerned.

Great Britain has informed the United States of this action and invited Washington to take a similar step in Tokio. This was in reply to British conversations with Secretary Stimson.

The fact that Britain has made direct representations to Tokio and has invited Washington to do the same, is expected to add materially to the security of Shanghai's International Settlement.

The request that Japan take no action inside the settlement leaves just as it was the whole question of what is taking place in the territory outside.

DAVIS WARNS U.S. ON CHINA CRISIS

A policy of look before you leap was advocated by United States Senator James J. Davis for this country regarding the crisis in the Orient. Senator Davis is here today to deliver an address tonight at a banquet of the United Spanish-American War Veterans in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

He said:

"The experience the United States gained from interfering in other world affairs should be a great lesson to this country and should prevent us from making any hasty move in the present crisis now existing in Japan and China."

During the afternoon he was to speak before the South Hills Council of Republican Women meeting in the home of Mrs. L. F. Kane at 1204 Piermont avenue, Dormont.

Shanghai Wireless Station Disabled

SHANGHAI, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A Chinese wireless station which normally communicates directly with Europe and the United States by way of San Francisco went out of commission today when the control lines from the International Settlement through the Chapei district were destroyed in the fighting through the Chinese areas.

American engineers connected with the station set up a temporary circuit by way of Manila and Java. Wireless reception from the United States continued normal.

Missionaries Safe In Shanghai Clash

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Presbyterian missionaries at Shanghai are safe and do not anticipate any danger, said a cable received today by the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

The board has 41 missionaries at Shanghai engaged in evangelical and education work.

Truce Spurned; City Set Afire During Battle; 2 Japanese Planes Crash

set for themselves they were having their troubles holding it.

Sharp reports were heard of the rifles of snipers hidden along the boundaries of the International Settlement.

A number of Chinese soldiers made their way across the northern boundary of the Settlement, where a Japanese detachment was watching for just such a move.

ATTACK CLUB

The Chinese attacked a Japanese club close to the boundary and one small group fired on the Japanese military headquarters. The skirmish was brief and the Chinese were driven back.

Although it was impossible to determine the seriousness of a Chinese counter-attack upon Japanese headquarters in the native section it was widely believed the defenders were dangerously near capturing the place and some observers said the Japanese were moving their headquarters nearer to the Settlement.

Never has there been such a night of horror in Shanghai those who watched it said.

It began when the Japanese arrived, pushing through the twisting street clearing a way with machine guns.

Airplanes added to the carnage swooping down every 20 minutes like clockwork and dropping cargoes of bombs which started fires at six separate points.

The railroad station objective of the first drive burned to the ground. The railroad line to Nanking was broken and telegraph and telephone lines to the capital went down.

The wounded came in by the score to emergency dressing stations and it seemed certain many women and children had been killed. The Chinese placed their losses at 300 killed and wounded. The Japanese said they had lost only a handful.

The Chinese commander asked for reinforcements and the Japanese military attache also wanted more men, but Japan's naval commander said he thought his men were able to handle the situation.

Chinese Troops Shoot Down Japanese Planes

SHANGHAI, Jan. 29.—(INS)—As "the Battle of Shanghai" today waged unabated, the consuls of the United States and Great Britain in view of the landing of two companies of Japanese marines on the Bund last night, warned the Japanese commanders against attempting to use the International Settlement as a basis for operations.

Despite this protest, however, it was reported that Admiral Shiosawa, directing Japanese military operations there, contemplates seizing the whole International Settlement, claiming that he needs it as a point of attack upon the Chinese.

STUBBORN RESISTANCE

Meanwhile, despite continued bombing from the air and machine-gunning from the street by invading Japanese forces, a stubborn Chinese soldiery late this afternoon still held the important North Railway station.

Although the building was a mass of smouldering ruins, the Chinese held the point through a steady air and ground barrage which threw the adjoining north district of the International Settlement into a state of panic unprecedented in its history. Six separate fires raged, threatening to wipe out the Chapei district.

Japanese airplanes bombed Markham road junction, further west of North Station, in an attempt to capture the important point.

AMERICAN AIDS

Throughout the morning a heroic band of foreigners, headed by Dr. H. H. Morris, an American, endangered their lives by running across open land from the Settlement to the North Station, bravely aiding the wounded Chinese.

Two Japanese bombing planes were shot down during the fighting, in which the Chinese everywhere were stubbornly delaying the Japanese advance.

American Marines went to the rescue of a number of panic-stricken Chinese women and children, who in their flight from the Chapei district fell into Soochow Creek, boundary of the International Settlement, and saved the refugees from drowning.

Senator to Compare U. S., Japan Fleets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Chairman Hale, of the Senate Naval Committee, sponsor of a bill to authorize building the American Navy up to treaty strength, today planned an early Senate speech comparing the American and Japanese fleets.

Long Move Watched In Governor Row

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long came home today to a state where two men claimed the right to succeed him as Governor, saying the trip had no political significance, but the side line watched for action.

Meanwhile Alvin O. King continued to occupy the Governor's chair and Paul N. Cyr to claim it, and neither showed signs of receding from his position.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Virtually all of the estate of the late William Wrigley, Jr., estimated at $20,215,000, was left to members of his family. His only son, Philip K. Wrigley, was bequeathed controlling interest in the Chicago National League baseball team.

FAR EAST CRISIS ALARMING TO CONGRESS

Japan's Violation of Pacts To Spur Navy Building; Arms Parley Held Futile

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Congress is thoroughly concerned and apprehensive over the situation in the Far East.

While the surface is calm and members are largely refraining from action or comment that might embarass the administration, underneath there is resentment and indignation over the high-handed manner in which Japan has violated her treaties and broken her pledges concerning China.

Senators, in private comment, compared the Japanese invasion of China, particularly of Shanghai, with Germany's ruthless sweep across Belgium in the critical days of August, 1914.

BLOCKS ARMS CUT

The events of the past week are likely to have several important results upon the policies of the American Congress.

For one thing, they have blasted any possibility of further reduction of the American Navy, and on the contrary have accelerated the movement to start immediately toward building up the Navy to the full strength of the London treaty.

For another, Japanese aggression has nullified any thought that the Geneva disarmament conference, due to meet next week, can accomplish anything. With Japan running amuck in Asia, in violation of all her treaties and promises, there is now no thought that any nation at Geneva is going to reduce national defense in any category.

So long as Japan's action was confined to Manchuria, Congress showed few signs of being disturbed. It was felt that Japan had special interests in Manchuria, just as the United States has in Central America, that she had more or less moral right to protect.

U. S. TRADE THREATENED

But the occupation of Shanghai, the great international city of China, the gateway through which passes hundreds of millions of dollars in American goods each year, has put a totally different complexion on the matter.

With the collapse of Europe's purchasing power, the Orient has become one of America's best customers. Far Eastern trade has been assuming more and more importance in American world commerce, and it has been to that section of the world, rather than to Europe, that American trade experts have been looking for the great commerce of the future.

Japan has promised in numerous notes that the "open door" will be maintained in the Far East, and that there shall be "equal opportunity for all" in Asiatic commerce. But the sentiment in Congress is inclined to question whether Japan's promises on that score are any more valuable than her promises in the Nine-Power and Kellogg treaties to respect China's integrity.

JAPAN, SOVIET NEAR CLASH

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—A new possibility of direct conflict between Soviet Russia and Japan threatened tonight when the Rengo News Agency reported from Mukden, Manchuria, that Gen. Jiro Tamon, hero of the previous Manchurian campaign, was ordered to take a division of troops to Harbin, where a Russian railway official blocked transport of Japanese over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

At the same time the Japanese government planned to hold officials of the Russian-owned Chinese Eastern accountable for any delay in the arrival of Japanese reinforcements at Harbin, where a battle has been in progress for three days between Chinese factions.

The Chinese Eastern Railway is jointly owned by Russia and China. Hsi Hsia, governor of Kirin province, has been fighting a force led by Ting Chao, commander of the railway guards. Japan attempted to send a body of troops to Harbin to protect its citizens there, the government said.

Gibbons Tells of Shanghai Horror

(Editor's Note — Floyd Gibbons, noted war correspondent for International News Service, discloses in the following dispatch from Shanghai today that Japanese airplanes have, through mistake, dropped bombs in the International Settlement, endangering the lives of thousands of foreigners, including many Americans.

By FLOYD GIBBONS
International News Service.
(Copyright, 1932, by International News Service.)
(Reproduction in whole or part absolutely forbidden.)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 29.—Hello, everybody!

Bad news today from Shanghai—sad news, and developments more menacing to world peace than anything that has been happening in Manchuria.

Not only China and Japan are mixed up in this mess. No sir—the events of the last 18 hours have placed these unwelcome and undesired Far Eastern hostilities on the doorsteps of each and every member of the family of nations.

For the first time in history, a belligerent nation has used the international concession in Shanghai as a military base for offensive operations against China.

BOMBS DROPPED

Bombs—Japanese bombs—have been dropping by mistake today within the boundaries of the international concession, endangering the lives of all neutrals, including thousands of American men and women.

But fortunately no casualties have been reported as yet, although Japanese seaplanes, big as navy bombers—and carrying hundreds of pounds of detachable explosives have been hovering nearby and flying over the international concession all day on their way to and from objectives in the Chinese city.

American women, daintily clad, are watching the war spectacle from the roofs of Shanghai skyscrapers. And believe me, boys and girls, they've got big modern ones here.

Japan has done this, and done it not in concert with nor in consideration of other nations equally interested here, but entirely on her own.

COMPLICATIONS

It is just as though the Jones family, occupying one apartment in a 10-flat building, used their apartment as the base for an attack on a flat building across the street. The occupants of the flat building successfully resist the attack and retaliate by carrying the fight back across the street and cleaning out not only Jones' apartment but the flats of the other families as well.

That's the way it looks to me just two hours off the boat.

Cables and radios are buzzing to their fullest capacity as reports, protests and explanations are speeding from Shanghai to the foreign departments of every government in the world. This is a great time to watch your step and keep your powder dry.

The roofs of Shanghai's great buildings are grandstand seats for this latest spectacle of man's inhumanity to his brothers.

The late afternoon sun was still shining pink through the grayish mist when I stepped out of an elevator onto the roof of the 12-story Hotel Cathay.

Half a mile or so to the north two large columns of smoke were rising to the sky while the air was filled with black charred bits of burnt paper. Two Japanese airplanes were hovering in the air right above.

GIRL HORRIFIED

An American girl—an absentee from a dance on the hotel terrace—handed me a pair of binoculars. Her eyes blazing with excitement, she pointed toward the nearest and largest column of smoke. She said:

"That's the Chinese Railroad station. I saw a large bomb make a direct hit on the roof two hours ago. The whole roof caved in, and flames and smoke rose 100 feet in the air.

"The station was full of Chinese soldiers. It's useless—it's horrible—it's murder!"

She recovered her glasses and replaced them to her eyes and once more turned her gaze, horrified and at the same time fascinated, upon the burning pyre.

Ice Breastworks Hamper Drive Of Japanese

MUKDEN, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Breastworks fashioned from huge blocks of ice cut from the frozen surface of the Sungari river today impeded advance of Japanese reinforcements northward toward Harbin.

Forced to cross the river on foot when the bridge was damaged, Japanese troops encountered the "ice-forts" in midstream. The heavy ice blocks proved as effective as sandbags in warding off bullets.

ARMS PARLEY FACES DELAY

GENEVA, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—The general disarmament conference, scheduled to open here next Tuesday under League of Nations auspices, may be postponed for a few days because of the fighting at Shanghai, it was learned today.

The League Council, which is attempting to halt Japanese military activities, is expected to be in session Tuesday and officials of the league secretariat declare its deliberations on a highly controversial subject might have a prejudicial effect upon the disarmament discussions.

Strong Earthquake Placed at Shanghai

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 29.—(INS.)—A very strong earthquake, about 6,000 miles distant and in a direction believed to be in the vicinity of Shanghai, China, was recorded today at the Carnegie seismological laboratory.

STUDY GORDON'S PLAN TO PAY DEPOSITORS

Attorneys Seek Decision on Legality of Private 'Sale' Of Closed Concern's Cash

Possibility of a quick disposition of dividends of cash in closed state banks was questioned today.

Principal difficulty seemed to lie in whether Secretary of Banking William D. Gordon had successfully evaded the letter of the banking code.

Intent of the plan to speed relief of depressed depositors has not been questioned. Bank Department employes are said to have been holding meetings to represent counsel in an attempt to thresh out the matter.

PURCHASE DEBATED

Briefly, the question is whether it is legal for the private bankers (set up by Gordon to pay dividends in various parts of the state) to have cash given to banks for a distribution to depositors. The case of the Gordon plan was advanced in an effort to pay dividends faster than the state banking code provides originally before Christmas.

The law is interpreted by some to require that all assets sold must be disposed of at public sale. The Gordon plan was for Pittsburgh "Private Banker" Charles J. McCune to buy the cash of Western Pennsylvania banks for $1 and "other valuable considerations," the considerations being the services in distributing the cash, according to Dr. Gordon.

MEANINGLESS TRANSFER

If sold at public sale, the process would result in a meaningless dollar-for-nodial transfer, it is stated, due to outside bidders. If Gordon's powers are not wide enough to allow this circumvention of the letter of the law, depositors must rely on the slower, more cumbersome machinery already set up. Cash already distributed is not expected to be recalled.

The same question of legality applies to purchase by the Gordon realization corporations of assets of individual closed banks for a nominal sum without bidding at public sale.

The Gordon plan, as originally set up, provided for transfer of assets by the banks to the realization corporations for a nominal sum. The corporations then were to proceed to liquidate the securities with expert advice to prevent dumping and further depressing prices.

A decision against legality of the plan, however, would not seriously hinder the realization corporations, which would continue to act as they are at present, in an advisory capacity. Their advice, approved by Gordon, would be almost mandatory on the deputy secretaries of banking in charge of the banks and would have the same effect of liquidating at advantageous prices without depression of the securities market, the real or the real estate markets.

James C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, is a member of the board of directors and president of the Second District Realization Corporation, in Pittsburgh. Gordon is chairman of the board, supported by prominent business and financial leaders.

'AMBUSH' DEATH HELD ACCIDENT

FAYETTE CITY, Pa., Jan. 29.—That John Nutt, 19, farm hand, accidently shot and killed himself, and was not slain was one of the theories expressed today by District Attorney W. K. Newell. Following the finding of an automatic pistol in a rain barrel at the Eskin farm where Nutt was found fatally shot last Tuesday, detectives said it was the weapon with which he was killed.

Members of the Eskin family said one of them had won the revolver on a punchboard. Three weeks ago it was stolen. Detectives said they learned Nutt had shown the weapon to a friend and had said he was going to get the people who had been threatening him.

The District Attorney said he believed Nutt concealed the weapon in a corn crib and while returning it to the hiding place on Tuesday night, was shot accidentally. The District Attorney said he would continue following clues pointing to murder.

Prison Bars End Honeymoon Here

A honeymoon started in Cleveland two weeks ago ended in the Allegheny County Jail today. Jerome Lala, 26, his bride, Rose, 22, and his sister, Mrs. Anna Di Cillo, 28, all of Cleveland, were arrested last week charged with shoplifting in three department stores here. All three were held for court on larceny charges under $1,000 bail each.

Iron Company Wins $59,000 County Suit

The Pittsburgh Forge and Iron Company was awarded a verdict of $59,853.07 by a jury in Common Pleas Court today against Allegheny County for property taken in construction of the McKees Rocks-North Side Bridge. The company had asked for $150,000.

Sidewalk Peddler Arrested, Fined $5

The first peddler to be arrested under Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh's order against sidewalk merchants without a license, was arraigned in Central Police Court today. He was Sam Freedman, 21, of 3733 Dawson street, who was fined $5.

Leading Democrats Backing Garner Presidential Boom

By JOHN SNURE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. They are beginning to take seriously here the talk of John Nance Garner, Speaker of the House as a possibility for the Democratic nomination for President.

In this instance "they" means many of the leading figures in Democratic politics in the House and Senate. As they foregather in the cloakrooms and cloakrooms of the Capitol, they are beginning to show a developed disposition to look on the gentleman from the chaparral country of the Southwest as the one upon whom the lightning is most likely to strike under certain conditions.

With the name of Speaker Garner first was suggested some time ago, it made little impression. It was suggested as a matter of fact before the Texan was elected speaker and while there was uncertainty whether he would be speaker.

With his elevation to the speakership and with various developments tending to indicate that the Democratic national convention is apt to find itself deadlocked, again in the season of the ancient political conditions have to some extent changed.

BAKER'S COURSE FACTOR

No doubt the feeling in many quarters that Newton D. Baker of Ohio has put himself out of the running by his views on debt cancellation, and international matters along with his refusal to get into the race actively, has a good deal to do with it.

What is going on now and has been going on for the last two or three weeks is a process of search and survey by many of the Democratic leaders to find out what is to be done if what should be done if Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt fails to get the nomination. This process has led at least a considerable number of Democrats in the House and Senate to the conclusion that Speaker Garner in the event of a deadlock will be formidable.

Because of the efforts of the Roosevelt opponents and the extent of the favorite son movement, it is now apparent that Gov. Roosevelt is by no means assured of the nomination. More than a third of the delegates will go to other candidates, at least on the opening ballots, and it has become a real question whether more than a third will not be organized into a solid bloc into which the Governor cannot break.

Political leaders and experts more and more perceive the distinct possibility that Gov. Roosevelt may see his candidacy go through much the same experience as Champ Clark's at Baltimore in 1912.

GARNER'S FRIENDS ALERT

If it be assumed that Gov. Roosevelt may be defeated for the nomination, or that there is a considerable chance of his defeat, then the question of where the convention is going to turn becomes of extreme importance. Not only do Speaker Garner's friends fully understand this, but latterly there is evidence they are already at work on the theory that the opposition to Gov. Roosevelt is making headway.

As the friends of Speaker Garner look at it, he has become more a national figure than ever by reason of his selection as head of the House, and he will be constantly in the limelight this winter and spring and right up to convention time.

They hold that if he gets back of a program of legislation which appeals to the country he will be in a distinctly advantageous position if the Roosevelt candidacy is blocked and that his personal popularity is such that the convention is likely to turn to him with enthusiasm if the New York Governor cannot be nominated.

'SON OF SOIL' WANTED

The Texas leader, it is pointed out, is especially strong with western and southern men, and it is in the West and South that Gov. Roosevelt has most of his strength. Moreover, there is much being said in Democratic quarters of the need this year for a candidate of the rough and ready type, a "son of the soil." Those who talk that way are not prepared to swallow "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma, and think his traits as a showman are too strongly developed, but they feel differently toward Jack Garner.

According to friends of Speaker Garner, he has been approached by certain eastern anti-Roosevelt leaders and urged to become an active candidate. He has refused to do this or to permit himself to be used in this manner to head off Gov. Roosevelt.

His friends take the view that because of this if the convention is deadlocked he will not have the antagonism of the Roosevelt forces, but on the other hand will have their good will. So far as many of the Smith supporters are concerned in New York and elsewhere it is well known many of them are on good terms with Speaker Garner. The relations of the latter with Tammany leaders have for years been cordial.

SILENT ON PROHIBITION

What would happen to the Uvalde statesman if he should be nominated and should be held up to the gaze of the drys and the wets, if is not easy to tell. He has in recent years generally voted dry, but has kept silent on prohibition as a rule. If his Texas supporters have the right slant on public sentiment, he would sweep the prairies, to say nothing of the industrial centers.

What is becoming obvious is that as things are now Mr. Garner will have to be reckoned with as a possible dark horse nominee if Gov. Roosevelt's calculations fail.

And there is reason to believe that Speaker Garner, who has kept saying there was no presidential bee buzzing about his ears, is beginning to recognize that he may become a leading figure before the national convention.

VISITORS OPTIMISTIC

Almost daily, visitors from the West and South drop into his office and tell him they are ready to support him for President. It may well be believed that the speaker, though he insists he is not a candidate, is no more impervious to such statements than are other politicians.

In the coming national convention Texas will have a block of 46 delegates. Obviously, if such a delegation should unite earnestly for Garner or any other man it would have weight.

One of the possibilities is that the time might come when it could decide the result for Roosevelt. Should it come, Garner's friends deem it likely he would throw it to the New York candidate. Such a thing might mean the nomination of the speaker for vice president, provided he would run for an office which, in many respects, is less powerful than the speakership.

COAL MEN URGE OIL TARIFF

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP.)—Approval of a proposed tariff on oil was expected to be expressed today at a meeting of the committee on government relations of the National Coal Association.

The committee, consisting of 15 bituminous coal operators from several states, met at the Hotel Biltmore to consider the whole range of proposed legislation affecting the bituminous industry.

Among the proposed legislation to be discussed was the anti-injunction bill of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, a measure affecting labor disputes. C. B. Huntress, secretary of the coal association, said a brief had already been filed against this bill.

The Davis-Kelly coal control bill was also due for discussion. It is sponsored by Senator James J. Davis and Representative Clyde Kelly, both of Pennsylvania.

MIFFLIN FIGHTS ANNEXATION

Mifflin Township Commissioners will fight annexation of Kenmore plan to Whitaker Borough, which means taking a slice of 350 acres and about 200 residents away from the township.

Following authorization by the commissioners last night, Harry E. McWhinney, township solicitor, today said he would file exceptions to the petition asking the court's confirmation of the annexation.

Sneak Robs Woman Injured by Auto

Mrs. Eleanor Petrone, 25, of 118 Newett street, and Mrs. Carmel Shaner, 30, of 2321 Brownsville road, were in Pittsburgh Hospital with body injuries today after having been struck by a machine driven by Carl Strickler, of 5556 Center avenue, at Penn and Frankstown avenues.

Mrs. Petrone told police that following the accident, a sneak thief took her pocketbook containing $10 and a $65 watch. Hospital authorities said neither woman was seriously hurt.

Pope Authorizes Penalties in Crash

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 29. (AP.)—In an order published in the Osservatore Romano the Pope today authorized the Papal commission which is investigating the collapse of the Vatican library to impose civil and penal penalties even upon officials without appeal. The library walls collapsed on last December 22 causing five deaths and great damage to rare manuscripts and books.

Street Car Strike Threatens Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—City business leaders sought today to avert a threatened strike by employes of the Municipal Street Railway Company who hold pay warrants for $112,000 which banks here decline to cash. The city is impounding car revenues for bond interest payments of $235,640 due March 1. The executive committee of the workers' union has been authorized to call a strike Tuesday if the warrants are not made good.

PLANNING BODY SCORES SAND DOCK LEASE

City Council's Sacrifice Of River Parks Site For Cheap Rental Denounced

The City Planning Commission, in a letter to City Council, has disapproved the leasing of property adjoining the Brilliant Pumping Station along the Allegheny River to John W. Hubbard, manufacturer, for a gravel yard.

The communication signed by L. W. Monteverde, chairman of the Commission, asked Council why the Planning Commission had not been told what was going on when the resolution was before Council last March. The Commission only learned of the lease through private citizens within the last week.

COUNCIL HELD UNWISE

Council has been told in the letter that it is not wise for municipal authorities to break down regulations to which it expects citizens to conform. The letter stated:

"If any similar proposal were submitted by private owners, where zoning and general conditions were of like character, this department would recommend rejection."

The property is a part of the city's none too extensive parks, the letter states and represents unspoiled water frontage which should be safeguarded against undesirable use such as is involved in the gravel dock.

WORK CONTINUES

Work on the dock is continuing. A building permit at first denied by Superintendent H. L. Lev of the Bureau of Building Inspection has been issued on the advice of Assistant City Solicitor Thomas N. Benner, who has expressed a doubt whether the Zoning Board has any authority over public property.

Council passed a resolution March 19, 1931 authorizing the leasing to Hubbard for $400 a year of 400x80 feet of river frontage. The resolution contained nothing to indicate the purpose for which the property was to be used, although the lease drawn later by the Law Department provided for a gravel dock.

Real estate men estimate the value of the property, if considered as industrial with river and rail facilities at $1 per square foot. At that valuation it should return the city around $1,900 per year.

MAN ACQUITTED IN ARSON CASE

Theodore H. Phillips, 55, of Railroad street, Natrona, was acquitted in Criminal Court of attempted arson. He proved an alibi when tried on an allegation that he had tried to burn his general store in Garfield street, November 17.

Patrolman Edward Hileman testified he saw a smoking fuse on the sidewalk and traced it through the store door to a barrel of gasoline near a 25-pound sack of powder. Witnesses said Phillips carried $6,000 insurance on stock appraised at $750.

Denying he had set up the device to burn the place, Phillips said he had been threatened by customers whose credit he had shut off. He declared he had gone to his chicken farm the night in question, and then returned to his home.

SEEK TO BLOCK EXPO FUNDS

Mayor Charles H. Kline and City Controller James P. Kerr will be asked Monday by Councilman W. Y. English to withhold warrants of payments to the Exposition Society until investigation of the society's affairs with the city is completed. The request will be presented in the form of a resolution, English said.

Kerr and City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt are investigating the affairs of the Exposition Society, with which the city has a contract. An appropriation of $30,000 for the city's contract with the Exposition Society is set up in the 1932 budget.

Final decision as to whether the city should make further payments, will be in Council's hands, English said, but this action will not be taken until Kerr and Waldschmidt complete their probe.

PITT STUDENTS SENT DEGREES

Students of the University of Pittsburgh, who complete work toward degrees at the close of first semester today, 1931-32 session, will be graduated by letter from the university chancellor, Dr. John G. Bowman, February 10. Successful candidates among the class of 167 will be invited to take part in the formal graduation exercises at June commencement. They may receive their diplomas at any earlier date by applying to the university registrar, John G. Quick, according to advices from the chancellor's office.

This means of conferring degrees replaces February convocation, held in former years between semesters, and summer session convocation, discontinued last August.

Women Fined Over Alfonso Messages

MADRID, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Eighteen society women in Santander were fined from $40 to $400 yesterday because they sent messages of congratulation to former King Alfonso on his Saint's Day last Saturday.

RIPLEY TO KEEP RADIO 'DATE'

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—One year ago, 10,000 miles away, Robert L. (Believe It or Not) Ripley, from Schenectady, N. Y., talked with Irene Strelitz in Sydney, Australia, by radio on a two-day international broadcast.

At the conclusion of the program, Ripley made a date with Miss Strelitz for one year hence. Now the "Believe-It-or-Not" man is starting out on another expedition in search of new incredible material for his feature. This time the itinerary takes in the South Seas and Orient and includes a stop-over at Sydney to keep the date with Miss Strelitz.

On this latest expedition Ripley will add more new countries to the already large list of 122 foreign lands visited including a first visit to the antipodes.

Washington Woman Vanishes After Visit

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ruth Daniels, 32, of Washington, has been missing from her home since Tuesday. She was visiting a sister, Mrs. Gladys Rozzell, of Elco, and left there for Washington afoot.

Saturday—Last Day of Advance Selection

BRINGS THIS EXTRAORDINARY VALUE

We've had this suite hidden away for over two weeks, trying to save it for the First of February, when the Furniture Sale officially opens. We've suppressed every urge to advertise it at the very first opportunity. And then, today, we weakened. Simply bursting with pride we couldn't hold out any longer; we had one suite put in one of the windows and another in one of the model furniture rooms. We believe it is one of the very best things in our sale. Tomorrow Mother, Father, Sister, Brother and even Aunt Mary can all come together and see it—they will confirm our opinion, we're sure.

PRESS FREEDOM STRESSED BY STADTFELD

Exclusion of Reporter From Court Scored in Address Before State Publishers

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 29.—Exclusion of a newspaper reporter from a courtroom because of editorial criticism of the trial judge's conduct drew stinging rebuke today from Superior Court Judge Joseph V. Stadtfeld, of Pittsburgh, in an address before the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association convention here.

Paying tribute to the court, the bar and the press, but terming the latter "the greatest educator of all," Judge Stadtfeld declared:

"No court in its effort to administer the law has any right to violate the law.

FUTURE WITH PRESS

"The future of the American people rests nowhere so much as in the palm of the press. So long as a sufficient number of editors and publishers comprehend the term "Newspaper," to mean gatherer and disseminator of facts, and that God, through science, research and study, moves His Great Plan forward through unexplored paths by engaging the open mind, the civilization we dream of will be for posterity."

Judge Stadtfeld voiced the belief that the nation would emerge from the "peaceful revolution of finance and industry" stronger and greater than ever "in the possession of the greatest heritage ever possessed by an intelligent people, the right of self-government."

PATRIOTIC BAR

He concluded:

"So long as we maintain an educated and a patriotic bar, an honest and capable and fearless judiciary, and a fearless and independent press, I have no fear for the permanence of democracy which is the divine inspiration for a self-governing people."

Enactment of federal and state statutes providing for mandatory bi-annual publication of the financial condition of each bank and trust company as a means of averting cyclical economic depressions was urged before the publishers by William N. Hardy, manager of the association.

If every bank in every community had rendered such accounting, he added, there would have been no bank failures except for defalcations and the misuse of funds.

Mayview Man Guilty In 2 Auto Deaths

Harry L. White, head herdsman at Mayview, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in Criminal Court today in the death of two men struck and killed as he was driving on the William Flinn Highway, June 13. Sentence was postponed by visiting Judge R. L. Hildebrand, pending motion for a new trial. The victims were Chester Obney, of Carnegie, and Charles Allen, of Heidelberg. White testified he was blinded by headlights of an approaching car.

Freed Under Bond In Robber's Death

Harry Mitchell, of 854 Beech avenue, arrested at a Coroner's inquest into the death of Thomas Sords, alleged robber, of Brighton road, was released by police today in $5,000 bail. His companion, Jesse Thomas, of 807 Ridge avenue, was seeking to arrange for the same bond.

College Boxer Dies Of Over-Exertion

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Innis R. Calman, of Birmingham, Ala., 21-year-old Emory University sophomore, died today from over-exertion in an interclass boxing tournament at the university last night.

Juice of 4 Lemons Relieves Rheumatic Pain

The juice of four lemons, mixed at home with a package of the REV PRESCRIPTION, makes a full quart of medicine which will stop the most acute or chronic case of pain from rheumatism and neuritis. Thousands have found it to be economical, effective and pleasant to take. Costs only a few cents a day. Often relieves overnight. All Marchbrown Drug Stores, Lion Drug Stores, and other leading druggists recommend and guarantee this mixture.

Music for Cure Of Ills Urged By Alienist

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—The musical doctor is on his way.

Instead of writing prescriptions for medicine he will place copies of music in the hands of his patients and confidently look forward to a cure, it was predicted last night by Dr. Alex S. Hershfield, former state alienist for Illinois.

He suggested:

For grief—Chopin's etudes, Beethoven's Pathetica and some of Dvorak's cello works.

For personal depression—Wagner's Ride of the Valkyrie.

Byrd Details Plans to Build Permanent Base in Antarctic

Explorer Welcomed to Wilkinsburg for Two Lectures

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd plans to establish a permanent base on his next Antarctic expedition, 500 miles nearer the South Pole than the present "Little America," for use of future explorers, he revealed today.

Arriving this morning for two lectures at Wilkinsburg High School, Byrd at the Penn-Lincoln Hotel disclosed he is devoting much of his spare time to working out details of his forthcoming expedition. No date has been set.

He said:

"When we go back we expect to establish a more permanent 'Little America' than the one we left, 500 miles farther inland and within 300 or 400 miles of the Pole, so that scientists of the future may find a stopping place.

"We likely will be unable to see the buildings we erected, on our return, as they probably will be covered with snow. The radio towers, 75 feet high, may be visible."

Byrd was to be honored at a public reception at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station, Wilkinsburg, late today, under auspices of the Kiwanis Club, with Burgess William M. Turner, and members of Council participating. He was to be escorted by the High School Band and Boy Scouts to his hotel.

Proceeds of his lectures were to be devoted by the Kiwanis Club to its work for under-privileged children.

Cleared in Slaying, Woman Won't Re-wed

CHESTER, Pa., Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Mrs. Elsie Feist, 25, formerly a waitress in a Harrisburg restaurant, who was acquitted in seven minutes by a jury of the murder of her husband, "never intends to marry again."

At the home of her mother, Mrs. Ross Croley, Mrs. Feist said the "terrible experience of the trial has proven too much."

Canners to Use Newspaper Ads

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Newspapers, instead of magazines, will hereafter be used as the medium for the advertising campaign of the National Canners' Association, Francis A. Harding, Watertown, Mass., retiring president, announced here today.

The change was authorized, he said, "in an effort to increase the sale of canned foods." The other members of the committee which made the decision were Gordon Kellogg, American Can Company, and T. G. Searle, Continental Can Company.

GEN. MALONE TO VISIT CITY

Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps area, United States Army with headquarters in Baltimore, will visit Pittsburgh officially Wednesday and Thursday, February 10 and 11, according to word received by Col. T. M. Anderson and his staff at 99th Division headquarters in the Westinghouse Building.

Gen. Malone

Gen. Malone, known as one of the most spirited orators in the military service, will speak on "International Trade in its Relationship to War and National Defense" in Carnegie Lecture Hall February 10.

Inspections of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology, the reserve units of the 99th Division, the Coast Artillery units and the 308th Cavalry will occupy a large part of his time here.

Gen. Malone began his Army career in 1894 and saw active service in the Spanish-American War and the World War. He received all the distinguished service awards available for conspicuous conduct in action.

Receivers to Pay $75,000 Hotel Taxes

E. C. Eppley and H. V. Blaxter, receivers of the Pittsburgh Hotels Corporation, owners of the William Penn and Fort Pitt Hotels, were authorized to pay $75,650 taxes to Allegheny County by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Federal Court today.

ONEGIN ARRIVES FOR UNUSUAL PROGRAM

Selections From 'Macbeth' Feature Noted Contralto's Recital in City Tonight

By J. FRED LISSFELT
Music Critic.

Sigrid Onegin, world's foremost contralo, is again in Pittsburgh awaiting the Art Society concert tonight, when she will sing probably the finest group of songs assembled by any singer for us in many a day.

Among singers there is no better student, no more effervescent personality, no happier a creature than Onegin. In her hand bag is a charming photograph recently made of herself and her seven-year old son. Peter is now in an American school in New England and Mother Onegin is as proud of him as of her recent triumph when she revived Verdi's "Macbeth" in Berlin.

It was apropos of these mighty songs from "Macbeth," which she will sing tonight, that we became so enthusiastic. After Onegin's first American excursion she and Toscanini happened to meet in Munich. He, like all others who hear this voice, was stunned by its possibilities and begged her to come to Italy, where she might aid him in reviving all the operas which had lain dormant so long for lack of adequate voices. Among these operas he mentioned a "Macbeth" which Verdi had attempted as a young composer but which had been a fiasco. Verdi had heard Wagner's "Lohengrin" in Paris, recognized at once his own shortcomings, put himself to work to remake "Macbeth." And then it had remained on a dusty shelf.

Now Onegin needed a new role for last season at the Berlin opera. She suggested this very "Macbeth" and the management was willing to investigate. The score was long out of print and the plates destroyed. But undaunted, Onegin and her aids searched everywhere and were rewarded. In a second hand book store in Italy they found a treasure—a copy of the newer edition which Verdi himself had used, and in which he had experimented over and over again to remake the Italian libretto to sing as did Shakespeare's original verses. These verses had to be made over into a rythmic German for Berlin and Onegin had a clever hand in this remaking once more.

And now this great student brings these very airs to America. Before her New York concert, the idea occurred to her that she might attempt them with an English text, that she could do no better than return to Shakespeare's original, when to her own astonishment she finds that when Verdi remade the Italian to suit his music he really was thinking fundamentally in Shakespeare's own rhythms, and that the English text is admirably suited to Verdi's music.

For chauvinists who insist upon opera in English there can be no more satisfactory experience than to hear this great singer interpret the letter and triumph arias of "Lady Macbeth" in a text which is truest poetry.

UPHOLDS VET'S $8,587 CLAIM

Leo Francis Bosic, 31, of Jeannette, World War veteran, wounded and gassed in the Meuse-Argonne drive, is entitled to recover $8,587.50 from the government on his $10,000 war risk insurance policy, Judge Nelson McVicar ruled because of permanent disability when discharged from military service August 13, 1919.

Bosic, now a patient in a government hospital at San Fernando, Cal., suffering from tuberculosis, while serving in the Marines was injured by a shell explosion and gassed. Since his discharge he has undergone several major operations.

Bosic waived a jury trial on his statement of claim and the case was heard by Judge McVicar, who ruled that judgment be entered against the government, the sum involved being at the rate of monthly payments of $57.50 since the discharge date.

Gibson, here to make arrangements to take his club to the Paso Robles (Cal.) training camp, three weeks hence, will disclose his plans for the National League race this summer.

The Lawson Sisters will be tonight's highlight of the Sun-Telegraph Night Club of the Air over WCAE at 11:15 o'clock. Jack Keough, master of ceremonies, will speak earlier in the evening, at 7 o'clock, of various features in the "American Weekly" section of this Sunday's Sun-Telegraph.

The Automobile Show will be broadcast as usual at 6:15 o'clock.

The Globe Trotter will give latest news of world events over WCAE at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

JOSEPH TALKS ON KIBITZERS

Charles H. Joseph, local humorist and writer of "Random Thoughts" in the Sunday Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will speak on WCAE tonight at 7:30 o'clock. His subject will be "Kibitzers." Mr. Joseph will build his talk around the people who can't refrain from telling others how to run their affairs, as applied to present day political and industrial matters. The program is sponsored by Frank and Seder as an introductory feature of their Department Buyers' Sale.

. . . . for Dinner at 85c HOTEL HENRY

THE RADIO TECHNICIAN SAYS...

"4 PILLARS FOR ACCURACY"

...AND THAT MEANS EVEREADY RAYTHEON TUBES

Notice the four strong pillars. With this solid foundation the fragile parts cannot move a hair's breadth from their fixed position. All other tubes have only a two-pillar foundation. Two supports instead of four! Jolts, bumps and vibration often impair their vital accuracy.

THE service man who keeps your set in repair is a radio expert . . . he knows tubes. If you ask him the cause of most radio ills and troubles, he'll say "tubes" without a second's hesitation. His experience has shown him that a tube can light up—often seem to test all right—and still it may be the cause of faulty reception. The reason is that its elements are out of alignment . . . inaccurate!

There's one way to be sure of accurate tubes, and of the flawless reception they give . . . use Eveready Raytheon 4-pillar Tubes throughout. They have four sturdy pillars to anchor their elements in place, one at each corner of a square. Other tubes have only two, and can be damaged by the jolts of handling and shipment, and by vibration from dynamic speakers. 4-pillar tubes have the strength to safeguard their vital accuracy!

Your dealer can demonstrate the superiority of 4-pillar tubes. Compare them tube for tube with others, and the difference is amazing. But to realize what an enormous improvement they can make in a radio, install a complete set of 4-pillar tubes . . . then listen!

Eveready Raytheon Tubes are Quick Heaters. Don't be fooled by tubes of the old, slow-heater type with which the market is flooded. A modern tube should heat up in 10 seconds or less. Time it yourself!

FILM MILLENNIUM -:- Author Writes With Actress in Mind -:- AMUSEMENTS -:- News and Notes About Stage and Screen

Kay Francis Will Appear As Dangerous Brunet On the Screen

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 29.

Warner Brothers take one step toward the Hollywood millennium in buying "A Dangerous Brunette" for Kay Francis.

The millennium, you must know, will come to pass in Hollywood when all stories are written directly for the screen. Of course, there'll be other changes, but needn't go into that.

At any rate, Melville Crossman had Kay Francis in mind when he wrote "A Dangerous Brunette" and Warner Brothers think his idea was a good one.

Kay Francis

The picture probably will be Kay's next, but the studio is too busy on her present one to give it a cast as yet. As part of the star-loot from the famous Paramount raid Kay is getting plenty of attention from Darryl Zanuck and his associates. She'll go over big, if they can swing it.

GOSSIP OF CELEBS

Here's how Greta Garbo arrived at the name "Gussie Berger." Gussie is La Garbo's pet name for the former Mrs. Ernst Lubitsch and Berger is borrowed from Dr. Ludwig Berger, the German director. Linda Watkins left Hollywood cold yesterday, and they say she's going to Chicago to be married. Don't know his name. . . . Special to Marjorie White: You'd better get in touch with the the woman who is taking care of your dogs. She says the Great Dane is eating her out of house and home. . . . Gary Cooper cables his dad he has just shot two super lions in Africa. Do they grade them over there? . . . Louella Parsons will appear in Universal's "Cohens and Kellys in Hollywood." . . . Herbert Somborn is having steady dancing dates with Loretta Young at the Biltmore's garden room.

Seen in the M. G. M. commissary: Clark Gable, wearing a yellow sweater and a camel's hair coat. He and Norma Shearer are the only players M. G. M. will admit are set for "Strange Interlude." Billie Haines is the latest to take a test for Norma's husband in this picture. . . . Dolores Del Rio lunching with Cedric Gibbons. She sailed for Honolulu a few hours later. . . . Viola Dana and her golfer husband, Jimmy Thompson. . . . Gaston Glass (now in M. G. M.'s foreign department) lunching with the Marquis De La Falaise. . . . Carey Wilson, with a bad cold. . . . Carey's working on that Hollywood satires for M. G. M.

MAY SELL LIFE STORY

Steve Donahue, one of the world's better known jockeys, is in Hollywood trying to interest a studio in making a picture based on his life on the tracks. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, they tell me, is lending an attentive ear.

Loretta Young

Warners List New Films

The management of Warner Brothers theaters have adopted "Bigger Better Business" as their February slogan and special picture presentation in the various theaters are announced for that month.

Films listed for the Stanley include "Taxi," with James Cagney, "The Hatchet Man," with Edward G. Robinson; "Forbidden," with Barbara Stanwyck; "Alias the Doctor," with Richard Barthelmess, and Joe E. Brown's "Fireman, Save My Child." Stage features in the Stanley the same period will include Ted Lewis and his Band, Chic Sale, Sue Carol and Nick Stuart and Horace Heidt's California Orchestra.

The February bookings for the Warner are Dorothy Mackaill's "Safe in Hell," George Arliss' "Man Who Played God," Chic Sale in "A Slice of Life" and "Murders in the Rue Morgue."

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Now it is one of the boys with whom I began. It All who complains. . . . Georgie Price. . . . Georgie feels badly, he says—because his "inspiration" was handed to me by a contributor and I pulled it without so much as crediting Georgie with it. . . . That's the second time Georgie has so argued about a joke. . . . But—as I wrote him—it couldn't possibly have been one of his inspirations—unless he meant to add that he was inspired to re-write a similar gag. . . . At any rate, Georgie claims owning the one about the old lady who wouldn't go into a movie cathedral until the manager first told her what his program offered. . . . So the manager affably told her that besides two features, his show also included a scenic, two comedy shorts, a newsreel and a stage presentation of 200 actors! . . . "What," she bellowed, "no Mickey Mouse?" . . . Now, that's an amusing story—and a film daily boxed it on its page one the other day without crediting it to Mr. Price or anybody. . . . Perhaps because that paper also knew it was a re-write on the one about the Scot. . . . The Scot wouldn't sit down at a restaurant table until the man in charge told him what sort of a breakfast he would get for 30 cents. . . . So the restaurant man explained: "You get orange juice or grapefruit, ham and eggs, toast and butter, coffee and a finger-bowl!" . . . "What!" shrieked the Scot, "no cereal?" . . . It would be a cinch filling a column revealing that gag's ancestors!

Of all things! . . . I just got through penning about Price and his complaint, and how easy it would be to trace the ancestors of his claim. . . . So the third mail delivery just arrived, bringing Gene Gaudette's contrib. . . . Gene writes from the Fort Pitt in Pittsburgh. . . . Gene says he is sending me "his best gag" and this is how it goes. . . . A Scotsman says to another Scot: "I know where you can meet the most beautiful blondes—get a wonderful full-course dinner and a pint of good liquor—all for one dollar!" . . . So the other pessimistically grumbles: "It can't be very good hooch!" . . . Prisco will claim that version—at least, I first heard him use it about three years or more ago. . . . Gene's other version, however, is better. . . . He suggests that it be used this way: "I know where you can meet beautiful women, get a wonderful meal and four bottles of beer for only a dollar!" . . . And his companion says: "Quarts or pints?" . . . Now, that's just as comical and not so easy to recognize. . . . Marguerite Mooers Marshall, the newspaper gal, hasn't missed having luncheon with her own husband once in 12 years. . . . Wonder if they read waiting for service? . . . Who was it said that we are wicked only to break the monotony of being good?

Wonder why Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.'s, name still is listed in the 1932 Social Register and his ex-wife Mary's isn't. . . . Oh, I forgot! . . . Mary got the divorce. . . . And Gloria Gould's name has been out of the same book for the last 2 years, and I wonder why? . . . There certainly was no scandal in her case. . . . Her ex-husband, Henry Bishop, still is listed. . . . She's married now to Walter McFarlane Barker, of 277 Park, but their names no longer are blue-booked. . . . I could go on writing about such things for hours. . . . Well, perhaps not for hours, but at least until I get to the last line. . . . The one story that is news, I think, is that one which concerns the former Mrs. William Lanman Bull, Jr. . . . She became a widow about 20 years ago. . . . She's out of the '32 list, too—but why? . . . She now is Mrs. Wilfred O'Neil and her late pappy-in-law was once the president of the Stock Exchange. . . . Her ex-mother-in-law was one of the Worthington tribe. . . . O'Neil is a lawyer—but a nice guy, in spite of it, according to his intimates. . . . He lived for years at the Allerton House. . . . By all rules, the Register should list them both—his wife had been socially listed for over 27 years! . . . Until she married Mr. O'Neil. . . . What kind of a system is that? . . . Or is that invading the privacy of people again? Realleh?

Well, someone finally presented a group of reporters on a stage that looked like and said the things and did the things that real reporters say and do off the footlighted platforms. . . . In the "Blessed Event" play, I mean. . . . A swiftly-placed third act it is—and if the sponsors "charge up" the preceding stanzas, the new comedy probably will land. . . . I like the line Peter Dixon penned about that airagrapher in the gazettes, viz.: "He must have a poor memory because more people claim to know him than he remembers knowing." Or perhaps it's a case of "the winds know the mountain, but the mountain knows not all the winds". . . . But the line that makes opening all the mail worth the trouble is Sid Parry's: "Jackie Cooper was missing from the set—but they found him asleep in one of Garbo's shoes!"

Laughs Fly Fast in Fulton

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Bert Lahr, who has been eluding the asylum keepers for a long time, finally has landed in Hollywood. And with a bang, let us tell you!

His first film, "Flying High," came into the Fulton yesterday. It is funny and riotous farce with music. And it strikes us that the theater management should spread pads on the floor. There are going to be a lot of people rolling into the aisles.

Lahr, for years, has been a big comedy feature on Broadway, where he starred in "Flying High" on the stage.

He appears in the picture as an inventor of the goofiest airplane you ever saw. However, it sails up to a new altitude record and, incidentally, sets up a new record for laughs.

Charlotte Greenwood, long-legged comedienne, is present as a love-struck gal, who is bound to get her man—even if he does happen to be the loony Mr. Lahr.

Pat O'Brien and Kathryn Crawford carry out a pleasant little romance in traditional musical comedy manner. And the music numbers, just enough of them to make a happy interlude, are presented in glamorous style.

Times and censor boards change.

There are things in this film that wouldn't have gotten by a year ago.

One of Three

Jean Harlow is one of three of a kind in "Three Wise Girls," coming today to the Davis screen. The film also opens tomorrow in the Enright.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Although Maude Adams is now playing Portia for the first time in the production of "The Merchant of Venice" that will come to the Nixon next Tuesday, to remain for five nights and two matinees, this sweetie of Bassanio is not her first Shakespearean part. She has played other ladies of the Bard's creation. Otis Skinner has played Shylock before, notably with Modjeska, and it was the first Shakespearean role he ever learned.

Small Timer says he'd like to shine in the world, but isn't hep to polished language, so he varnishes his hair instead.

* * *

"Experience Unnecessary" is what the box office boys of the Alvin will be saying next Monday to seat shoppers for the next production in the theater they serve. It will be along February 8 as the next play in the Professional Players subscription series. It is populated at the top by Verree Teasdale and Walter Woolf, who used to sing to some of our nicest operetta heroines, with Rex O'Malley next in line.

Small Timer says a lot of folks aren't out of their rattle days, the only difference being that they drive one now to make it shake.

* * *

On the morn of tomorrow in the Nixon Theater there will be another of the New York Children's Theater production, of which there have been several this season. The play will be "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," and it will be given for an audience of youngsters. Maybe one of yours would like to go. Shell out!

$225,000 WILL AIDS WORKERS

James Neale, of Pembroke place, disposed of an estate valued at $225,000 by his will probated in the Register's office. He left his stock in the Chartiers Creek Coal Company to a friend, James G. Geehan, named executor. Bequests to employes are: Henry O'Neill, $10,000; Bella McHugh, $1,000; Della Coyne, $500.

His wife, Ethel Grange Neale, was given an income of $20,000 annually for life or until she remarries; a brother, Frank A. Neale, $2,400 annually; Mrs. Sarah T. Graned, of Bayard street, $1,200 annually, and Gertrude and Kate Graham, friends of Mrs. Neale, $25 monthly each, out of a trust estate. Nephews and nieces are given the residuary estate.

Mrs. Eleanor G. Moren, of Meridan street, left her $50,000 estate to four children, James W., Eleanor J. and Mildred P. Moren, and Mrs. Blanche Carley, after leaving a house at 1326 Juniata street, to a sister, Kathryn P. Walker, and named the unmarried daughters to administer the estate.

CITY ENTERED IN SAFETY TEST

A plea that Pittsburgh be made the safest city in the United States for pedestrians and motorists was made to the Kiwanis Club at its weekly luncheon yesterday by Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffice engineer.

McIntyre outlined the precautions that must be taken in traffic law observance if the city is to win the 1932 safety award of the National Safety Council, a contest in which it has been entered by Mayor Charles H. Kline.

The main objectives of traffic engineering work, he said, are the three "E's"—Education, Engineering and Education.

County Vets Change Place for Meeting

County officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars today announced that the membership meeting to be held by the county council Sunday afternoon would be held in the Harris Theater instead of the Nixon as originally announced. Chairman James J. Pirt of the membership committee said that one of the features of the meeting would be the showing of Gen. John J. Pershing's farewell on his leaving France.

UTILITY RATES FAIL TO DROP WITH WAGES, COSTS

HIGH DIVIDENDS OF ELECTRIC FIRMS CITED

Boom Era Write-Ups Stand Despite New Low Prices; P. S. C. Ignores Protests

Employment in Pittsburgh has fallen off materially.

The total wage earnings of the Pittsburgh district, due to layoffs and pay reductions, have shrunk more than $80,000,000 in the past year.

The cost of living in Pittsburgh in 1930 fell 10.7 per cent.

These figures are based on official reports of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry and the U. S. Department of Labor.

But, meanwhile, the rates of public utility corporations in the Pittsburgh district have not been reduced proportionately, and at a time when most big business enterprises are showing reduced earnings, if any, the electric light and power utilities are showing dividends above even the 7 per cent theoretically permitted them by the Public Service Commission, but always exceeded through adroit financing of the utilities and the lethargy in the public interest of the Public Service Commission.

HIGH COST CITED

In the Pittsburgh district the bulk of the electric light and power is furnished by the Duquesne Light Company and the West Penn Power Company. The Duquesne Light Company has a concentrated field of service which should make its rates unusually reasonable.

Yet, according to figures prepared by Public Service Commissioner George W. Woodruff in a vain effort to force the filing of reduced tariffs, electric light costs more to the Duquesne consumers than to those of the West Penn Power Company, even though the latter company in 1930 showed profits of 10.46 per cent, the latest year for which official figures of the Public Service Commission are available.

ATTRACTIVE EARNINGS

In the testimony of Frank R. Phillips, president of the Duquesne Light Company, before a legislative committee last winter, it was brought out through the words of other witnesses that the Duquesne Light Company in 1928 earned 10.13 per cent, in 1929 9.66 per cent, and in 1930 10.08 per cent. Included in the capitalization on which these attractive—to investors or operators—earnings were made was a "write-up" of approximately $14,500,000.

This "write-up" was added to the capitalization of the company prior to 1928. "Write-ups" usually are added to capital on the basis of what additional cost would be entailed in reproduction of a company's property constructed during a low-price era, as compared to a high-price era in which the "write-ups" occur. There is nowhere in the Public Service Commission reports evidence of "write-downs," such as would be justified now, with the prices of all materials and labor greatly reduced.

"WRITE-UPS" ACCEPTED

The Public Service Commission usually accepts "write-ups" without question, a fact well known to utilities, and a fact of which they take advantage.

President Phillips, at the same hearing in which the above testimony was introduced, said he had not heard the public was dissatisfied with electric light rates.

By questions before the committee the allegation was developed that the Duquesne Light Company, in four years prior to 1931, had cleaned up $15,880,000 from the consumers above a 7 per cent return on capital investment, including the arbitrary "write-up."

Despite these disclosures, and in view of the fact that employment, wages and cost of living have all decreased in 1931, the Duquesne Light Company has shown no disposition to make a corresponding reduction in rates even to the 7 per cent level, and a majority of the Public Service Commission has refused to assist Commissioner Woodruff in forcing such reductions.

Actress Here Cites Japan's Hostile Stand

MISS BEATRICE MORELAND

Japan has had war on her mind for a long time, according to Beatrice Moreland, veteran actress appearing in "Mourning Becomes Electra," at the Nixon. She visited China and Japan two years ago on a world tour with Miss Edith Bane, Pittsburgh musician and lecturer. Miss Moreland said:

"We were guarded on Chinese trains by men with machine guns. The Chinese people were gentle, refined, hospitable, meek and peace-loving. The Japanese were curt, aggressive and militaristic. They would say repeatedly, 'Next year you see me in China.' I think Chinese banditry was merely an excuse for Japanese expansion. Japan is overcrowded."

Miss Moreland, who was the "Sara Higgins" of radio station WOR's "Main Street Sketches" for three years, received thousands of letters from radio fans during her trip around the world. Because more than 2,200 letters awaited her in Cairo, the postal authorities became suspicious, she said.

She has been a member of the Actor's Equity Association since April 18, 1914, 11 months less than the total life span of the association. She has worked for David Belasco, Arthur Hopkins, Daniel and Charles Frohman, George C. Tyler, the Theater Guild, Winthrop Ames, George M. Cohan and others.

In "Mourning Becomes Electra" she plays "Louisa" in "The Homecoming" and "Mrs. Borden" in "The Hunted." She likes Pittsburgh, she said:

"I like it here very much, but I always get lost on its streets. I always remember the sunshine when I think of Pittsburgh. I don't think it's a smoky city at all."

UTILITIES FACE 30 PCT. CUT, SAYS BANKER

Present Reproduction Costs Basis; Pittsburgher Raps Hoover's Home Loan Plan

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Jay Morrison, of Seattle, president of the savings division of the American Bankers' Association, said today public utility rates throughout the country face a probable 30 per cent reduction on the basis of revaluation at present reproduction costs. He spoke at the annual meeting of the savings division.

He said reproduction cost, as against actual cost, as a basis for rate making, was advocated in the 90's, during a period of falling prices, by radical elements, and when prices began to go up the theory was adopted by the utility men.

With prices again falling, he said, the utility company lawyers probably would go back to their original contention that actual cost should be the basis for rate making, but he expressed doubt they would be successful in view of court decisions in the past 30 years.

Fred I. Kent, a director of the Bankers Trust Company, in an address on "Gold, Savings and Trade," said there was not the slightest evidence for thinking a scarcity in the world's supply of gold played any part in the present economic situation. Even at the peak of 1929, the gold supply was more than adequate for the needs of industry and trade, he said.

In a discussion of President Hoover's proposal for home loan discount banks, A. C. Robinson, president of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company of Pittsburgh, raised the question of whether there are not already enough homes and whether the construction of new ones would not result in depreciation in the value of existing homes. Criticism of the President's proposal, he said, has come mainly from banks and approval from building and loan associations.

FAIR RATE BODY PICKS LEADERS

Preparing to launch its attack on excessive public utility rates by attacking at the polls legislators who oppose relief measures, the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association today named the first of its congressional district committees.

Eight committees were announced by the association's president, A. B. Davidson, of Tarentum. Similar groups will be named throughout the state in every legislative district to direct the fight for lower rates.

Student's Suicide Blamed on Overwork

Deputy coroners reported today that William Book, 19, of 2005 Noble street, Swissvale, who ended his life in his home, had been a victim of mental disorder brought on by overstudy. The youth was known as one of the most brilliant mathematics students in Swissvale High School.

SCHOOLEY TAX AUDIT READY

A complete report of the audit of the Delinquent Tax Department of deposed City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley's office is to be submitted to Controller James P. Kerr upon his return to his office after an absence of several days because of a cold. Dr. Kerr is expected back within the next day or so.

Price, Waterhouse & Co., who made the audit, have compiled two volumes dealing with this particular branch of the City Treasurer's office. A third volume will deal with the affairs of the City Treasurer's office and a fourth will contain the audit of school funds. It will be a week or 10 days, it was learned, before the third and fourth volumes will be ready.

Schooley and his chief investigator, Arthur G. Burgoyne, are under indictment on charges growing out of alleged irregularities.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

PARIS, Jan. 29.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Some queer things going on in the world if you just happened to have been there and seen 'em. Japanese warships bombard China because China insists on boycotting Japanese goods. England puts 500 more of Gandhi's bunch in jail because they boycott and picket against English goods. Here you have China and India, who constitute five-eighths of the world's population practically at war because they can't do what they want to. Yet signboards all over England say: Buy British. It's a great world even if you are just looking at it for comedy purposes.

Yours, WILL.

GROUPS PICKET HIGH SCHOOL IN PITCAIRN

Walkout Leaders Embittered As Ranks Thin; Fail to Get Parley With Officials

About two-thirds of the 200 striking pupils of Pitcairn High School returned to their classes today while the others, more than 40 boys and 13 girls, stood in the street near the school and jeered:

"Yellow! Yellow!"

The pupils went on strike Wednesday in protest of the resignation of Clifford M. Weight, mathematics instructor.

COMMITTEE FORMED

School officials contend that Weight is quitting because of ill health and not because of difficulties with school heads. Weight corroborated this claim in an assembly hall speech yesterday.

The strikers met yesterday afternoon in the school athletic field and appointed a strike committee composed of Annette Kennedy, Alice Fullerton, one of the school's basketball stars and the first girl to join the strike; Louise Henry, Edwina Wilson, John Cutshall and James Johns. The committee was unable to confer with school authorities.

C. C. Pearsall, supervisor of Pitcairn schools, said this morning all of the pupils under 16 years of age who had not returned to classes by Monday would place their parents liable to prosecution, a state law making attendance of children under 16 compulsory.

PARADERS DEFY POLICE

Defying police orders against a parade, the striking pupils yesterday afternoon marched noisily past the Pitcairn Police Station, where two seniors, Jack Amend and Paul St. Clair, 17, branded as the leaders of the strike, were under arrest on a charge of malicious mischief, which followed alleged school infractions. Amend and St. Clair, released on bail, will be arraigned Monday before Justice of the Peace W. G. Hoehl, of Pitcairn.

Two Burned While Cleaning New Home

Michael McDonough, 60, and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Mullen, 32, were preparing to move into their new home at 318 Carlisle way, today after having been slightly burned in a gas explosion in the place last night while they were cleaning.

Police said the explosion occurred when leaking gas was ignited by a candle they had been using.

Western Front Is in Far East But Isn't Quiet

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Japanese grabbed Shanghai and another diploma from the League of Nations.

Ripley's marching Chinese have taken their first detour.

In case anybody wants to start a boat race there are twenty-three Japanese gunboats in the harbor.

If this ain't a war it will do until one comes along. The only mystery is how it started. But we wouldn't be surprised if Kaiser Wilhelm wrote one of those "Cousin Willy" notes to Emperor Foo Poo Chang.

There is nothing for us to worry about. The western front is just where we want it. In the East.

But the finish of the war is something else again. The Chinese may follow a quaint old Armistice Day custom and throw all our laundry out of the windows of those big office buildings on fifth avenue.

State Holds Up Aid for Schools Reducing Salaries of Teachers

Dr. Rule Holds Law Covering Pay Must Be Observed

School boards must actually pay their teachers at least the minimum salaries set by the Edmonds act or risk losing state appropriations, the state school authorities indicated today when informed that without technically cutting salary rates in contracts, some boards were planning to pay teachers less than the minimum.

James N. Rule, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, frowned upon the "voluntary" moves of teachers to save two Allegheny County school districts approximately $35,000. Rule indicated the state appropriation to North Versailles and Homestead school districts would be held up until he had time to study the recent action of their school boards and teachers in arranging salary rebates.

OPPOSES PAY CUTS

Rule said:

"The Edmonds act requires districts of the third class to pay certain minimum salaries to teachers. It also requires the Superintendent of Public Instruction to withhold state appropriations if the districts do not comply with the law.

"I believe teachers' salaries should be maintained. It is not good economics to reduce their purchasing power."

C. E. Dickey, County Superintendent of Schools, said his opinion coincided with Rule's.

Following a request last Friday by the School Board of North Versailles Township, 15 teachers, who would be in line for $100 salary increases next September, under provision of the Edmonds act, voted to return $35 of their monthly salary to the School Board, beginning next September.

This action was announced yesterday by T. J. Harris, secretary of the board. This would bring their actual salaries below the minimum required for state aid, according to Dickey.

CONTRACTS NOT AFFECTED

The Homestead Teachers' Association Wednesday night notified the School Board of their decision to accept a voluntary month's pay cut. The board accepted the gift, which would result in a saving of $30,000 of the school finances, and commended the teachers.

In both instances, the teachers' contracts, have remained untouched and continuous, it was learned, the financial saving being effected by voluntary gifts from them to the School Board.

State Superintendent Rule would not pass upon the legality of the rebates but explained he desired an official statement from the school boards and to see the teachers' contracts.

Body Identified as That of Ex-Convict

A body unclaimed and unidentified in the morgue since Tuesday was said last night to be that of Thomas E. Jordan, of Moon Township, who disappeared following his release from the Western Penitentiary on parole two weeks ago. The body was found hanging from a tree on the Craig farm, Moon Township, Tuesday.

John S. Jordan identified the body as that of his brother, who he said had been despondent because he could not find employment.

Weil Scores Scant Civics Study Time in Schools

Civics is sidetracked for music, art, nature study and other subjects, according to A. Leo Weil, a vice president and president of the Committee for Education in Citizenship of the National Municipal League, who investigated the hours given to various subjects in the public schools.

He said:

"An examination of the number of hours given to civics in our public schools, as compared with those given to other subjects in a 12-year course, shows that civics got 1½ per cent.

"Comparing the time devoted to civics with other subjects, there are four or five times as many hours given to music, three or four times as many to art and twice or three times as many to nature study.

"Apparently it was thought that it was more important to learn to sing, paint the town and know the bugs, big and little, than it was to be a good citizen. Civics is given fewer hours than any other subject."

'Billy' Sunday and Wife Due to Visit Auto Show

Billy Sunday, noted evangelist, "Ma" Sunday and their choir leader, Harry D. Clarke, were to visit the Pittsburgh Auto Show at Motor Square Garden this afternoon as guests of the show management.

Predictions that the Pittsburgh show would be the greatest in the history of the local exhibit appeared realized today with the announcement that attendance already is more than 10 per cent ahead of last year.

W. N. Owings, secretary of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, said the attendance figures would have been considerably higher but for two rainy days at the opening of the show. Thousands are expected to visit the exhibit of 1932 models on the remaining two days of the show.

Free automobiles, radios, refrigerators and other gifts, being given to some visitors at the show each day, have increased the enthusiasm of the crowds, Owings said.

Telegrams received from other shows throughout the country have convinced automobile dealers represented here that buying interest is higher this year than at any time since 1929, as shown by the attendance records at the shows.

Walker Moore and his orchestra will be heard in two programs both today and tomorrow, with Catherine Redfield, noted operatic star, singing.

COUNTY HEADS READY TO PARE BUDGET

Millage Rate Necessitates Pruning; Emergency Aid To Bring Fund Transfer

Although they have set the millage for 1932 at 8⅝ mills, County Commissioners are still wrestling with the problem of how to make this year's income take care of anticipated expenditures.

A revision of the budget figures was made necessary when the millage was set, Commissioner Charles McGovern said yesterday and the result will probably be made known today when M. C. Conick, the Commissioners' auditor, and Controller Robert G. Woodside's aides finish changing the figures.

The $500,000 made available for the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Association was one of the hardest problems and brought to light that but for the fact that the 1928 bond issue provides among other things that the money voted for new roads can be used to repair them, the Commissioners would have had to increase the millage to make good on their pledge of help to the Relief Association.

CAN SWITCH FUNDS

The word "repair" in the bond question will permit the transfer of $500,000 from the road bond fund to the road tax fund according to Commissioners Charles C. McGovern and C. M. Barr, and this money can then be used for employment of labor under the direction of the Commissioners on permanent road repairs.

Heretofore all road construction done with bond money has been let to contractors under the competitive bidding act. McGovern, commenting on the revision of the budget, said:

"We have had to do some close figuring to make the budget fit the millage. The Controller gave us a setup that would have meant an increase to nine mills. We have been able to cut enough out of the budget to eliminate the necessity for putting an added burden on the taxpayers at this time."

He admitted that if the provision could not have been made from the road bond fund, the only source of revenue would have been increased millage.

COAKLEY URGES UNIFIED RELIEF

Co-ordination of all relief work with a central body in control was urged as necessary to prevent duplication by the Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, and other speakers last night at a meeting of the Liberty School Relief Association in the school auditorium.

Increased demands upon welfare agencies was indicated by a report of the East End branch of the Family Welfare Association, showing that the number of families cared for had increased from 250 in September, 1929, to 2,100 in December, 1931. J. J. Cole, principal of the Liberty school, presided.

Grasps for Rivet Finds Summons High in Air

YPSILANTI, Mich., Jan. 29.—(AP)—John Quirk, steelworker, who boasts a high fielding average in snaring rivets hot from the portable furnace, was bemoaning his dexterity today.

He reached out nonchalantly from his perch high in the air yesterday and caught the object that was hurtling toward him. Too late he discovered it was notice of a legal action against himself.

Deputy Richard Klavitter who disguised the summons as a rivet to avoid waiting until Quirk descended at quitting time said it constituted legal service.

SABLE TO QUIZ AUTO DRIVERS

All auto drivers suspected of being under the influence of liquor will be examined by Dr. Daniel E. Sable, chief city surgeon, at his office in the City-County Building up to 5:30 p. m., and thereafter by him in the Squirrel Hill Police Station, under a temporary order by Public Safety Director James M. Clark today.

Council in budget session eliminated the office of assistant city surgeon held by Dr. Howard Evans who had made these examinations for the last year. Prior to that district city physicians had been called in by police. Return to this system may result, it was indicated.

SLOT MACHINE RAIDS PUSHED

County detectives, on order of District Attorney Andrew T. Park, today began a cleanup of slot machines in barbecues of Bethel and St. Clair townships. Numerous complaints had been received, it was said.

The detectives raided the Blue Moon Barbecue, near South Park, confiscating two machines; the Six Little Bees, on the Library road, nearby, two machines, and the St. Clair Barbecue, Washington road, three machines, they reported.

Luke Armentrout, alleged proprietor of the Blue Moon, and Regis Book of the Six Little Bees, were notified to appear for questioning as to the source of the machines. George McGill, the third, was reported out of town.

SOUNDS FALSE ALARM, FINED

Instead of going to bed when he got home from work shortly after last midnight, Patrolman Conrad Dietz, of 364 Goettman street, North Side, sat reading a book near a window in his home. At 2 o'clock he saw a man sound a fire alarm. Running into the street, he chased a man down Goettman street and arrested him.

In North Side Police Court this morning the man said he was William Haas, 21, of 1300 Truax street. He testified that he had been drinking last night and while with several friends they discussed many large North Side fires. Haas told police that he probably had the argument on his mind when he turned in the alarm. He was fined $100.

Hibernian Aid To Hold Banquet

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Allegheny County Ancient Order of Hibernians will hold its annual St. Brigid's Day banquet and card party tomorrow afternoon in the Fort Pitt Hotel. The speakers will be the Rev. James R. Cox, Mrs. Mary Fagan, Mrs. Mary T. Horan and James M. Kelly. Mrs. Leonard Shea, of Braddock, will preside.

OBITUARY

McAfoose Funeral

LATROBE, Pa., Jan. 29.—Funeral services for Dr. Harvey E. McAfoose, 68, Latrobe physician for 40 years, will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Latrobe Methodist Episcopal Church. Dr. McAfoose was a Spanish-American War veteran. He leaves a sister.

Zabel Funeral

Funeral services for Albert C. Zabel, 70, for many years a North Side grocer, will be held tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Zabel, who resided at 6 Hanway street, Ross Township, died Wednesday in Allegheny General Hospital.

BURGLARS LOOT 2 HOMES HERE

Thieves kicked in the front door of the residence of Dr. C. S. Brandom, 543 East End avenue, last night while the doctor and his wife were at a hockey game and escaped after ransacking the house, according to a police report today. Carpets were pulled up and beds disarranged, it was said, by the robbers. The total value of the loot had not been determined.

Eugene Rosencweig, of 3765 Beechwood boulevard, complained to Hazelwood police that thieves who broke into his home escaped with jewelry and clothing, the value of which had not been determined.

8th Ward Completes Plans for Relief

Nearly 200 members of the Eight Ward Relief Association met in the Friendship School last night and completed plans for immediate relief of the district's needy. Speakers included the Rev. A. G. Curry, of the Goodwill Industries; J. R. Jones, of the East End Savings and Trust Company; Mrs. Mary B. Cunningham, Attorney Harry I. Miller, Attorney J. L. O'Toole and Edward A. Gearing.

Loot Wedges Robber in Window

A case similar to the adage concerning the youth who placed his hand in a candy jar and then was unable to remove it because of the large quantity of the sweets he held, was brought before Magistrate Ray E. Schneider in North Side Police Court. Police testified they had captured a burglar who was wedged in a narrow window frame because he tried to carry off two large electric drills hidden in his shirt.

Henry Boyle, 29, Negro, the suspect, was fined $100.

Islam Grotto Names Franz as Monarch

J. Clifford Franz was elected monarch of Islam Grotto last night in North Side Carnegie Hall. Other officers chosen are Ralph H. Axthelm, chief justice; Fred C. Hopton, master of ceremonies; Otto Zange, veiled prophet; George Schmidt, treasurer; Louis H. McMahan, secretary; and Walter Weberg, Sydney Youden, Elmer H. Maier, John A. Herman, George Reatchlous, William McJunkin, Joseph Tyler, Jr., Albert P. Stuertz and Jacob C. Volkwein, directors. Past Monarch R. H. M. Jantzen was re-elected a trustee.

CHIC SALE HERE, PLAYS 'HOOKEY'

Playing "hookey" from Hollywood, Chic Sale arrived here today to find the film producers' truant officers had caught up to him with a wire that ordered the specialist of small town characters back to the movie lots by February 8.

Sale reminisced about the days of two-a-day vaudeville in Pittsburgh as he sat in his Stanley Theater dressing room waiting for the first performance. He revealed that the character roles are serious with him. But playing in makeup has its advantages, he said, citing:

"I guess there is more privacy in my life than most actors gain. No one recognizes me without whiskers. The premier of my latest picture was given in Los Angeles last week. Audiences crowd the theater on such occasions to waylay the star for an autograph. I stepped right through those seeking me without being recognized."

Sale travels a la Will Rogers, having adopted the airplane.

AIRPORT LEASE PROTESTED BY CLUB

Bettis Field Founder Says Action Would Constitute 'Sell-Out' of Taxpayers

Opposition to the leasing of the county airport to private interests developed among members of the Aero Club of Pittsburgh at its weekly meeting yesterday, with the result that another meeting has been called for next Thursday to consider concerted action.

Elmer F. Harris, president, issued the call, it was announced.

CHARGE SELL OUT

Chief among those voicing their opposition to the County Commissioners' policy was D. Ball Peat, one of the founders of Bettis airport, who declared the taxpayers were being "sold out." He said his interest in the Commissioners' proposal was prompted by a desire to promote aviation progress. He continued:

"I've always fought for the advancement of aeronautics and everyone interested in progress of the industry will agree that the one sure way of retarding the growth and expansion would be to create a monopoly for the public utilities to kick around and abuse.

"Why wouldn't it be just as well for the commissioners to lease the Liberty tubes or our magnificent roads and bridges to private interests?

"The commissioners must look ahead."

EX-MANAGER PROTESTS

Carl Forcier, retiring manager of the airport, was present at the discussion. He also expressed himself as being definitely opposed to private leasing and urged that the aviation industry as represented in the Aero Club rise up and demand concerted action on the part of the entire membership which embraces the aviation business throughout the state.

Official club action was impossible yesterday, the discussion having failed to arise until after the club had been declared adjourned. Under its by-laws the vote of the membership must be ratified by its board of governors.

Dance Arranged By Mortar Board

An inter-semester informal dance is to be held by the Mortar Board, the honorary women's organization at Pitt, at the University Club tonight to celebrate the end of the "grind week," which started with the first semester final examinations Monday. The dance is for members of the organization.

Cuban Policemen Die in Bomb Search

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 29.—Two policemen were killed today in a bomb explosion as they entered a house in the suburb of Jesus del Monte to search for contraband explosives.

One of those killed was an officer who earlier had arrested Gen. Pedro Betancourt, veteran of the War for Independence.

Pilot, 2 Passengers Die in Plane Crash

MONTICELLO, Fla., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—A barnstorming pilot and his two passengers were killed here late yesterday when a plane went into a spin and lost a wing. Those killed were Fred Weisher, pilot; Harvey Watson, 24, Monticello, and William Sargeant, 32, Monticello, formerly of Ohio.

9th Ward to Give Benefit for Needy

Needy of the Ninth Ward will benefit by an entertainment Sunday afternoon and evening in the Lyceum of St. Mary's Church, Forty-sixth street. Eighteen young men and women, members of the church dramatic society, and professional vaudeville talent will participate.

Tiny Radio Links All Classes of War Forces

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Co-ordination of all arms, the goal of military leaders, has been made possible after 14 years of experimentation by the perfection of a 40-pound radio which is capable of receiving and broadcasting the human voice. It has given ears and tongue to the speedy little Army pursuit planes.

The set recently was tested by the 95th Pursuit Squadron at March Field, California. It was facetiously dubbed "the two-fly power radio" by enthusiastic aviators.

Operating on a short wave length which pierces the roar of motors, it requires only one-twentieth the amount of power used by a curling iron.

HOUSE UPSETS BUDGET PLANS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—Balancing of the federal budget may be postponed as a result of the decision of both Republican and Democratic fiscal leaders of the House to scrap the Treasury's plan for retroactive tax increases.

In deciding to relieve income taxpayers of additional burdens on their 1931 incomes, refusing to raise rates and postponing the effective date of special taxes, the House Ways and Means Committee has eliminated about $390,000,000 from the tax increase program.

The Treasury's tax program, as given to Congress, calls for balancing of the budget in 1934.

Bitten by Fly, During War, Asks $8,265

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 29.—(INS.)—The United States government faced a unique suit yesterday when William M. Petry, of Boone County, asked $8,265 for permanent disability resulting from a fly bite during the World War.

Petry charged that he contracted five diseases, encephalitis lethargica, rheumatiod arthritis, carcinoma, tonsilitis and dermatitis, from the bite, on May 9, 1919.

Petry enlisted at Charleston on September 6, 1918, and was discharged from Camp Sherman, O., in July, 1919.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Among the informal entertainments of the post-season are bridge parties. One will be given tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. Harry S. Hower in her home on Solway street for members of the faculty of Thurston Preparatory School, Shady avenue, one of the oldest girls' schools in Pittsburgh.

* * *

Some members of the younger school set are going to have their own celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Lewis Carroll, whose "Alice in Wonderland" has enthralled generations of children.

School to Give Play

The junior school students at Thurston Preparatory, Shady avenue, will give a dramatization of this childhood classic a week from this morning.

The young actors are designing their own costumes with illustrated copies of the beloved story in the school library as their inspiration. The scene will be laid in the rose garden with the eighth grade girls designing the set.

Agnes Ann Glenn will be Alice, Ellie Farles will be the King of Hearts, Marjorie Toy the Queen of Hearts, Carol Bostwick the Red Queen, Mary Jane Oliver, Tweedle-Dee, Ann Price Tweedle-Dum, Jane Zacharias the Hatter, Helen Price the Five of Spades, Anne McClements the Seven of Spades, Margaret Martin and Jane Garrett the Queen's attendants, Helen Shafer, the Rabbit, and Audrey A. Wesing, Humpty Dumpty.

* * *

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Heinroth will give a reception in the foyer of Carnegie Music Hall this evening following the Art Society concert to be given by Sigrid Onegin. Dr. Heinroth, who is leaving Sunday night to live in New York, has been president of the Art Society for a number of years.

To Give Reception

* * *

Loren A. Hathaway, of the Arlington Apartments, will leave tonight for New York, from where he'll sail tomorrow on the S. S. Reliance for a southern cruise. He will visit Porto Rico, Venezuela, Dutch West Indies, Panama, Jamaica and Cuba.

Ellengayle T. Sumpter Marries T. G. Mackenson

Mrs. Wiggs of Cabbage Patch to Be Fourth Play in Saturday Series At Nixon Theater

The fourth in the series of children's matinees at the Nixon Theater tomorrow morning means another gala time for Pittsburgh's little folk. This week's attraction is to be "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," the ever popular story of simple Kentucky folk. Among the boxholders are Mrs. Henry Clay McEldowney, Mrs. George E. Rose, Mrs. A. W. Powell, Mrs. A. S. F. Keister, Mrs. William McKinney and Mrs. Roy A. Hunt.

Among the new names appearing on the list of sponsors for "Mrs. Wiggs" are Miss Helen St. Peter, Miss Katherine MacCloskey, Mrs. S. A. Hartwell, Mrs. A. V. Ritts, Mrs. J. M. Selden, Mrs. T. Howe Nimick, Mrs. Dallmeyer Russell, Miss Lucetta Burns, Mrs. W. W. Richardson and Mrs. A. W. Robertson.

Y.W.C.A. Meeting

Supper, a program, reports and election are all slated for the annual all-day meeting of the Wilkinsburg Young Women's Christian Association on Tuesday in the "Y" Community House. The program will include a tribute to Washington presented by girls in costume under the direction of Miss Charlotte McMurray, teacher of dramatics in the Wilkinsburg High School.

* * *

Yesterday's edition of "Congeries," the Rosslyn Farms Woman's Club magazine was devoted largely to science and scientists. Mrs. W. M. Henry discussed "Women in Science," Mrs. Robert F. Riddle had a current events talk and Mrs. T. L. Liversidge presented a paper on the home life of Charles P. Steinmetz, touching only lightly on his scientific accomplishments. Mrs. L. J. Fox and her "company," Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Mrs. F. H. Alter and Mrs. D. A. Keisling, gave a local "Clara, Lou and Em" broadcast with appropriate setting, and George Flint, son of the hostess, Mrs. G. M. Flint, of Puritan road, explained and demonstrated the vibraphone. Tea was served with Mrs. L. J. Fox and Mrs. Elizabeth Nutt pouring.

Everywhere women spread the good word OXYDOL

● Have you tried the new Oxydol? It's simply wonderful!
● It washes clothes whiter—so much quicker and easier too!
● It gets dishes sparkling clean in an instant
● You've never seen such thick rich suds

50% more suds—that means quicker and whiter washings! If you think extra suds don't save work and time in washing, you have a surprise in store. Just try the sensational soap discovery, the New Oxydol. The instant you sprinkle Oxydol in either washtub or dishpan you can SEE its superiority over weak, old-type soaps with their watery suds. These richer, sudsier suds SOAK out the dirt with no tiresome rubbing—and do it with incredible speed. It's simply foolish and old-fashioned to rub your life away over a washtub since the New Oxydol has come to town.

And it's great for dishes, too—and kind to hands and delicate fabrics. Ask your grocer today for the orange and blue suds-bargain package. Then you can face washday with a smile.

PRUDENCE PENNY :-: Tells You What to Cook and How

SANDWICH LOAF. One loaf butter, then spread evenly with sandwich spread. ½ cup butter, mixture made by combining creamed 4 hard-cooked eggs, 4 mashed cgg yolks, chopped egg teaspoon chives finely chopped, stuffed olives and ¼ cup mayonnaise 1¾ cup mayonnaise, 1 cup salmon, drain. Cover with second slice of bread, buttered on both sides. sardines, mashed, ½ cup sweet bread, buttered on both sides. pickles finely chopped, 1 tablespoon spread with mixture made by spoon, pickle juice, dash of salt, 2 combination sardines, sweet pickles, cucumber finely chopped, sliced pickle juice, ¼ cup mayonnaise and drained, 6 stuffed olives finely and salt. Cover with third slice ly chopped. of bread, buttered on both sides.

Remove crusts from bread and Spread with mixture made by cut loaf lengthwise in four strips combining cucumbers, stuffed slices. Spread bottom slice with olives and ¼ cup mayonnaise. Cover with fourth slice of bread, buttered only on under side. Spread remaining mayonnaise over top and sides of loaf. Decorate with thin slices of sweet pickle and hard-cooked egg. Garnish with crisp lettuce and water cress. Serves 8.

FROSTY FRUIT MOLD. 1 No. 1 can grapefruit, 1 No. 2 can mixed fruit, 1 cup diced celery, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 cup chopped almonds, 1½ cups heavy cream, ½ package pasteurized dates.

Drain canned fruits thoroughly, cut in small pieces, combine the fruits, celery and almonds. Whip cream and add it to mayonnaise. Add cream and mayonnaise to fruits. Pack in trays of mechanical refrigerator or in a tightly sealed mold in a mixture of ice and salt until frozen, about 4 hours. Unmold. Serve on lettuce and garnish with a small amount of cream mayonnaise. Yield, 1½ quarts (12-14 servings).

COCOA NUT BREAD. 3 cups flour, 3 tablespoons cocoa, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup chopped nuts, ½ cup chopped seeded raisins, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 4 tablespoons white syrup or honey, 1 cup milk.

Sift together cocoa, flour, salt and baking powder. Add the rest of the ingredients, and turn into a greased bread pan. Brush the top of the dough with milk. Let stand 10 minutes, then bake in a moderate oven for 40 or 50 minutes. When finished, brush the surface with melted butter.

CRANBERRY JELLY ROLL—3 eggs, ¾ cup sugar, 5 tablespoons milk, 1 tablespoon vanilla, 1¼ cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt.

Beat the egg until light. Add sugar and stir well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add to egg mixture, alternating with milk. Add flavor. Grease and line a hollow pan with wax paper and pour in batter only to ¼ inch thickness. If too thick it will not roll. Bake in a quick oven about 12 minutes. Turn out onto a moist cloth. Tear off paper and cut off side crusts. Spread with cranberry jelly. Roll quickly and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Keep wrapped in cloth to keep shape.

CHARTREUSE OF CABBAGE—One head of cabbage, firm; 2 cups cubed cooked veal, ½ cup minced cooked ham, ½ green pepper chopped, 1 tablespoon onion juice.

Properly Cooked, Cabbage Is Wholesome, Digestible

Noted Physician Says This Vegetable Is an Excellent Part of the Winter Diet.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator From New York,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City.

In the world of dietetics, the cabbage family has never been very popular. Perhaps long association with the often indigestible corn beef has hurt its reputation. It has caused the public to look upon cabbage as a food fit only for the sturdy man of toil.

To look upon the unappetizing cabbage dishes served sometimes even in good restaurants makes it far from attractive to the dainty eater. Yet if it is cooked properly, cabbage is both wholesome and digestible.

To cook cabbage it is necessary to have plenty of hot water. The water must be kept continually at boiling heat. The kettle should be uncovered, so that the gases may escape in steam.

A popular recipe is to cut the cabbage into four parts, then soak for 30 minutes in cold water containing a teaspoonful of table salt. Young cabbage should cook in 25 minutes, and old cabbage in 45 minutes.

When done, the vegetable should be both crisp and tender, the green portion still green and the white portion white, not yellow or brownish. Overcooked cabbage is unpleasant to look at, strong in flavor and difficult to digest. The large amount of sulphur in cabbage will cause the poorly-cooked vegetable to give its eater gas and indigestion.

Raw cabbage, although rich in vitamins, is not easy to digest, although mastication helps a lot. Sufferers from constipation, where the trouble is due to lack of roughage in the diet, will discover that cabbage uncooked will give the needed stimulation to the bowel. The fat lady, if there is one, whose hunger is hard to appease, will find cold slaw filling but not fattening.

For a time sauerkraut juice was popular, especially in the West. But the fad has passed as many persons found its consumption to be followed by gastric discomfort.

The cabbage family has several members less well known than the common white variety. The red cabbage is famous in certain circles as a "sweet sour" dish, or it is mixed with chicken broth to give a touch of color at a luncheon.

Savoy cabbage, curly and wrinkled, when placed in boiling water opens out like a huge rose. Not only is it attractive to the eye, but it is nutritious. Stuffed with rice it makes a substantial dish.

Cauliflower and broccoli, unlike ordinary cabbage, have their nutritive qualities concentrated in small compact bunches. Broccoli, commonly called "Italian cabbage," is delicious when served with a simple sauce, as well as with the elaborate sauce Hollandaise.

During the winter when green vegetables, so essential to every person, are expensive, and in some sections of the country, difficult to obtain, it is sensible to turn to cabbage. Its large supply of vitamins and its moderate price, make it a desirable food feature, both for rich and for poor.

In making out the menus for the family, remember to find a place for the humble cabbage. It is well worth while.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

2 teaspoons salt; 1 teaspoon pepper, paprika.

Push back outer large leaves, but do not separate them from the head. Cut out center of the head of cabbage, reserving cabbage for salad. Stuff head with above meat mixture, and place thinly sliced potatoes on top. Releave leaves so the opening is covered and the cabbage in a square of cloth to preserve the shape. Steam the cabbage 20 minutes. Serve immediately, slicing it through the center first and serving each slice showing potatoes and meat surrounded by cabbage.

CREAM OF CAULIFLOWER SOUP—Three cups cauliflower; 1 small onion, sliced; 2 tablespoons butter; ¾ teaspoon salt; dash pepper; 1 quart milk; grated cheese (may be omitted).

Cook the cauliflower in an uncovered kettle in enough boiling salted water to cover. Only about 10 minutes of cooking is required. Drain cauliflower and chop fine. Cook onion in butter until soft and yellow. Add milk, seasoning and cauliflower. Serve piping hot with strips of toast. Grated cheese may be sprinkled over the top of the soup if desired. Yield: Five servings.

* * *

CREAM OF SPINACH SOUP—Two small onions sliced, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cups meat stock (veal, beef or chicken), 2/3 cups dry bread crumbs, pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons cold water, 2 cups cooked sifted spinach, 2 cups milk, ½ cup cream.

Cook onions slowly in butter until soft and yellow. Add meat stock, bread crumbs, salt, pepper and simmer 20 minutes. Mix flour with the cold water to a smooth paste and stir slowly into the soup. Cook 10 minutes, then add the spinach, milk and the cream. Reheat and serve at once. Yield: Five cups or six servings.

* * *

BOSTON COOKIES—One cup fat, 1½ cups sugar, 2 tablespoons hot water, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2/3 cup nuts, 1 cup chopped dates, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda.

Cream the fat and sugar. Add water and eggs and beat 2 minutes. Add rest of ingredients. Drop portions from end of spoon on to greased baking sheets. Bake 12 minutes in moderate oven. Makes 3 dozen.

* * *

ROAST PORK AND SWEET POTATOES—Five pound loin of pork, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup water, 6 sweet potatoes.

Wipe pork with damp cloth. Sprinkle with the salt, paprika and flour. Fit into baking pan. Bake 15 minutes in hot oven. Add water and cover with lid. Lower fire and bake 1¾ hours. Baste frequently and add more water if required. Add potatoes and bake 40 minutes. Turn them several times to allow even cooking.

* * *

PIQUANT DRESSING—One teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon celery seed, 5 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles, 2 tablespoons catsup, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 4 tablespoons vinegar, 1 cup salad oil.

Mix dry ingredients in bottom

ROLLED PANCAKES
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon Calumet Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons shortening, melted
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Add ½ of milk to egg yolks, and blend. Add flour. Stir until smooth. Add remaining milk slowly, stirring to a smooth batter. Add shortening. Fold in egg whites. Bake on hot greased griddle. Spread with jelly and roll, or serve rolled around broiled sausages or bacon. Makes 8 seven-inch pancakes. All measurements are level.

ROLLED PANCAKES—fluffy, tender Calumet pancakes—wrapped around a delicious center of jelly or crisp bacon or sausage!

There's something to rave about! But remember—we said Calumet pancakes—that's important. For Calumet pancakes are truly worthy of such a dish. Evenly, delicately browned! Extra light and delicious!

The reason is simple—Calumet's Double Action! In the mixing bowl, Calumet's first action begins. It starts the leavening. Then, on the hot griddle, Calumet's second action begins. Steadily, evenly, this new fresh rising swells through the batter and holds it light and fluffy until the griddle cake is perfectly browned and baked. And the same thing takes place in your oven, when you're making cakes or quick breads. Calumet's second action keeps raising the batter and holds it high and light—making everything turn out super-smooth and tender! Beautifully baked!

and see what a difference Calumet's double-action makes!

You save too!—The simple, tested recipe given here is a Calumet recipe—specially designed for the Calumet proportion—only one level teaspoon to a cup of sifted flour. That's the usual Calumet proportion and should be followed for best results. A splendid economy for you—thanks to the perfect efficiency of Calumet's Double-Action.

Yes, Calumet is the real baking powder bargain! A bargain—because it avoids costly failures—because it always brings top-notch success! Calumet is a product of General Foods Corporation.

2 FULL SIZE BARS OF TAG SOAP

. . . . . THE DOUBLE-DUTY LAUNDRY SOAP

FREE . . . WITH EVERY PURCHASE OF ONLY 5 BARS

Here's an offer you positively can't afford to miss! Beginning today, and all next week, at all Allegheny County grocery stores, two free bars of TAG with every purchase of only five bars.

We're making this sensational offer so you can prove for yourself how good a laundry soap so homely as TAG can be. We want you to know how an honest laundry soap can get clothes so clean . . . without naphtha to chap the hands or other harmful chemicals to injure the fabric.

Consider these facts: TAG has one-half more actual soap content than ordinary soaps contain. It's all soap. No fillers to give bulk. No caustics to cut dirt. No bleaches to fade colors. Nothing added to improve its appearance or to give it a pleasing odor. No other laundry soap has the same, pure, choice, all-soap ingredients that TAG Soap has. Not pretty or attractive. But, my! What a soap!

And how it gets things clean! You've never seen clothes so white, colors so bright, woolens so fleecy as TAG turns out. You'll be amazed to see how it cuts the grease on dishes and cooking utensils . . . how it restores the gleaming polish on woodwork and furniture . . . how you can use it all day and your hands will be whiter, softer and more velvety than ever before.

Don't Miss This Offer—See Your Grocer—Quick

Get your FREE TAG right away. It's the homely brown bar with the round, metal tag . . . only genuine TAG Soap has this mark of identity. And remember . . . two free bars with each five you buy. Your grocer has TAG. See him or phone him—without delay.

stock or gravy or milk, 2 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper.

Make biscuit dough of the first five ingredients and roll to ¾-inch thickness. Cut rounds with small biscuit cutter. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) for 12 minutes. While the biscuits bake make a sauce of 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter and the chicken stock or milk. If left-over gravy is used it may not need to be thickened. Brown the celery in 2 tablespoons of butter, add it and the chicken to the sauce, and heat thoroughly. Break open each biscuit and put the chicken mixture between and on top.

* * *

CHICKEN TAPIOCA OMELETTE—Pour eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¾ cup milk, 2 tablespoons granulated tapioca, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup diced chicken.

Scald the milk and to it add the tapioca and seasonings and cook 20 minutes in double boiler, stirring frequently. Separate the eggs, beat the yolks until thick and whites until stiff. Add the butter to the tapioca and pour over the egg yolks. Add the chicken and finally fold in the egg whites. Turn into a hot buttered skillet and cook in a moderate oven (350-375 Fahrenheit) for 20 minutes.

* * *

TOMATO AND ORANGE COCKTAIL—Combine 2 cups or 2 10-ounce cans of tomato juice, ¼ cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon sugar, salt, pepper and paprika and 2 teaspoons chopped onion and let stand in ice box for at least an hour.

Strain and pour over crushed ice in cocktail glasses or shake with cracked ice and pour without ice into small glasses. Serves six.

* * *

PEPPY TOMATO COCKTAIL—Mix together contents of 2 10-ounce cans strained tomato juice, 2 teaspoons malt vinegar, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 10 drops tobasco sauce and 2 teaspoons lemon juice, chill, and serve in cocktail glasses. Enough for six.

* * *

SPANISH CODFISH—⅔ cup salt codfish, separated into small pieces; 4 cold, boiled potatoes, cut in slices; 3 pimentos, cut in strips; 1 cup tomato sauce, ½ cup buttered cracker crumbs, salt and pepper.

Soak fish in lukewarm water until soft. Drain well. Arrange alternate layers of potatoes and fish in buttered baking dish, sprinkling with the pimento strips and salt and pepper. Add sauce, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in moderate oven until crumbs are brown.

* * *

BRAISED BREAST OF VEAL—Have a breast of veal boned. Stuff with seasoned crumbs, roll and tie into shape and gash the skin. Season with salt and pepper, allowing 1 teaspoon of salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper to the pound, dredge with flour, and put to roast with a sliced carrot and an onion. Cook for an hour and a half, basting with the drippings. Remove the strings and serve with a gravy made of the drippings.

* * *

GERMAN VEAL STEW—Sprinkle a breast of veal with salt and ginger. Slice an onion and fry it in butter or bacon drippings with a little parsley or celery tops. When hot put in the breast of veal. Cover tightly and brown the veal. Add 1 cup of tomatoes and a very small amount of hot water. Cover and cook slowly for two hours, turning the meat frequently. Thicken the gravy with flour rubbed smooth in a little cold water, season with minced parsley or caraway seed, boil up once, and serve.

* * *

CREAMED KOHLRABI—Peel and cut kohlrabi into desired size, usually cubes. Boil until tender in boiling, salted water. Drain. Blend 1 tablespoon butter and 1 tablespoon flour, add 1 cup milk and cook until very thick. Thin with vegetable stock if necessary, then season with salt and pepper. Add the kohlrabi and when hot serve sprinkled with paprika.

* * *

BAKED PORK CHOPS SUPREME—Six chops, cut 1-inch thick, ½ cup flour., 2 cups bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons chopped onions, 2 tablespoons butter, melted, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, 1 cup water.

Wipe chops with damp cloth. Sprinkle with flour and fit into baking pan. Mix crumbs, seasonings and butter. Mix lightly with fork and spread on top chops. Add water and cover with lid. Bake 40 minutes in moderate oven. Baste several times during baking. Carefully remove chops to serving platter and surround with baked potatoes and garnish with parsley. Serves six.

* * *

SCALLOPED LIVER AND POTATOES—One pound liver, sliced thin, salt and papper, flour, 2 tablespoons bacon fat, 1 quart thinly sliced potatoes, 1 small onion, minced, 1½ cups milk.

Salt and flour the liver and brown lightly in the bacon fat. Place a layer of the raw potatoes in a greased baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper, add some of the liver and onion, and continue until all are used. The top layer should be of potatoes. Pour on the milk, cover, and bake for 1 hour in a moderate over (350 F.), or until the potatoes are tender. At the last remove the cover and allow the potatoes to brown

* * *

BAKED HAM AND POTATOES—1½ pound sliced ham, 3 cups sliced potatoes, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onions, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1½ cups milk. Have ham cut 2-3 inch thick. Fit it into shallow baking pan. Mix potatoes, flour and seasonings. Place on top ham. Add milk and cover with lid. Bake 1 hour in moderate oven. Baste several times. If preferred the ham can be baked in a casserole. Serves six.

Advice Concerning Young Girl Sought by Writer

I want advice.

"Turn about's fair play"—I've been giving you advice for ages 'n' ages. Now I want you to give me some.

But it's a particular kind of advice—from a particular type of person.

I don't want advice from wise old ladies—married or single.

Nor wise young ones, over 20—single or married.

I want advice from unmarried girls under 20—

Silly little girls preferred.

Not bad girls—mind you.

Not "wild women" or "tough eggs."

But giggly careless little girls who like to do crazy things.

Who go on "blind dates."

And accept "pick-up" rides for a dare.

And simply adore roadhouse parties.

RESTRICTED BY PARENTS

Yes, even take a nip when it's offered. But don't really like to drink.

Madcap merry little girls who haven't a thought in their heads but clothes and dancing and Boy Friends.

And who simply loathe school.

And want Mom n' Dad to let them quit high school and go to work.

They are the ones whom I wish to answer this letter.

Am I serious? Honest-to-goodness in earnest?

Yep, baby girl, I am. Never more so. For the story is about just such a girl—and I need your answer.

Once upon a time I was something like that myself. I suspect I would have been exactly like that if I'd had the chance. But I didn't. Things were quieter then. There weren't any automobiles when I was 17—nor any speakeasies—nor any public dance halls in the town where I spent my girlhood.

If there had been I haven't a doubt I'd have wanted to burn up the road, and raised cain if my parents hadn't let me.

Even with my limited opportunities I managed to kick up some dust.

SPOILED BY GRANDPARENTS

That's why my heart is going out to this little 17-year-old today—to all little 17-year-olds.

But in spite of that I know she won't give two hoots of her pretty manicured fingers for my advice. There isn't a soul she'll listen to except someone of her own years, someone with the same gypsy fire burning in her veins.

And so, youngsters, I'm turning her case over to you, and I'm banking on you to help me.

We'll call her Trix—

Pretty name, isn't it?

She's as pretty as her name—and as peppy. Little trike, only 5 feet 1. Blonde hair with red-dish lights, bobbish bob.

Loves everything that's lively. Dancing, riding, driving, tennis, swimming, snow sports—any kind of a party at any kind of a place—and she's always the life of the party.

Six months after she was born her father died. Her mother placed the baby with her own parents in a little country town. Went away to earn a living for them both. Drifted around and had hard breaks. In all those years she has hardly seen the youngster. The old folks raised her and adored her. Spoiled her. Spoiled her, of course—and how! Thought everything she did was exactly right.

Now the little town has grown into a lively summer resort village, and the little girl has grown to be the village belle among the town kids. For the last year she's been running pretty wild. The old folks have lost control. They don't see the danger. Nor does Trix. She's still just a baby in many ways—but she's a headstrong baby, steering straight for trouble, though she doesn't realize it yet.

WANTS TO BE FREE

Lately she's been staying out all hours—nothing wrong—just larking around—but you know how a girl gets talked about in a small town.

Last week she was suspended from Hi. Simply wouldn't study—and the old folks backed their spoiled darling up. Of course she's tickled pink. Now she hasn't a thing to cramp her style.

And now the plot thickens.

Her mother has suddenly married. She can take Trix home at last—give her the things she has always wanted to give her—the things all the "nice girls" have.

She can send her through college—

But Trix doesn't want to go!

The very thought of going to college gives her a pain. She doesn't want to be a lady. She doesn't want to study and keep regular hours . . . and then at some far-off time, be free to play.

She wants to be free to play right now!

And she's sure that if she does everything will come out all right.

That's what I'm asking you, youngsters!

The fine art of interior decorating has become so common and popular that every little home spot is attractive.

The useful hints given by newspapers and magazines and ideas bright housewives pick up from screen and stage sets has changed the drabbiest rooms into bowers of beauty.

But, alas, in the pursuit of the pretty and ornamental many a place that is a little poem of perfection in every other detail is sadly lacking in those small necessities that in time of need for them change good humor into bad temper.

No fresh ink. No good black lead pencils. No jar of paste. No supply of new pen points. No little pads for memorandum. No candles when the electricity is off. No string.

Heart of a Wife -:- -:- Continuation of Loves Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Worried by Dicky's Criticism

"You're absolutely crazy," Dicky exploded. "I never said anything like that in my life."

He had taken his hands from my shoulders when, in answer to his insistent questioning, I had told him that he once said Jack Bickett's photograph looked "like a gorilla with the mumps" and was glaring at me as if I had just committed some unpardonable crime. But I was armed against this ebullition of temper, for ever since he had criticized my use of the expression, a "chimpanzee with the croup," in my third act, he had been on the trail of my reason for putting the words into the mouth of one of my characters. If I could have evaded his question or given him some plausible reason for the use of the expression I could have avoided what threatened to be a nerve-racking episode, but I had found it impossible to divert his attention from the point of issue.

"I'll not dispute you on that first count," I said as I stepped a pace back from him. "I am getting more convinced of my insanity with every succeeding minute of this play-writing thing. Therefore I am not going to contradict you when you say that you did not call Jack's photo that of a gorilla with the mumps." I've probably gotten you mixed up with some other man. I'm positive somebody said it about Jack's photograph."

Dicky had never been nearer to choking in his life than he was in the gasp of astonishment he gave at my last statement.

"Do you mean to tell me," he stormed, "that any other man was ever concerned enough about Jack Bickett to make that speech about his photograph?"

An age old feminine instinct leaped triumphantly within me. His quick, unreasoning jealousy had delivered him into my hands.

"I don't remember any man saying that," I said, demurely, "but if you say you didn't, somebody must have said it, for I heard something like it somewhere. I didn't invent it."

"It's nothing to be proud of if you did," Dicky snapped. Then as if he had exorcised his demon of ill-temper with the spiteful little thrust, he broke into one of his unexpected laughs.

"All right, you win this round," he said. "I'm back in my corner with the towels flapping merrily, and I'll acknowledge the corn, also the oats and the rye. I did say that about Jack. I libeled the dear old chap at that, but I was young and terribly in love at the time I said it. I've gotten over one fault, but I'm afraid I'm hopelessly incurable on the other."

"I hope you never get over that second fault," I said, returning his smile.

"Time out," he called to an imaginary referee, and kissed me as proof that he had not yet recovered from the malady which he called being "terribly in love."

When he released me, he ceremoniously escorted me to my desk and put me into my chair.

"Get on with the rest of it. I'm like a boy with a new detective thriller. I want to see how this comes out. The first part of it is sure O. K. with me, even where you violated all the sacre, traditions of love and marriage by using your husband as literary material. To think that I should have lived to see myself slaughtered for a Roman holiday. Please make your blue pencil travel as fast as possible. I'm all in a twitter to see what else you've done to me. No!" as I opened my mouth to protest, "don't swear by the moon or any of the rest of the planets. I'll be the judge on that particular point when I read the rest of what you've written."

I had been most careful in the creation of my characters so that no one of them should be a picture of anyone I had ever known. But now, as if Dicky's words had been a merciless searchlight illuminating the obscure recesses of my brain, I began to wonder if, unwittingly, subconsciously, I had drawn a partial picture of my husband in—not my hero—that might have been pardonable, but in the role of the masculine character who furnished what Dicky called the "comedy relief."

Punctuation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Will you kindly punctuate the enclosed envelope for me?

Mrs. George Pryer
418 E Front Street
Chicago, Illinois

2. Please tell me if a widow should be addressed by her given name? I think she should be addressed as "Mrs. Alice Smith," but my daughter thinks "Mrs. A. D. Smith," my husband's initials.

READER.

1. On envelopes now, usually, we use the "open punctuation"—that is, no marks of punctuation at the ends of the lines. The best form for your envelope would be:

Mrs. George Pryer
418 East Front Street
Chicago
Illinois

2. A widow should be addressed exactly as she was when her husband was living . . . not with the Mrs. and her first name, but with her husband's name prefixed by Mrs. . . . Mrs. Albert Dale Smith.

A Choice of Words

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A says that the statement "I have a date tonight" is wrong and that date is slang.

B says that the statement "I have an appointment tonight" is wrong, as appointment applies only to business. B. argues that date is a new word and can be used. E. C.

Better than either date or appointment, for social use, is the word engagement. Appointment does seem very business-like, and date does seem slangy.

Contract Bridge -:- OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

The Luck of the Game

What your opponents do, or which way you happen to take a finesse often decides the score. Sometimes in duplicate games and team matches luck may count more than skill. Even a large number of hands played in a match between two pairs may fail to give equal cards to the competing sides. You can not beat the cards, although skill counts heavily in contract. The hands below were played in a recent duplicate game with quite different scores at various tables. Luck counted in play more than skill.

Some players in Z's position bid no-trump, and some passed, but at all tables Y became declarer, and hearts were trumps. Some pairs bid 4-Hearts, some 5-Hearts and four pairs played at 6-Hearts. Two of these high bidders were doubled, and two of them escaped without a double.

In a few cases the opening lead of the 2 of diamonds caused A's Q to be captured, and took all guess out of the play. Y could not fail to make his small slam with such an opening.

In most instances the opening lead was the 4 of clubs. That also gave Y his contract without difficulty, affording him an opportunity to discard a diamond from his hand later on, thus obviating having to guess which way to take a finesse in that suit. Either lead of a minor suit took out all possibility of defeating the contract. Players who made those openings could not understand how Y could have been defeated at some tables; it required an explanation to convince them that even the best player in Y's position might fall on his bid of a small slam.

The Q of spades opening at two tables defeated the small slam by one trick. Normal play of diamonds was to lay down the K in declarer's hand, followed by the J, which was finessed. The rule to lay down the top card from the short end of the suit, attempting to set-up the long end of the suit, beat two pairs.

The hand below was sent to me with the following inquiry: "Y played the hand at 3-No Trumps after Z had tried to play it at clubs. The opening lead was the 4 of spades. The contract was beaten by one trick. Could the contract have been made?" Think over the hand until tomorrow, when the answer will be published.

-:- How to Keep Well -:-

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Protein Diet Is Cause of Albumin

Before you can get an insurance policy you must take the required physical examination. Among other tests there is a urinalysis. In this test it is common to find a slight amount of albumin. Much unnecessary alarm may be caused by this discovery. Of course, if there is an excessive quantity of albumin, it is a sign of definite damage to the kidneys. In that event it shows the need of careful attention, both as to the diet and the manner of living.

Dr. Copeland

There are many cases described as "simple albuminuria." Only a faint trace of albumin is discovered. Particularly when found in a young individual this is not alarming. It should not cause worry. Doubtless there are thousands of people who have this condition, but, fortunately, are not aware of it. I say "fortunately" because the anxiety it causes is far greater than the condition deserves.

Faint traces of albumin in a young individual who shows no other symptoms are of little consequence. No treatment is demanded, and change in diet is unnecessary. Life is not endangered, and contrary to a common belief, the condition does not lead to Bright's disease.

The standards adopted by some large institutions classify the presence of even a faint trace of albumin in the urine as abnormal. The applicant for admission to Annapolis or West Point would doubtless be rejected, even though he passed all of his other examinations with flying colors. A trace of albumin would probably keep one off the police or fire force.

If albumin is continuously found in the urine, the fact should not be ignored. The condition indicates some definite damage to the kidneys and it should be carefully investigated.

The sort of cases to which I refer today are those where the albumin is not always present, and when found is very small in amount. In many such instances there has been a high protein diet, the eating abundantly of meats, fish and eggs, resulting in a showing of albumin. When the diet is adjusted, and there is no longer an excess of proteins, the trace of albumin disappears.

Albumin is found in the urine of individuals who follow certain occupations. The nature of their work is such that they sit or stand in the same posture every day. When they change these occupations, and no longer assume a definite position, the albumin disappears.

As a rule, underweight people, as well as those who are very active, are more subject to this condition than stout individuals. It is found in athletes, and appears to involve certain families.

Please remember that a faint trace of albumin in the urine does not necessarily mean any serious or alarming disease. Consult your physician.

MEN GIVEN FOR SWIFT CAN BE SPARED

THE EDGE IS all on the side of the Pirates in the deal that brings Pitcher Bill Swift here from Kansas City in exchange for Catcher Eddie Phillips and Pitcher Bob Osborn. If Swift, a right-hander, comes through, the Bucs will be the gainers to the extent of whatever he proves himself to be worth, and if he fails they will not be worse off than formerly, for the material given up for him is not of a kind that will be sorely missed. Neither Phillips nor Osborn had been counted on for regular duty anyhow.

Bob Osborn

Osborn, though he made a good job of it with six wins and only one defeat in his limited assignments after being purchased from the Cubs on April 22 last year, is only a relief pitcher at best. He was in 27 games for the Rovers but started only twice, first against the Reds and next against the Phillies, and was knocked out both times. Coming up first in the fall of 1925, he spent four full seasons and part of another in the majors, and in all that time won only 27 games, so that there was little or no chance he would ever amount to anything as a starting flinger.

PHILLIPS, OBTAINED ON waivers from the A's last winter, and previously discarded by the Red Sox and Tigers, served the Corsairs well as a workhorse in 1931, catching 103 games. He started off in promising style as a hitter, too, and contributed one of the best batting feats in several years on May 28 at St. Louis when he cleaned the bases twice with a triple and a home run and gave the Bucs an 11-to-8 victory. But later the enemy pitchers slowed him down and he finished with an average of only .232.

There appeared to be no room for Phillips in this year's scheme of things in the Pittsburgh catching department. Hal Finney looms large as a prospect for first backstop. Bill Brenzel comes in from the Coast League with the O. K. of Joe Devine, who makes few poor guesses, and Earl Grace was the logical choice over Phillips for retention because he is the only left-hand hitter in the receiving corps.

IT LOOKS LIKE a much better deal for the Pirates than it would have been if Steve Swetonic had been used in it, as was planned before the waiver blockade, for whereas little could have been expected of Osborn, there is a chance that Swetonic may take a new lease of life with the aid of the changed ball that has proved a great help to hurlers of the North Sider's style.

Swift's earned-run record at Kansas City last year was not overly impressive, as he allowed an average of 4.55 per nine innings, but it must not be forgotten that the lively ball was still in use in the American Association.

THE BIG PROFESSIONAL basketball game booked for the night of Friday, February 12, Lincoln's birthday, in Pittsburgh, between the Rosenblum Celtics, of Cleveland, and the Brooklyn Visitations, will be played in Motor Square Garden. After weighing the good points of Motor Square against those of the Duquesne University gym, Promoter Johnny Freund has finally selected the East End arena on account of its greater seating capacity. The proposed game shapes up as one of the best pro numbers ever staged around here. The Visitations won the American League championship last season and boast a record that stamps them as being in every respect worthy opponents for the all-star troupe from Cleveland.*

Sonja Henie

IN EXPLAINING THAT it was the strain of keeping in training throughout each succeeding winter that prompted her decision to retire from competitive skating within the next year, Sonja Henie, five times world figure-skating champion at the age of 19, says it must be borne in mind that winter in her native Norway lasts seven months.

"During all that time I must spend three hours of each day skating," she said. "And I must live so simply. No smoking, no drinking, only the most wholesome food, and retire each night at 10 o'clock. For more than seven years I have observed these rules. I think I am ready to give them up. I have skated too long."

PITT'S BASKETBALL OPPONENT for tonight, West Virginia University, is one of the most feared enemies on the entire Panther card annually. In the last four years the Mountaineers have caused the Carlsons more grief than any other quintet faced by the local passers during the same period.

Until the present season of misfortune, West Virginia was the only team to win two decisions over the Panthers in four campaigns. The first was captured in 1928-29, when Sleepy Glenn led the Morgantown five to a 40-35 victory over Charley Hyatt's crew, and the second in 1929-30, by a 33-25 count.

THINGS MAY NOT be a whole lot different this season. West Virginia, though having suffered two defeats against two victories, owns a high-scoring aggregation that has averaged 32 points a game. On the other hand, Coach Carlson has his lightest scoring outfit in years, the Panther average up to date having been only 24 markers to a contest. And with West Virginia using its famous zone defense, there is not much promise that the Pitt floormen will go beyond that average at the Stadium tonight.*

EITHER JACKIE FIELDS suddenly regained much of the old form that was missing when he boxed in Pittsburgh, or his capture of the world welterweight championship through a decision over Lou Brouillard in 10 rounds at Chicago last night was just another chapter in the juggling act whereby titles are kept moving around among fighters controlled by managerial syndicates.

In two years and a half the welterweight championship has changed hands six times and two men have held it twice. It passed from Joe Dundee to Fields, to Young Jack Thompson, to Tommy Freeman, then back to Thompson, next to Brouillard and now again to Fields. Five men besides Thompson and Fields regained the title in the class after losing it. They were Mysterious Billy Smith, Rube Ferns, Joe Walcott, Ted Lewis and Jack Britton.

THOUGH TOMMY LOUGHRAN gave Max Baer a boxing lesson and then lost to King Levinsky, it doesn't necessarily follow that Baer will be without a chance to win over Levinsky when the rival Jewish heavyweights meet for 10 rounds in New York tonight. For the Loughran that lost to Levinsky was far different from the one that beat Baer, and comparative form can't be based on those two bouts, nor can a definite line be drawn from the fact that Baer lost to Paulino Uzcudun and the latter was defeated by Levinsky.

William Fiske

Baer fights much like Levinsky does, and is strong for the slam-bang stuff, but he is a pretty fair boxer, too, and will have an edge on the Kingfish in cleverness and straight punching. Losing only to Primo Carnera in his last five fights, while defeating Joe Sekyra, Jimmy Slattery, Loughran and Paulino, Levinsky would appear to have a shade the better of the form arguments, but Baer must be conceded a chance to win for all that.

DON'T GET THE idea that this bobsleighing stuff, on the Olympic games winter sports schedule for next week at Lake Placid, is a joke. Bobsled racing is far from being child's play. The two-man sleds weigh 200 pounds, the four-man sleighs scale close to 500, and Capt. William Fiske's American team will meet the representatives of six other nations in races down a new slide at Lake Placid that is a mile and a half long and full of dangerous curves. On the straightaways the sleds attain a speed of 65 to 70 miles, and they average around 47 for the course. Accidents are not infrequent.*

EDDIE PHILLIPS, OSBORN SENT TO MINORS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The Pittsburgh baseball club officials today announced a deal with Kansas City of the American Association whereby Pitcher William Swift, a highly-touted recruit, comes to the Pirates in return for Catcher Eddie Phillips and Pitcher Bob Osborn, and a sum of money, the amount of which was not made public.

Eddie Phillips

The prize Kansas City twirler was sought by other major league clubs, and according to Bill Hinchman, Casey Stengel and other diamond luminaries who saw him in action much during the past summer, the new Buccaneer stands a good chance to win a regular berth with the Buccos. He is a right-hander.

Swift, who is 24, is a youthful giant. The big sharpshooter is 6 feet 1½ inches in height and weighs 190. He won 16 and lost seven games for the Blues last season.

FINE HURLER

Kansas City acquired the promising pitcher four years ago, but for two years he was used largely as a farmhand at Springfield, Mo., Pueblo, Col., and Augusta, Ga. He remained with the Kansas City club through 1930, and during the past season he apparently found himself as his record shows.

Swift fanned no less than 104 batters in 204 innings; moreover his control was exceptional, his card showing only 44 bases on balls for the season. He will report to Manager Gibson in Paso Robles next month.

Catcher Eddie Phillips was the first-string receiver for the Pirates last year. In the springtime period, the Boston College graduate showed signs of being a top-notcher, but his batting became very weak as the season progressed. Eddie had a long punch at the plate, but he could not put it over with consistency. Under the bat he was considered a bright performer, especially by the pitchers. Eddie, however, appeared to have some trouble with his throwing. Phillips came to the Buccos last spring from Toronto.

OSBORN SHOWS WELL

Pitcher Bob Osborn had a unique record with the Pirates after being purchased from the Cubs. Bob finished the year with six victories and only one defeat, but he did not qualify as a star pitcher. Nevertheless, the Kansas City club demanded his services before they would complete the deal.

Although the passing of Phillips leaves him with only three catchers, Manager George Gibson expressed pleasure over the acquisition of Swift. Bill Hinchman scouted the youngster and Hinchman is keen about the boy. Casey Stengel who managed the Toledo club of the American Association for the past few seasons, gives Swift a high rating.

FLOWERS TRADED

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 29.—(INS.)—D'Arcy (Jake) Flowers, utility infielder, has been sold to Minneapolis, of the American Association, by the St. Louis Cardinals, Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals has announced. The deal was a straight cash transaction.

DEAL FALLS THROUGH

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Offers of the Brooklyn National League baseball team to trade Outfielder Johnny Frederick for Pitcher Fidgety Phil Collins have been turned down, Gerry Nugent, business manager of the Philadelphia National League club, has announced.

GANZEL IS SOLD

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Babe Ganzel, third baseman for the Louisville American Association club, has been sold to Minneapolis of the same league.

Benswanger Finds Dreyfuss on Mend

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, of the National Baseball League, today was recovering satisfactorily at Mt. Sinai Hospital from a glandular operation performed on January 6, according to his son-in-law and club treasurer, W. E. Benswanger.

Because of his age, Dreyfuss will be 67 his next birthday, Benswanger said his father-in-law's convalescence had been slow, but that it had been satisfactory and they were hoping for a complete recovery.

Mrs. Dreyfuss and Mrs. Benswanger have been constantly at the bedside during the three weeks Dreyfuss has been in the hospital. Benswanger was here for a few days after the operation, but returned to Pittsburgh two weeks ago and only came back to New York last night.

WOOD'S SPEED MARK IN VAIN

DETROIT, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Although he sent his Miss America IX streaking over the waters of Indian Creek, Miami Beach, Fla., faster than any human ever has piloted a hydroplane, Gar Wood appears to have failed of a new world record by about two turns of his craft's propelled blades.

The probable failure of Wood to dethrone Kaye Don, British pilot, was brought out by W. D. Edenburn, chairman of the racing committee of the Yachtmen's Association of America, when he explained that to establish a new world speedboat record, the old mark must be bettered by at least one-half a nautical mile an hour.

Wood in his two trials attained an average speed of 110.785 statute or 96.20 nautical miles an hour. Kaye Don's world record was 110.223 statute miles an hour, and Edenburn reduced this to 97.71997 nautical miles.

Gibson, Pirates' Manager, In Interview Over WCAE

George Gibson, manager of the Pirates, just arrived in Pittsburgh to prepare his club for the spring training trip to Paso Robles, Cal., will be introduced to the fans of the city over the radio through Station WCAE, the Voice of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, at 6 o'clock this evening, when he will be interviewed by Charles J. (Chilly) Doyle, baseball expert.

George Gibson

This is the first personal contact Gibby will have with the local fans since his return to harness with the Pirates, for whom he formerly starred as a catcher and later served as manager. It will give him an opportunity to acquaint the fans with his problems and will give the latter the real lowdown on the club and its prospects or hopes from a headquarters standpoint.

Tune in on WCAE from 6 to 6:15 o'clock this evening for this exclusive feature.

LOCAL GOLFERS DEFEATED

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 29.—Pittsburgh golfers sustained a double defeat in the third flight semi-final round in the Miami Beach championship golf tournament over the La Gorce Golf Club course yesterday when C. M. Scott and E. J. Dettling were eliminated.

Scott succumbed to H. W. D. Nicholson, of Washington, D. C., in a 19-hole match, and Dettling was defeated by Ray Kilthau, of Great Neck, N. Y., by 6 and 5.

I. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion, and medalist today is meeting Winfield Day, 16-year-old Chicagoan, in the final for the title.

Yesterday Perkins trounced H. F. Bowbeer, of LaGrange, Ill., by 8 and 7, and Day eliminated John B. Ryerson, of Cooperstown, N. Y., the defending champion, by 6 and 5.

CARLSON MAY START SECOND TEAM TONIGHT

GAMES TONIGHT

West Va. vs. Pitt at Stadium Pavilion.
West Va. Frosh vs. Pitt Frosh.
Thiel vs. Geneva at Beaver Falls.
Allegheny vs. St. Bonaventure at Olean, N. Y.
Grove City vs. Union City Ritz Club.
Youngstown U. at St. Vincent.

By JESS CARVER

The basketball theater of war shifts to the Stadium Pavilion for tonight's broiling as the sturdy heroes of Pitt and West Virginia resume their campaigns. Ordinarily this game would stack up as the feature engagement of the week here in the city, but this year it must take a back seat to tomorrow's clash between Carnegie and Duquesne.

Francis Stadsvold

In fact, were it not that Pitt's colorful mentor, Dr. Red Carlson, has had more than a week to rest his histrionic abilities and is set to put on another of his provokingly popular shows on the bench, assisted by the somewhat easily aroused Francis Stadsvold, of the Mountaineers, tonight's affair would be just another ball game.

Neither school sports any sort of an impressive record as far as wins and losses are concerned. The Mountaineers have won two out of four games, and Pitt seven out of 10. Aside from the fact that Pitt will have the faster five, the contest appears to be a toss-up.

RESERVES TO START

Carlson remains set on his plan to start his second stringers against the Mountaineers, possibly giving Jim MacMurdo an opportunity to go at center for a while. Otherwise, Johnny Brown will be asked to put on another show such as he pulled out of the bag against Tech. The regulars will be on edge and ready for action, but will be spared for as long a period as possible.

Anxious for a victory over Pitt, Stadsvold will employ his varsity performers from the gun, unless he undergoes a change of mind and heart between now and game time. Three of the Mountaineers are footballers, Johnny Doyle, Leo Sortet and Joe Dotson. Sortet and Doyle have been playing forwards, with Eddie Cunbon at center and Klug and Dotson at the guards.

DUKES, TECH SET

Today is tapering off day for the Tech and Duke varsity squads. Light workouts are scheduled for both teams.

There has been no small amount of lineup shifting going on about the camps this week, with the result that today, the day before the ball game, it is extremely difficult to name likely starting arrays. Tech seems set on using Jagnow at center, with Red Silverman taking Lou's place at forward and Smith, Fergus and Capt. Leonard in, at their usual posts.

Chick Davies discontented with the way in which his team stumbled last week against George Washington, also has gone in for experiments and may try Irwin and Zerill at the forwards in place of MacDougal and Feldman, tomorrow, for the start of the ball-game, at least.

Following the freshmen and varsity games at Pitt tonight, the stage will be turned over to the ringmen of the two schools, Pitt and West Virginia, and they'll engage in a bit of fisticuffing. The probable starting varsity basketball lineup:

| Pitt | | West Virginia |
|---|---|---|
| Edwards | F | Doyle |
| Brubaker | F | Sortet |
| Brown | C | Klug |
| Rogers | G | Kline |
| Hughes | G | Dotson |

ALLEGHENY LEAVES

Allegheny leaves today for a six-day tour in New York state. Tomorrow night they meet Alfred College at Alfred, N. Y. Monday night Allegheny meets Ithaca College of Physical Education at Ithaca. Colgate is played Tuesday night at Hamilton, and on Wednesday night the tour is completed by a game with Hobart.

CARNEGIE SEEKS RING TRIALS

Graduate Manager of Athletics Clarence Overend, of Carnegie Tech, is angling for a preliminary elimination tourney for college boxers seeking berths on the United States Olympic team, to be held March 17 and 18 in the Skibo gym. He has called a meeting of Pitt, Duquesne, West Virginia, Wash.-Jeff, N. Y. U., Navy, Georgetown, Bucknell and Temple representatives at the P. A. A. for noon, Tuesday of next week, to discuss the matter.

The victor in each class would be eligible to enter the semi-final round at Penn State, April 7 and 8, to qualify for the final bouts at Soldier Field, Chicago, July 15 and 16.

Overend also hopes to interest the representatives in a collegiate boxing league.

Battalino Fined $5,000, Given Suspension

CINCINNATI, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—A $5,000 fine and indefinite suspension were imposed by the Cincinnati Boxing Commission on Christopher (Bat) Battalino, Hartford, Conn., featherweight, for his "no contest" match with Freddie Miller, Cincinnati southpaw, here Wednesday night.

Battalino lost his N. B. A. championship rating when he failed to weigh in at the feather-weight limit. Miller would have been recognized champion by the N. B. A. if he had won the bout.

FOWNES AT FINAL

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 29.(A. P.)—Halbert J. Rice, Aberdeen, N. C., won the St. Valentine's championship golf tournament here yesterday by defeating Donald Parson, Youngstown, O., 5 and 3. William C. Fownes, Jr., Pittsburgh, former president of the U. S. G. A. who announced the change in the size and weight of the golf ball, was a spectator at the match.

PITT BOXERS MEET W. VA.

The University of Pittsburgh varsity boxers are well prepared to offset the invasion tonight of West Virginia University's mittmen, in their inaugural encounter in the Stadium pavilion.

Fisher, Neely and Hawkins, Mountaineers who took over Carnegie Tech foes last week, will be in the ring against Pitt tonight. Henry Martin, of Pitt, may not be able to make the weight in the 135-pound class. The probable lineup:

115 pounds—Puglia, Pitt, vs. Morrison or Heatherman, West Virginia.
125 pounds—Conti, Pitt, vs. Fisher, West Virginia.
135 pounds—Sanicola, Pitt, vs. Neely, West Virginia.
145 pounds—Rubbo, Pitt, vs. Hamilton, West Virginia.
155 pounds—Schricker, Pitt, vs. Lainam, West Virginia.
165 pounds—Beigal, Pitt, vs. Jamison, West Virginia.
175 pounds—Heller, Pitt, vs. Hawkins, West Virginia.

Referee—Billy Lewis.

Fight Results

At McKeesport—Dave Grove defeated Frankie Bauer in 10 rounds. Johnny Bond defeated Charley Young, Terry Thiel vs. Frankie Terr, Page defeated Leo Lampetta, 8 rounds; Peter John knocked out Ira Bell, Monty Graham, 3 rounds.

At Chicago—Jackie Fields defeated Lou Brouillard, 10 rounds (world welterweight championship); Frankie Wagner and Jackie Berg, 10 rounds, Berg won by technical knockout over Battling Bozo, 8 rounds; George Nichols defeated Igo Bozzo, 10 rounds; Frankie Chase to treated Baby Collins, 4 rounds.

At Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Harold Mays defeated Frankie Carter, 10 rounds; Al Ettore defeated Dominic Rondinone, 10 rounds.

At London—Larry Gains and Dan McCormick drew, 10 rounds.

At Tacoma, Wash.—Joe Ruiz defeated Kim Albertson, 8 rounds.

At San Francisco—Young Tommy defeated Newsboy Brown, 10 rounds, for California bantamweight championship.

At New Brunswick, N. J.—Jimmy Oakes knocked out Jack Palmer, 4 rounds.

At Miami, Fla.—Owen Phelps defeated Clyde Chastain, 10 rounds; Jim Maher and Harry Paul drew, 10 rounds.

WOMEN REACH FINAL

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Mrs. Art Mills, Kansas City, moved to the front in the Women's Biltmore golf championship tournament yesterday with a 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. Don Gott, Kansas City, defeated Mrs. H. D. Hutchinson, Rockefellow, Ill., handily by an easy 6 and 5 victory over Mrs. Joseph Reydons, Buffalo, N. Y.

CUE LEAD TIE IS BROKEN

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Jake Schaefer's bid for the world three-cushion billiard title suffered a setback when he failed to get by Johnny Layton, Sedalia (Mo.) star, yesterday.

Schaefer lost his touch and the Sedalia veteran trimmed him, 50 to 25 in 50 innings.

Bud Westhus, of St. Louis, defeated Jay Bozeman, of Vallejo, Cal., 50 to 33 in 48 innings.

Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, broke a triple tie for first place by defeating Ken Kenney, of Chicago, 50 to 32, in 45 innings.

Arthur Thurnblad, of Chicago, the defending champion, dropped to third place when he suffered his second defeat in six games, losing to Allen Hall, of Chicago, 50 to 26 in 50 innings.

By CARL W. SHATTO

The jinx which has pursued and all too frequently overtaken Pittsburgh in its International League hockey jousting with Buffalo today is badly mangled, with condition both serious and critical.

While some 5,000 fans shouted approval, the Yellow Jackets gave the jinx a well-placed boot and their chances of gaining the title play-offs a timely boost by handing Buffalo's pace-setting Bisons a 2-1 setback at Duquesne Garden last night.

Prior to last night's encounter the local skaters had defeated the Bisons only once in 13 attempts. In winning the Jackets halted a slump which had brought them five defeats in their last six starts. The setback gave the league leaders the fine record of three defeats and one tie in their last four times out. The defeat too jeopardized Buffalo's lead in the race. The Detroit Olympics are right at the Bisons' heels. Buffalo incidentally, never has been in any position other than first place since Pittsburgh came into the circuit.

LOCALS STILL IN CELLAR

Because Syracuse was so inconsiderate as to take the measure of Windsor, Pittsburgh was unable to clamber out of the league cellar. Syracuse is leading the locals by one point in the standings.

While all of the Jackets fought right manfully and with telling effect, Stu Dunning, Doc Romnes, Ty Arbour and Earl Miller provided the biggest thrills, in that it was these boys who participated in successful scoring efforts. After receiving a neat and well-timed pass from Arbour, Dunning cut in like a flash from the right lane, and back-handed the puck past Goalie Bill Taugher as he swept past the mouth of the Buffalo cage.

His score came after eight minutes and 30 seconds of milling in the second period, and gave Pittsburgh a 1-0 lead. Romnes, who has scored four goals in the Jackets' last four games, boosted the locals' edge to two goals at 14:55 in the third period. Miller passed the puck through the Buffalo defense men after Doc had skated around the guards, and the "crucial moment" in the play found the latter with an open shot.

FRASER, FIELDS SCORE

Gordy Fraser and Whitey Fields each scored goals in the third period which did not meet with the approval of Referee Jerry LaFlamme, and neither was allowed. Fraser made the mistake of driving the disc into the cage with such force that it bounced right out again, and Jerry tooted his whistle just as Fields shot to nullify the latter's effort.

Goalie Abbie Cox turned in several spectacular saves before Gross beat him on a pass from Carr when only 54 seconds of play remained. The tally climaxed a wild scrimmage, and about three Pittsburgh and two Buffalo players were in the cage with Cox when the puck came in and joined them.

REISE SHINES.

Leo Reise, recently called in from Brantford, Ont., to bolster the Pittsburgh defense, started with Fraser at the defense points and did a very capable job of backfielding. Norman Locking, playing his second game of the season here, teamed up with Arbour and Dunning and did some nifty back checking and violent body checking.

Cox was knocked out when he stopped a practice shot with his head before the game got under way. Reise was hurt in dealing out a body check in the first period, but returned to the fray a few minutes later. A spectator was treated by the club physician when the puck left the ice and opened a cut below his right eye in the third period. Virtually every player on the ice suffered bruises, for the battling was extremely torrid from start to finish. The lineup:

| Pittsburgh | | Buffalo |
|---|---|---|
| Cox | G | Taugher |
| Fraser | L | Morris |
| Reise | R | Lederman |
| Romnes | C | Voss |
| Miller | L.W. | Gross |
| Marlon | R.W. | Martin |

Score by periods:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburgh | 0 | 1 | 1—2 |
| Buffalo | 0 | 0 | 1—1 |

'SPRING' TRAINING ALREADY

ST. VINCENT COLLEGE TOSSERS WORK OUT IN BEAUTIFUL JANUARY WEATHER

GROVE, CHIODO WIN BOUTS

Davy Grove, local welterweight won the verdict over Frankie Bauer, Cleveland product, and Johnny Chiodo, Johnstowner, grabbed the laurels from Young Terry, of Akron, when he scored a technical knockout in the fifth round, in the double windup of scheduled 10-round bouts at the Palisades, McKeesport, last night.

Frankie Bauer

Grove put on high pressure against Bauer at the outset, staggering the Buckeye mittman with a hard left in the opening round, and keeping up a constant barrage throughout the encounter. Bauer, however, absorbed the stiff punishment and came back for more, and made a good fight of it. Grove tipped the scales at 146½ pounds, and Bauer weighed 147¼.

Chiodo completely outclassed Terry in their short fight. The Ohioan was floored twice in the first round, although no count was taken, and when Terry was badly battered as the fifth round ended, Referee Al Grayber ordered him to remain in his corner.

Terry Fagan, of St. Michaels, Pa., 138½, won a unanimous verdict over Leo Zampetta, of Charleroi, 140, in the second preliminary go of six rounds.

In the lid-lifter, Petey Jahn, local boy, 121½, registered a technical knockout over Scotty Graham, of Donora, 112, in the third round of a scheduled six-rounder. Graham was down four times before the contest was halted.

Jimmy McLaughlin and Jack Simco were the judges and Al Grayber the referee.

STARS, LONDON TRIUMPH

STOCKS DROP UNDER ACTIVE SELLING

Liquidation Abates After Shares Near January Lows; Rails, Steel Turn Heavy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Selling quickened moderately for a time in today's stock market, and prices drifted close to the early January lows, but the liquidation abated somewhat after midday.

The developments in the far eastern situation added a new element of uncertainty, although important financial quarters expressed confidence in the handling of the matter. Business and industrial news was again uninspiring. Nevertheless there were slight recoveries in spots in the early afternoon.

Rails was decidedly heavy as the wage conference dragged on. Losses of 2 to 3 points appeared in such issues as Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, New Haven, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and others. Other issues registering similar losses included Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Public Service of New Jersey, Eastman, Case, Coca Cola and others. Bethlehem Steel preferred dropped 5 points and the common more than a point on the dividend and earnings news. United States Steel also lost more than a point. General Motors was fairly steady, as were coppers and oils.

Brokerage opinion on the market was rather confused and inclined to be a bit gloomy.

The money market was about stationary, although some call money was offered outside at a concession of ¼ of one per cent from the official rate of 2½. Federal funds showed a little weekend firmness.

BELL OF PENNA. EARNS $8.74

Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania reports net income after all charges for year ended December 31, 1931, of $10,912,822 equal after payment of preferred dividends to $8.74 a share on 1,100,000 shares of common stock, all of which is owned by American Telephone and Telegraph Company. This compares with net of $10,501,810 for 1930, equal after preferred dividends to $10.22 a share on 900,000 shares of common stock then outstanding.

Directors of Bell of Pennsylvania have appropriated $1,418,407 for new construction and service betterment throughout the state in the immediate future.

Diamond State Telephone Company directors appropriated $154,640 for new construction and service betterments in Delaware.

Farm Price Index Drops During Month

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The index of farm prices for agricultural commodities declined to 63 per cent of the pre-war level on January 15 from 66 per cent on December 15 and 94 per cent on January 15, 1931, according to the Department of Agriculture. The decline was attributed largely to the break in prices of dairy and poultry products.

Steel Production Gains at Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Sentiment in local steel trade is improving as railroad inquiries increase and the number of orders from other sources continues to gain, although tonnage is still light. The average rate for the district this week is about 25 per cent of capacity, against 24 per cent last week.

Treasury Offering Is Oversubscribed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Aggregate subscriptions for the two certificates series offered by the Treasury was $646,091,500. Of this $228,0000,0000 in 3⅛ per cent six months' certificates and $145,000,000 in 3¼ per cent one-year certificates, will be alloted. The money is for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

PROPOSE NEW CREDIT PLAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A group of prominent industrialists are considering a plan by which large corporations rich in cash may act to extend some $500,000,000 in commercial credit, which in turn may theoretically be used as a basis for some $5,000,000,000 in further credit, tending to swell bank deposits and boost commodity prices.

The plan envisages the payment for commodities purchased by the rich corporations by 60 or 90-day promissory notes rather than cash. The corporations would leave their cash on deposit with the banks. The sellers who receive the rich corporations' notes could discount them at their banks, and the banks could in turn rediscount them at the Federal Reserve.

Such notes would in turn be used as legal backing for currency, much of which now has, virtually, a full gold backing even though it is perfectly legal under the Federal Reserve act to use 60 per cent of commercial notes.

SEARS EARNED $2.50 SHARE

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Sears Roebuck & Co., largest mail order and chain store organization in the world, earned net income of $12,165,672 in 1931 as compared with $14,368,897 in 1930, President R. E. Wood announced today.

The earnings were equal to $2.50 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year as compared with $3.01 in 1930 and $6.36 in 1929.

Dollar sales declined only 11 per cent from 1930, although prices were reduced 15 per cent. Gross sales declined $43,000,000 from 1930 and $96,000,000 from 1929. Gross sales for 1931, representing mail order and retail sales combined, were $347,209,033, net sales $316,294,562.

LOANS DECLINE $18,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve banks in New York City decreased $18,000,000 during the week ended January 27, to $513,000,000. This is new record low and compares with $531,000,000 in the preceding week, and the record high of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929.

Exporters Offering Copper at Discount

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Due to an accumulation of copper, custom smelters have availed themselves of the clause in the new rules of Copper Exporters, Inc., to sell abroad at whatever price they desire when copper has accumulated on their hands. They are, therefore, offering copper abroad at 7⅛ cents. As soon as this tonnage of accumulated metal has been sold, the price returns automatically to the regular price of 7⅝ cents.

Rail Credit Loan Asked for P. W. Va.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway has made application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to borrow from the Railroad Credit Corporation $637,380 under a short term note maturing not later than two years and bearing not more than 6 per cent interest. The application stated the money to be borrowed will be used exclusively to meet interest payments on its funded debt maturing in 1932.

Receivers Appointed For Small Railroad

DAYTON, Jan. 29.—Thomas Conway Jr., president, and J. Harvey McClure, vice president, have been named receivers for the Cincinnati and Lake Erie Railroad Company by Judge Nevin, in United States District Court, upon application of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities.

The company operates 440 miles of electric railway between Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Lima and Toledo.

Shell Oil Acquires Chicago Outlets

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The Shell Petroleum Company has acquired all of Sun Oil Company's Chicago outlets, which number about 75, including some 30 service stations. The acquisition was consummated through an exchange of facilities.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The bond market had a sinking spell today and practically all classes of securities lowered their prices substantially.

United States government bonds were soft but their reaction was generally fractional.

Urges U. S. Make Rail Recapture Repayments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Counsel for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway told the House Interstate Commerce Committee today that the United States has no property right in the $10,000,000 fund of excess earnings payments which have been made to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is reasonably certain from reports of the commission that the purposes for which the recapture trust fund was created cannot be accomplished, as the equitable owners of the trust fund are those who paid the money into it.

Stock Exchange Topics

Rock Island's Report Reflects Changed Position of Rails

Rock Island's results for last year afford an unusually vivid picture of the change which occurred in the position of many roads in the course of a year. Rock Island finished 1931 with a net loss of $386,545 after charges. This contrasts with net income of $7,700,229 reported for 1930, equivalent to $5.56 a share on the 743,580 common shares after provision for dividends on the 7 and 6 per cent preferred stocks. In 1929 net income stood at $14,007,321, which was equivalent to better than $14 a share for the common stock. The foregoing figures provide ample explanation for the drop in the common stock from a high of 143½ two years ago to the current levels under 15.

Despite the many pessimistic statements which have been heard in Wall street recently, it is evident that some operators are not willing to adopt the short side at present. It is argued that the market has become too professional and can be influenced by activities of a few of the important operators and their followers. Nevertheless, these traders are not yet willing to become aggressive on the buying side until there are indications that the efforts of the pessimists to bring out increased long liquidation will not be successful.

Comment on the strong financial position of Liggett & Myers is heard in many quarters. Its report last week showed that it had sufficient current assets to cover all current liabilities, bonds outstanding and preferred stock at par, with $32 a share left for common stock. Cash and marketable securities alone equalled $17 a common share, while the total book value of $61 exceeded the current selling price of the stock. It is natural that investors will give more attention to financial conditions in the future than they did during the period of great speculation a few years ago.

Orders booked by Westinghouse in the final quarter of 1931 showed a decline of 33 per cent from the corresponding period of 1930, according to authoritative information. During the summer the company's business was in better volume than in the later months and operations were profitable. With the decline in business accelerating as the year progressed, steps were taken to reduce expenses by means of salary reductions, and these cuts have been carried over into 1932, on a sort of reverse bonus plan. That is, the reduction in salary diminishes with growth of earnings until a 10 per cent cut is reached, at which point the salary remains stationary.

Plans for an immediate improvement program by Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines, involving an order for 2,800 tons of 90-pound rail to cost $300,000 is interpreted in railroad circles as the first substantial reaction to the drastic retrenchment in maintenance personnel and activities of railroads during 1930-1931. The belief is that it has become essential to public safety that the maintenance force be increased immediately funds become available. This particular purchase was deemed necessary due to heavy traffic moving over certain sections of the main line where the rails are several years old.

Some traders, outspokenly pessimistic in the past two weeks, were buyers of stocks during the decline in the forenoon. Probably this demand represented covering of short obligations on a scale. A number of these operators had put orders into the market at levels below those existing recently and the increased offerings reached these prices. There were plenty of opportunities to cover during the day and several traders took advantage of the weakness to reduce their short commitments.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Downward tendencies gained a little momentum in the curb market today. Trading was somewhat more active on the further decline, although much of the increased volume appeared in the earlier dealings.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

PROPOSE NEW CREDIT PLAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A group of prominent industrialists are considering a plan by which large corporations rich in cash may act to extend some $500,000,000 in commercial credit which in turn may theoretically be used as a basis for some $5,000,000,000 in further credit tending to swell bank deposits and bolster commodity prices.

This plan envisages the payment for commodities purchased by the rich corporations by 60 or 90-day promissory notes rather than cash. The corporations would leave their cash on deposit with their banks. The sellers who received the rich corporations' notes could discount them at their banks and the banks could in turn rediscount them at the Federal Reserve.

Such notes would in turn be used as legal backing for currency much of which now has, virtually, a full gold backing even though it is perfectly legal under the Federal Reserve act to use 60 per cent for commercial notes.

SEARS EARNED $2.50 SHARE

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Sears Roebuck & Co., largest mail order and chain store organization in the world, earned net income of $12,169,672 in 1931 as compared with $14,306,897 in 1930, President R. E. Wood announced today.

The earnings were equal to $2.50 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year as compared with $3.01 in 1930 and $6.36 in 1929.

Dollar sales declined only 11 per cent from 1930, although prices were reduced 15 per cent. Gross sales declined $43,000,000 from 1930 and $96,000,000 from 1929. Gross sales for 1931, representing mail order and retail sales combined, were $347,209,051; net sales $316,294,562.

LOANS DECLINE $18,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve banks in New York City decreased $18,000,000 during the week ended January 27 to $513,000,000. This is new record low and compares with $531,000,000 in the preceding week and the record high of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929.

Exporters Offering Copper at Discount

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Due to an accumulation of copper, custom smelters have availed themselves of the clause in the new rules of Copper Exporters, Inc., to sell abroad at whatever price they desire when copper has accumulated on their hands. They are, therefore, offering copper abroad at 7⅛ cents. As soon as this tonnage of accumulated metal has been sold, the price returns automatically to the regular price of 7⅜ cents.

Rail Credit Loan Asked for P. W. Va.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway has made application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to borrow from the Railroad Credit Corporation $637,388 under a short term note maturing not later than two years and bearing not more than 6 per cent interest. The application stated the money to be borrowed will be used exclusively to meet interest payments on its funded debt maturing in 1932.

Receivers Appointed For Small Railroad

DAYTON, Jan. 29.—Thomas Conway, Jr., president, and J. Harvey McClure, vice president, have been named receivers for the Cincinnati and Lake Erie Railroad Company by Judge Nevin, in United States District Court, upon application of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities.

The company operates 440 miles of electric railway between Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Lima and Toledo.

Shell Oil Acquires Chicago Outlets

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The Shell Petroleum Company has acquired all of Sun Oil Company's Chicago outlets, which number about 75, including some 30 service stations. The acquisition was consummated through an exchange of facilities.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The bond market had a sinking spell today and practically all classes of securities lowered their prices substantially.

United States government bonds were soft, but their reaction was generally fractional.

Urges U. S. Make Rail Recapture Repayments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Counsel for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway told the House Interstate Commerce Committee today that the United States has no property right in the $10,000,000 fund of excess earnings payments which have been made to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is reasonably certain from reports of the commission that the purposes for which the recapture trust fund was created cannot be accomplished, as the equitable owners of the trust fund are those who paid the money into it.

Stock Exchange Topics

Rock Island's Report Reflects Changed Position of Rails

Rock Island's results for last year afford an unusually vivid picture of the change which occurred in the position of many roads in the course of a year. Rock Island finished 1931 with a net loss of $386,545 after charges. This contrasts with net income of $7,700,229 reported for 1930, equivalent to $5.56 a share on the 743,580 common shares after provision for dividends on the 7 and 6 per cent preferred stocks. In 1929 net income stood at $14,007,321, which was equivalent to better than $14 a share for the common stock. The foregoing figures provide ample explanation for the drop in the common stock from a high of 143½ two years ago to the current levels under 15.

Despite the many pessimistic statements which have been heard in Wall street recently, it is evident that some operators are not willing to adopt the short side at present. It is argued that the market has become too professional and can be influenced by activities of a few of the important operators and their followers. Nevertheless, these traders are not yet willing to become aggressive on the buying side until there are indications that the efforts of the pessimists to bring out increased long liquidation will not be successful.

Comment on the strong financial position of Liggett & Myers is heard in many quarters. Its report last week showed that it had sufficient current assets to cover all current liabilities, bonds outstanding and preferred stock at par, with $32 a share left for common stock. Cash and marketable securities alone equalled $17 a common share, while the total book value of $61 exceeded the current selling price of the stock. It is natural that investors will give more attention to financial conditions in the future than they did during the period of great speculation a few years ago.

Orders booked by Westinghouse in the final quarter of 1931 showed a decline of 33 per cent from the corresponding period of 1930, according to authoritative information. During the summer the company's business was in better volume than in the later months and operations were profitable. With the decline in business accelerating as the year progressed, steps were taken to reduce expenses by means of salary reductions, and these cuts have been carried over into 1932, on a sort of reverse bonus plan. That is, the reduction in salary diminishes with growth of earnings until a 10 per cent cut is reached, at which point the salary remains stationary.

Plans for an immediate improvement program by Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines, involving an order for 2,800 tons of 90-pound rail to cost $300,000 is interpreted in railroad circles as the first substantial reaction to the drastic retrenchment in maintenance, personnel and activities of railroads during 1930-1931. The belief is that it has become essential to public safety that the maintenance force be increased immediately funds become available. This particular purchase was deemed necessary due to heavy trafffic moving over certain sections of the main line where the rails are several years old.

Some traders, outspokenly pessimistic in the past two weeks, were buyers of stocks during the decline in the forenoon. Probably this demand represented covering of short obligations on a scale. A number of these operators had put orders into the market at levels below those existing recently and the increased offerings reached these prices. There were plenty of opportunities to cover during the day and several traders took advantage of the weakness to reduce their short commitments.

Ed Regains Consciousness To Face Mystery in Death of Cholo

(Adapted from the original motion picture story of W. R. Burnett with screen play by John L. Mahin; produced by Cosmopolitan Productions and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.)

CHAPTER XX

"Yes, maybe some day you will be a good cop, Mickey, if you play the game accordin' to the rules. Play it fair and square. Play it for honor and not for money. If you ain't sure about somethin', think it over before you do it. Be sure its straight—that you wouldn't be ashamed to tell the whole world about it—that your mother would be proud to know about it. Understand me, son?" Jim looked very grim and very earnest as he delivered his little sermon.

Mickey listened to him in silence and then held out his hand and with a solemn little face repeated words which Jim had said upon some almost forgotten occasion—

"My duty as an officer is my honor as an officer," and saluted gravely.

"That's right, son. Now for your beat." And Jim sank down into his easy chair with an arm around the silent Mary's waist. Mickey departed on his rounds wearing cap and badge and swinging his night stick.

"I heard about Ed, Jim. Aren't you glad they let him off?" Mary began.

"Brother or no brother, Ed should get his the same as any other criminal," Jim replied tersely.

"But Jim, he's your brother. He's the only one of your own flesh and blood left on this earth. You have done your duty as chief of police and the jury has said he wasn't guilty. You must forgive him, Jim. Forgive us our trespasses as we——— Jim—give him just one chance. Maybe you're wrong. How do you know you're right?" Mary pleaded with tears in her eyes.

Jim was silent. He slapped his right hand up and down on the arm of the morris chair, his chin deep on his chest.

"Jim——" Mary knelt by his chair, lifted his face with her hand. "You know I'm right, Jim. I won't say anything more—you think it over and tomorrow morning have Ed here—that'll be my answer. You couldn't let him drift, let him get caught by that horrible gang, any more than you would Mickey. Ed is your little boy just like Mickey is. He needs your help just as much and maybe more."

Mary rose, confident that her plea had touched Jim. She wiped away the tears with the back of her hand. "Come on, now, Jim, supper'll be ready in just about two minutes. Get your new corporal in off his beat and be ready." She turned away to the kitchen.

"Chief, sir," came a breathless voice from the hallway, "I've just stopped a murder, a brutal, bloody murder, down on the corner of Fifth and Magnolia. Mr. Tom Cat was trying to strangle Miss Blondie Canary. She wouldn't pay any attention to him, you know. However, I stopped it, sir, and everything is peaceful now."

"Great work, Mickey boy. You'll make your old Dad proud of you one of these days—when you grow up to be a big copper—" and Mickey's proud grin faded as he noticed that his father was crying as he gathered him up into his arms in bear-embrace.

* * *

Ed Fitzpatrick came to consciousness with that slow, muddled functioning of the brain that something was wrong. Sharp words dinned in his ears and quick blows fell on his cheeks. He began to thresh his arms and kick his legs. Then he sank back with a groan.

"Hey," he exclaimed before he opened his eyes. "What happened?"

"Plenty happened, get up, Ed! Get up quickly!" Daisy's voice had reached the crescendo of intense excitement. Ed began to co-ordinate his mind and muscles. He opened his eyes and arose to a half-sitting position. He was lying on the couch fully clothed except for his coat and his mouth was parched and dry.

"I must'a been plenty drunk," he murmured, rubbing his swollen eyes.

"Get yourself together, Ed," cried Daisy. "Look at this—Cholo's been rubbed out!"

Ed's eyes snapped wide open, the fog flew from his brain, his anesthized muscles perked into action. He sat erect.

"What's that? Cholo croaked?" he asked in a bewildered way.

"Yes—yes," continued Daisy. "I went out to get some eggs for breakfast, got a morning newspaper and pipe this. Found in the alley back of Cella's . . . a knife through his heart . . . Oh, Ed, you're in awful . . . Why did you do it? Why did you do it?"

"Me," muttered Ed, still in a daze. "Me? I never killed him——I wish I had have—he had it comin'—here, lemme see that paper."

He grabbed the newspaper out of Daisy's hands and scanned the headlines. Then he held the paper closer to his bloodshot, throbbing eyes, and read:

"So they got him, eh?" he said at last. "Well, he had it comin'. I'm damned glad they got him—and I'm damned sorry it wasn't me—well, maybe I ain't."

"Ed," said Daisy tenderly, placing her arm around his neck, "Don't lie to little Daisy. I'm your pal. I'll get you out o' this, tell me the truth."

"I—I—I didn't kill that skunk."

"Don't you remember the argument you had with him?" asked Daisy. "He kept lookin' at me and you called him on it—do you remember that?"

"No—no, I don't remember that. I was a little spiffed. I don't remember arguin' with him, but I remember how he looked at you, and I was sore."

"Oh, Ed, then you did do it. You were gone for a time. Cholo disappeared. I found you in the kitchen, bawlin' out the cook—come on, don't you remember?"

Ed rubbed his troubled, befuddled head. He shook it slowly.

"No, I don't remember what happened toward the last, but you know that if I had killed him, I would have remembered it—it would have sobered me—anyway, where would I get a knife?"

"Well, we've got to do somethin' quick. They found his body at 8 o'clock. It's 12 now. We've got to do somethin' and do it on the lam. You get out of here and go over to the Morris Hotel, register for the two of us. I'll be over later—I know that Belmonte mob——"

"Wait a minute—wait a minute," insisted Ed, but she had already jerked him to his feet and was unbuttoning his dress suit vest and shirt. He staggered to his feet a minute and then the seriousness of it came to him.

"All right, Daisy, you win—but gimme a drink. I'm a little shaky," he pleaded. Daisy poured a half tumbler full of rye and handed it to him, and while he gulped it down she dug out a soft-colored shirt.

(Copyright, 1932, International News Service.)

"Ed should get his the same as any other criminal," said Jim.

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

PLAYING benefits, unless it's a very rare exception, is the most thankless task in the world. The reason for that is that the people who sponsor benefits usually consider their task done the moment you arrive at the theater. They thank you for arriving—if you're lucky—and that's the end of that. You are pushed around until somebody tells you it's your turn to go on. Then you step out and do your best. And if you don't top everything that has gone before, the other actors pan you just as vigorously backstage as the audience does in front. Altogether it's a pleasure.

For years now I have been begging the Actor's Equity Association to investigate the benefit evil. But no. Equity is too busy to investigate it. It is too busy arguing whether Sunday shows should be permitted in New York—which is the only thing that will help the theater and the actor in New York at the present time. Meanwhile, as the opponents present their childish arguments, half the Equity roster is playing on Sunday nights anyhow—for nothing.

Don't get me wrong. If one newspaper stages shows to feed thousands of hungry men and another asks the actors' aid to equip hospitals with radios, I think that's swell. If Arnold Ruben gives an annual show to help a certain group of crippled children through the weary year, I think he deserves a lot of credit and I'm only too willing to co-operate. I know where the money is going and so does the actor.

But when it comes to a Mr. Dinkelguzzler, who stages a benefit for the care of stray Algerian goats, then I grow a trifle nervous. I have seen far too many "benefits" run by greasy promoters who collect the money, give $100 to charity and pocket $3,000 themselves. That sort of thing goes on every week in the year. Equity knows all about it—but the organization has grown so smug and self-satisfied of recent years that it simply cannot be bothered.

All of which, of course, has nothing whatsoever to do with the story I started out to tell you. I think I've forgotten it myself now. Wait a minute. Oh, yes. It had to do with the thanklessness of benefits. Let's see.

A short time ago, the proprietor of a newsstand in the theatrical district met with an accident. It wasn't a very severe thing, but it did keep him away from work for some time. He had a rather large family to support and, when he returned to his stand, he complained bitterly to everyone about his desperate financial condition.

Numbered among his customers were plenty of actors and theatrical names. A group of them got to talking about the newsman and the more they drank, the sorrier they felt. Before anyone knew what had happened, they had agreed to stage a benefit for him the following Sunday night. The following day tickets were printed, acts were requested and the wheels began to turn.

Backstage it proved to be the usual thing of its kind—with just one, sad exception. The men behind the thing had neglected to arrange for a stage manager. This meant that the show would not go smoothly, the curtains would be wrong and the various acts would be more disgusted than usual.

One of the sponsors—a big man in the theatrical game—rushed to a telephone and called one of the best stage managers in New York.

"Listen, Sammy," he cried. "I'm running a benefit at the S——— Theater and we're plenty stuck. There's no stage manager down here, and there's none of us who can even attempt the job in decent fashion. Can you do me a favor and rush right over here?"

The stage manager was very doubtful.

"I'd love to help you, Jack," he replied, "but I'm a pretty sick guy. I've got a grippy feeling and I'm already in bed."

The other man was very persistent.

"Sammy," he went on, "if you ever did a favor for anyone, now is the time to come through for me. Rush over here and I promise that I'll never forget you."

So the stage manager did an extremely decent thing. He arose from his sick bed and traveled to the theater as rapidly as he could. He went backstage and took charge of things. And the show immediately began to move.

In the rear of the theater stood the newsman for whom the benefit was being staged. As time went by he seemed to grow extremely nervous. He shifted from one foot to the other and began to mutter to himself. Finally, during intermission, he went backstage.

One of the sponsors greeted him smilingly.

"How does it look from the front, Joe?" he asked.

The newsman scowled.

"Lousy," he returned. "Them actors ain't givin' their best. If you'll fire that cheese stage manager, I'll show you how to put on a real show!" . . .

* * *

"DEAR MARK," writes William Fields. "When you recently devoted part of your column to an account of a trip you made to Sing Sing with a group of actors who presented an entertainment there, it reminded me of a visit I made to the same institution a short while ago with a dramatic show that was given there.

"A certain Broadway playboy, who has nothing in his own name but is supposed to come from an exceedingly wealthy family, managed in one way or another to chisel in on the party of actors and newspapermen who made the journey. He was a thoroughly obnoxious gent, mind you, and one who took occasion at every opportunity to emphasize the importance of his family name and fortune.

"At Sing Sing, as you know, you meet some pretty swell and regular guys. One of them, in particular, I remember as a grand person. He affably answered all the silly questions that visitors to a prison will ask, conducted us on a tour of the buildings and grounds, and otherwise proved to be a very courteous, patient and friendly individual.

"When the performance was ended and it came time to leave, can you imagine the gesture that was made by the Times Square pest who had wished himself on our party? Slipping a half dollar into the palm of the convict who had been so helpful, he smiled beneficently.

"'Here, my lad,' he said, 'is some money. You have been mighty good to us, and I want you to know that I appreciate it.'

"That, Mark, was my embarrassing moment. It was, too, for the others in our party. Do you know what that pompous chump had done?

"The convict to whom he had tendered the half buck is a man who is several times a millionaire, and is as careless with hundred dollar bills as Rockefeller is with dimes.". . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS -:- Junior Komic Club

Meeting day tomorrow. Boys and girls of the Warner Theaters-Sun-Telegraph Junior Komic Club will find plenty of amusement at the Warner neighborhood theaters at the hours listed on the schedule herewith.

Several chapters have organized their own groups of musicians, who appear on the stage at the meetings and accompany the dancers and singers. The latest of these is the band that appeared last week at the Enright. Walter Sarraf, who directs the band, and Frank Roberts, manager of the Enright, are arranging a schedule whereby other chapters may hear them.

THE CAMERAPHONE

The Cameraphone has had its little orchestra for months. Henry LaPerche is the leader, and the boys introduce new specialties every week. At the last meeting two of them appeared as acrobatic clowns and cavorted all over the stage throughout the entire meeting.

Encouraging reports are coming in from the band now being formed at the Schenley. While the boys are all members of the Junior Komic Club, they play together at Schenley High School.

Mt. Oliver Harris chapter is gathering together boys and girls who can play instruments, and Jack Jenkins, the Mt. Oliver Master of Ceremonies, promises a first rate band in a few weeks.

Boys and girls in Pittsburgh and vicinity will be popeyed next Sunday, when the Sunday Sun-Telegraph publishes a full-sized comic mask of this popular sailorman.

Get the Sunday Sun-Telegraph. In this issue you will find a picture of Popeye just the size of your face. There will be complete instructions how to cut it out and mount it on paper, pliable cardboard or cloth. You can color it to suit yourself. Then you will have a real Popeye mask. Don't miss it.

The following members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club will celebrate their birthdays tomorrow.

And he'll be a rich guy who don't mean no harm.
And although, to see them, you pay sixty cents,

Opposition to Stadtfeld

The Philadelphia Gang Gives Warning That It Does Not Want the Pittsburgher On the Bench.

The Republican organization in Philadelphia has drawn up a state ticket for the approaching election:

For United States Senator, James J. Davis; for Auditor General, Frank E. Baldwin, of Potter County; for State Treasurer, Charles A. Waters, of Philadelphia; for the Superior Court, Robert E. Gawthrop, of Chester County, and former Lieut. Gov. Arthur James, of Luzerne County; for Delegates-at-Large to the Republican National Convention, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, William S. Vare, of Philadelphia; Senators David A. Reed and James J. Davis, State Chairman Edward Martin, National Committeemen Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Worthington Scranton, of Scranton.

There is only one feature of this slate on which we desire to comment at this time, and that is the omission of the name of Justice Joseph D. Stadtfeld, of Pittsburgh, as a candidate for a full term on the bench of the Superior Court, to which he was appointed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot to fill the unexpired term of Justice James B. Drew.

The slighting of Justice Stadtfeld by the Philadelphia gang, who have slated former Lieut. Gov. James for his place, is a challenge to the people of Pittsburgh and in fact to all the citizens of Pennsylvania.

Justice Stadtfeld is an excellent jurist, learned in the law, possessed of good judgment, of the right judicial poise and dignity, and admired and respected both by the members of the bar and the laity.

That the Philadelphia organization should turn him down can be due to only one thing—Justice Stadtfeld is no politician and does not truckle to politicians.

The slates of the Philadelphia gang have been beaten before and can be beaten again. But it will take hard work on the part of Justice Stadtfeld's friends.

Rank Discrimination

It Is Unfair to Close the Theaters On Sunday, While Not Enforcing the Blue Law Against Others.

Attention was called in these columns yesterday to the decision of Judge Pollock, of the United States District Court, of Kansas City, Kan., that to pick out certain violators of the Blue Law for prosecution while ignoring most of the offenders is oppressive discrimination, which the court cannot permit. He rendered this opinion in granting an injunction restraining the Attorney General and other law-enforcing officers of Kansas from interfering with Sunday movies.

If the principle laid down by Judge Pollock is valid, the theaters and other purveyors of innocent entertainment in Pittsburgh and elsewhere in Pennsylvania are entitled to give Sunday shows; for as things stand now the Blue Law is habitually violated with impunity by thousands of persons every Sunday, and to single out the theaters for prosecution while ignoring other offenders is oppressive discrimination, which the courts would be bound to prevent through restraining orders.

Not even the theaters are interfered with in some parts of Pennsylvania. A former Pittsburgher now living in Erie writes that the Blue Law has been ignored there for 20 years. The movies open at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and the city also has professional baseball on Sunday. Attempts have been made to invoke the law against these harmless amusements, but the complainants have failed. Public sentiment is against the Blue Law and the public officials have chosen to conform to the sentiment.

Public opinion in Pittsburgh, too, is against the Blue Law. A careful postcard poll taken by the Sun-Telegraph showed a majority of five to one in favor of repeal of the obnoxious statute.

Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Baltimore are the only three great cities in the United States which interfere with the citizens' right to go to the theater or a ball game on Sunday, and Baltimore bids fair to cease interfering soon; for by unanimous vote Baltimore's city council has decided to conduct a referendum May 2 on an ordinance which would legalize Sunday movies, baseball games and other amusements, and there is not the slightest doubt as to how the people will vote.

Pennsylvania will hold an election in the spring—a primary election at which candidates for the Legislature will be nominated. This can be turned into a referendum on the Blue Law by asking every candidate whether or not, if sent to Harrisburg, he will vote to repeal the law.

Watching the Hillsides

The Pennsylvania Railroad Shows Commendable Vigilance In Guarding Against Landslides.

The Sun-Telegraph has received a courteous letter from J. F. Deasy, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in reply to the suggestion that the railroad carefully examine all steep slopes and hillsides along its right of way where boulders and rocks, if dislodged, might cause a wreck. The suggestion was prompted by the recent derailing of a passenger train locomotive near Freeport by a boulder which had fallen on the track—the second accident of the same kind to occur at that point within a few weeks.

It is gratifying to learn from Mr. Deasy that the Pennsylvania "maintains at all times a rigid check of the hillsides along its tracks to determine the condition of rocks, trees and earth which might possibly become dislodged and slip down to the tracks."

He states that all slopes are examined carefully at intervals by experienced men, that the earth is studied for indications of cracks or erosion, and at points where the possibility of slides is greatest electric fences from 1,000 to 3,000 feet long are built which, if earth or rocks fall against them, automatically set the block signals at stop against an oncoming train.

Such vigilance is commendable.

The Three R's of the Internationalist

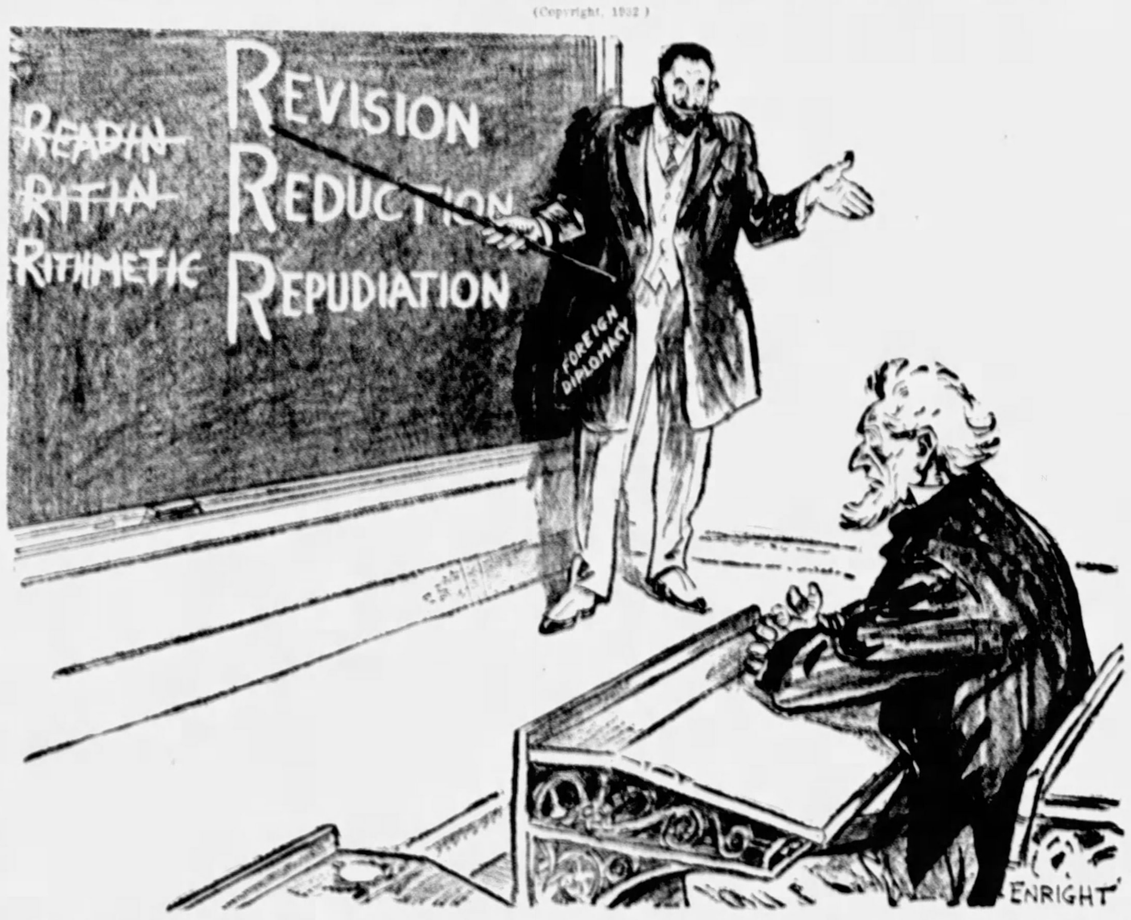
(Copyright, 1932.)



In the little red schoolhouse days, when "readin' an' 'ritin' an' 'rithmetic were taught to the tune of a hick'ry stick," it was fashionable to be an American. "America First" was the slogan of the founders, who, grounded in sturdy Americanism, boasted of their love of country and proudly proclaimed it—AND THE WORLD ADMIRED AND RESPECTED THEM FOR IT.

Now the cult of the internationalist, with "America Last" as its guiding sign, attempts to gain sway.

It looks with favor upon the attempts of our foreign debtors to get out of paying the TWELVE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS justly due and owing to the United States Treasury.

The three R's of this school are "revision, reduction and repudiation" of debts to Uncle Sam.

This cult, through the Hoover moratorium, has just shifted approximately TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY MILLIONS of dollars added burden from European debtors to the backs of American taxpayers.

If it should have its way, the entire debt would be cancelled by Uncle Sam and the cost shifted in its entirety to American taxpayers.

But the American people will have something to say about that, and when they speak what they say WILL BE WITH EMPHASIS.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Matchmakers' Union

The dangerous woman in a bachelor's life is not the siren who is trying to lure him into matrimony, but the innocent-looking, kind-hearted matron who is trying to PUSH him into it.

* * *

Many a man would live and die with his bachelors' buttons on, if it were not for the Matchmakers' Union—the only union in which all women are secretly and unanimously allied!

* * *

Every woman is at heart a born matchmaker; and the one thing she cannot endure is the sight of an eligible man going around single, free, foot-loose and heart-whole! It is like seeing a wonderful BARGAIN left on a shop-counter.

Every bachelor's life is embittered by the women who are trying to "marry him off." So is every widower's and every grass-widower's, for that matter.

* * *

A man could hold out forever against any girl, however tempting, who tried to entice him to the altar. But it's all those "other women" those subtle and determined allies of hers who break down his resistance, and finally succeed in gently EASING him up the middle aisle.

* * *

No woman can let a happy, unfettered, untrammeled man alone. The very sight of him is to her like a call to arms. The very light of freedom in his eye is a challenge that rouses all her fighting instinct, and makes her blood tingle to hunt him down and help some other woman put the shackles on him.

Next to capturing a man herself, nothing gives a woman such a thrill of triumph as to help ANOTHER woman catch him!

* * *

She thinks, of course, that she is doing it for altruistic reasons—for "that sweet girl's sake." But, in reality, she is just following her atavistic instinct to conquer, subjugate and domesticate the wild, free male.

* * *

The matchmaking instinct is the feminine urge for tidying up the world and getting rid of the loose ends. An unmarried man lying around loose just clutters up things. It is up to the first woman who spies him, to put him in his place, where he will fit into the scheme of things and be of some USE.

* * *

A bachelor has no place or purpose in life, except as somebody's future husband. To find a perfectly good potential husband, hanging around, carefree and unclaimed, in a world full of hope chests all ready and waiting, seems to any woman sheer wanton WASTE! She won't stand for it!

* * *

That is why nearly all men, sooner or later, find themselves standing at the alter-rail, promising things they never thought of doing—and wondering how they got there. In one thing only are all women agreed, allied and firmly united—in the determination that man shall not live ALONE!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Thoughts while strolling: And now licorice ice cream. Aw-w-k! Those jewel box perfume shops—Hudnut and Elizabeth Arden—neck and neck on the avenue. Lew Cody and Horace Liveright bear a resemblance. So do Charles Butterworth and George Arliss. Never run across anyone named Lem in New York.

Nunnally Johnson, a Sacramento boy, who made good in the city. What's become of psychoanalysis? Guys who soothe inferiority complexes by bawling out taxi drivers. Gene Tunney leaving an East Forty-seventh street barber shop. Overheard: "She got herself smart knocking around wise guys."

In the past week I've met an Annie Laurie and Alfred Tennyson. Thorny spinster types you used to see at Schrafft's now giving the "speaks" a play. William A. Brady without a cigar. One-word description of Col. Joe Hatfield—roundish. Leon Errol is back in town.

The literary hermit of Washington Square—Will Cuppy. Six mink coats in a block. (Just a mink coat counter!) Police dog owners are the most inconsiderate of all on the streets. Another trip to the hair dresser and Ethel Barrymore will be a platinum blonde. Joe Zelli seems to have lost his smile.

Katherine Cornell suggests a clump of violets and Charles Evan Hughes a mossy oak. Purring pigeons around St. Patrick's. Vincent Lopez carries a filled cigaret case and lighter, but doesn't smoke. Ward Morehouse has another play in rehearsal. Beefsteak Charlie. Park avenue's new Cafe de la Paix.

Modern department store grandeur. Yet I sigh for little corner notion shops. Run by withered ladies in black cotton dresses and steel rimmed spectacles. And those under-counter money tills that rang bells. Leslie Howard is a flyweight off the stage and screen. Like Fairbanks.

S. Jay Kaufman's Picadilly accent. Wonder if anyone else thrills to dining in station restaurants? Or likes the odor of train smoke? The dinky capes and thimble muffs the flappers feature. What's become of the barber shop porter who played a tune with the whisk broom when he dusted you off?

* * *

Petite annonce in East Fifty-seventh street: "We treat you like one of the family. All transactions cash."

* * *

And mail today revealed some rather unusually named correspondents: Gail Long, Lester Dryden, Elinor Vade, Martin Kule, Van Doren Estabrook, Park N. Prince, Oscar K. Thew and Sallie G. Sackett. And there was a telegram from a gentleman whose moniker suggests the metrical distillation that comes from the rumble of train wheels. It was Morton DeBoe Tebeckyjo.

* * *

Bide Dudley rounds in from a hurried trip to his native Kansas with the story of the weazened dirt farmer who attended a county grange meeting. They were discussing advantageous agriculture. Finally he arose and in a querulous voice observed: "I think us farmers should stick to corn planting. We lose less on that than anything else."

* * *

Yesterday, late, I dropped into the office of a busy executive a moment. Maj. Edward Bowes, if you crave details. What impressed me was the orderliness of his desk in contrast to the mountainous disarray of mine. He had had a busy day and no secretary had tidied it up. Yet its smooth surface was dotted by only a chrystal inkstand, a jade pen and in one corner a square silvered frame holding a picture of the adorable Margaret Illington, his wife.

* * *

Before me I see: Five piles of unanswered letters, a desk lighter Pierre Cartier gave me, four ink stands, five fountain pens (one working), two clocks (neither running), a bottle of medicine, two tubes of mucilage, 10 stubs of pencils, three ash trays, a J. Harvey McCoy memorandum pad, a bronze turtle paper clip, two pairs of scissors, two pencil sharpeners, a check book, ink eraser, two pocket knives, a half filled carton of gum, two cigarette lighters, two cigarette containers, a rusted half-eaten apple and a bright red blotter which has been there for a year bearing this scribbled notation "From piccolo to bagpipe." O, yes, and the handle of a Malay kris with which a native amok killed nine people. Boo!

* * *

I'm somehow vastly tickled by the first impression of Frances Bowden, the country girl on the radio, of a big Broadway movie palace. She could not keep from thinking what a wonderful place to store hay.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Why are there more than 700 school teachers in hospitals for mental patients, in or near New York City?

They were all intelligent, seemingly healthy young women. They worked in pleasant surroundings, without undue strain. They enjoyed longer vacations than any other class of workers. They had no bad habits . . . did not dissipate . . . go to wild parties . . . keep late hours. Most of them worked right up to the day of their commitment. Then suddenly—they went to pieces. So badly to pieces that they had to be put away, for their own and society's protection. Why?

Dr. Charles Benson wondered. Dr. Benson is the head of the department of educational psychology in New York University. People-who-go-to-pieces are part of his job. Those deranged teachers interested him. He began to study them—and he dug up some facts that should make everyone of us think, and then hastily revise our programs.

Seven hundred crazy women. Why did they go crazy? Not because there was insanity in their blood. Not because they had had some sudden fright or loss. BUT SIMPLY BECAUSE THEY HAD LED LOP-SIDED LIVES!

The average teacher, Dr. Benson found, has too few interests outside her work. Sports, business, housework, dancing, music, travel and the theater play small part in her program. Most of her time is spent in reading, teaching correcting exercises at home and in "shop talk" with her associates.

At first this narrow life is rarely of her own choosing. She starts as a lively girl who would like to do all the things which healthy girls do. But the Community demands that Teacher shall be a Very Proper Person. And, even if she evades the Community's watchful eye, adventure rarely hangs around a schoolroom door.

So gradually Teacher's life narrows. Presently, Teacher herself narrows. Becomes, according to young Willie, a Pain in the Neck. Develops notions and prejudices. Queer, fussy little habits. And unfortunately there's no one to make her snap out of it. The youngsters can't . . . she is an absolute dictator in the classroom. Her associates rarely criticize her—being caught in the same rut themselves. So she goes on and on . . . and then some day goes smash in a "nervous break down" . . . or is taken quietly to some hospital.

And yet—she's had good hours, good food, good air, plenty of rest, a fine job. BUT HER MIND HAS BEEN STARVED. The brain needs a well-balanced diet as much as the body. The mind that has too few interests will sicken as surely as the body that has too few vitamins. Nor will a "nice, orderly life" keep you from going cuckoo. All of these unfortunate teachers led nice, orderly lives. And that was exactly what ailed them. Probably if they hadn't been quite as nice, and a little more disorderly, they would be standing in their school rooms today.

Which is a great lesson to all of us—particularly to mothers. Mothers lead lives as narrow as a school teacher's. And are greatly praised for the fact.

"Isn't Mrs. Jones a lovely woman?" we say. "Why she hasn't a thought outside her home and her family."

And we think we're complimenting Mrs. Jones. Actually, we could say nothing more damning of the poor lady. For 20 years of life "without a thought outside home and family" are going to make Mrs. Jones a poor wife, a wretchedly incompetent mother and a thoroughly miserable individual.

Get interests! Get lots of interests! Not just the few, pleasant interests which you already like, but new interests entirely outside our normal life . . . interests that will startle you, shake you up, make you uncomfortable, drag you out of your routine, bust up all your pet habits . . . interests that will make you use ALL your brain . . . that will keep you alive ALL OVER. Otherwise, you'll go mummy and never know it.

The Thrice-Told Tale; Relief for Jobless

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The Seabury report is nothing but a rehash, with nothing new, of all the newspapers have been publishing during the investigation of New York City. Literally pages are devoted to retelling in the papers what the papers have told under flaming headlines before. This has been, to some of us, the most curious feature of the whole proceedings.

Six or seven years ago it was found, or charged, that among the many Tammany clubs there was professional gambling in three or four. At that time, six or seven years ago, the police stopped it—the police under the Walker administration. And six or seven years ago the newspapers published the whole story with flaming headlines.

The present investigation, well financed by the taxpayers, brought this old story of years ago into the headlines again as something new, and now Judge Seabury tells the tale again. The purpose of the Republican investigators was to show that Mayor Walker interfered with the suppression of this gambling, but when such men as McLaughlin, former commissioner of police, gave the lie to the insinuation, we had supposed that was over. But it takes a lot of printer's ink to divert attention from the effects of Hooverism in national administration, and there isn't enough printer's ink.

* * *

The 'Judgeship Deals'

Some evils and irregularities have been disclosed by the investigation, but we tremble to think what a similar investigation, with peeks into the bank accounts, of the government at Washington would disclose. The purely partisan character of the proceedings in New York; its inspiration in the conferences between the Republican state chairman and Mr. Hoover; and the all too evident animus of Judge Seabury against the Democratic organization, which wins Democratic victories, has not been lost on the average man.

The discussion of the "judgeship deals" in the report would be more impressive but for the evident determination to protect the Republicans, and particularly Mr. Macy, the state chairman. The report might well have said that additional judges were needed in Brooklyn; that the bar conceded it; that the community being Democratic, the new judgeships have gone to Democrats naturally; that the Legislature, being Republican, refused to give the community what its interest required unless the Democrats would bargain with them for a division; and that the bargain was the result of a kind of blackmail by the Republican leaders of the Legislature.

It might also have characterized quite frankly the testimony under oath of Mr. Macy, who "knew nothing about it."

The investigation from the beginning has been what it was intended to be—a search for an "issue" against the Democrats, paid for by the taxpayers of a state that cannot afford to appropriate sufficiently to prevent the suffering and starvation of children.

* * *

Finds the President Inactive

With the passage of the $2,000,000,000 measure of relief for "the poor little rich men," of the banks and industries, the President moves with unaccustomed celerity to extend the benefits intended. We have favored this measure, for the welfare of all the people would suffer immeasurably by the collapse of the industrial and financial systems.

But there is another activity looking to the relief of men and women who need bread and clothing because they are out of work, and are practically denied the right to earn their bread through self-respecting labor, and this activity finds the President inactive.

A long time ago Senator Wagner introduced his Federal Employment Stabilization bill. Its purpose was sound in economics and common sense. It provided for advance planning for needed public improvements to the end that when private industry lagged and breadwinners were thrown upon the streets public work could be launched at once.

Year after year the Administration opposed this measure, but when as many as 6,000,000 men were on the street the President discontinued his opposition and signed the bill with a word of hearty approval not easily reconciled with his long opposition.

* * *

The Plans Are Ready

Now, as the result of the Wagner measure, the Stabilization Board has been busy for six months in making plans and specifications for needed federal construction. These are ready now. Work can be commenced without delay. Congressional authorization for the projects has been given.

And the work now waits on the President, whose duty, under this law, is to submit to Congress estimates on the appropriations required.

This goes to the most human problem of the hour—the finding of jobs and bread for millions of men and women denied the right to work.

All this work, and vastly more through the building of highways, can be given by floating a prosperity loan, such as Mr. Hearst suggested and Senator Wagner and Senator La Follette.

It would not be a burden to be met today or tomorrow—for bonds would be bought eagerly, and every cent spent would be for improvements that increase the wealth of the nation, and a million and a half of the jobless could be put to work directly; and indirectly, through increased demands on industries for the material of the building, would give employment to another great army, and the money these men would get in wages would be spent with the merchants.

* * *

Let Them Starve!

It is admitted that the railroads need help; that industries may need help; that the banks may need help; and that the nation's interest is bound up in them all. But men, women and children, hungry, inadequately clothed, evicted and desperate, need help that they may live—and it is about time to consider them.

Private charity has not furnished a drop in the bucket of necessity—and won't. Local governments have exhausted their resources, and, needing loans, they get them from the bankers only on condition that they discontinue public improvements that give men work, and this means, too, that most of these local governments must discontinue appropriating money to feed the hungry.

If private charity fails, and it has failed; if local governments must stop appropriating money for the hungry; if the federal government persists in its determination that not one cent shall be appropriated to prevent the starvation of the innocent victims of a greedy and stupid economic policy, what is to become of these unfortunates?

Let them starve?

That would be a disgrace to China; that would be a damning indictment of our governmental system.

If money for bread is to be refused, then money for work must be furnished.

* * *

Mayor Cermak Suggests A Bond Issue

In Chicago desperate efforts are being made to persuade the Legislature to appropriate $20,000,000 to feed the hungry, and Mayor Cermak says:

"Unless relief is granted by February 1 nobody knows what will happen. Where we had one applicant before, we have five seeking help today. On the other hand, from the contributor who gave us $1,000 a year ago we are lucky to get $100 today."

He suggests a bond issue.

But just how can the national government wash its hands of the problem of the starving and suffering? A prosperity loan is just as important now as a Liberty loan in days of battle—for we are fighting against starvation. We cannot live always in a fool's paradise. These desperate millions will not always "writhe with grace and groan with melody."
